BALKAN PEACE TEETERS; REDS RUSH AIR BASES

Try to Match Hitler Army in Rumania.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Oct. 15, Tuesday (AP).—The precarious peace of the Balkans teetered early today among these ominous developments:

FIRST—Hasty Russian fortification of new bases in the Danube delta and along the Black sea apparently in an effort to match German military penetration of Rumania.

SECOND—A mysterious fire in the Ploesti oil fields which destroyed three wells before German experts subdued it.

THIRD—Departure from Rumania of most of the British legation staff, leaving only Minister Sir Reginald Hoare and a skeleton staff to await an imminent rupture of diplomatic relations.

[The official German radio yesterday broadcast a report that the British "ambassador" [minister] to Rumania and the British naval attaché had left Bucharest.]

Fire Blamed on "Spark."

The oil fire was officially blamed on "a spark from machinery," but it was recalled that Germany moved into Rumania for the declared purpose of protecting these vital fields from any British sabotage.

Departure of all the British colony was regarded as a foregone conclusion.

Tass, official Soviet news agency, described as "fantastic invention," reports from abroad that Russia, Britain, Turkey, Greece and Jugo-Slavia were negotiating on the question of Germany's move into Rumania.

Well informed quarters in Bucharest, however, said Russia was hastily constructing seven military air bases in what was once Rumanian Bessarabia, rushing squadrons of warplanes to the half completed fields and sending shipload after shipload of military supplies into the area.

Picked Troops Mobilized.

Picked Russian troops were said to be mobilizing below the confluence of the Danube and the Prut, hastily erecting large gun emplacements in that Danube delta zone.

The Germans, too, were increasing their military establishment across the Danube.

Germany was reported planning to build a naval air base near Constanta, Rumanian Black sea port, and preparations were made for a German naval mission to join the Nazi army and air force general staff officers already in Rumania.

The Germans, authoritative reports also said, are supervising the development of antiaircraft emplacements between the Danube and the railroad at the Rumanian river port of Iurgiu and already have ringed Rumania's oil fields with guns, fighter planes, air and land forces.

Double Goal for Nazis.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Oct. 14.—According to news available in Central Europe about the establishment of German troops in Rumania, Germany is pushing toward a double goal—both political and strategic.

It is said Germany wants to make certain that the new frontier between Rumania and Hungary which the axis dictated at Vienna is respected. But more important still is said to be the military aspect of the move.

With German forces in Rumania and on the Black sea, the Germans are in the same position they were at the end of the world war when they found it easy to penetrate revolution-torn Russia. This is declared to be of tremendous importance, especially at a time when Moscow has made it clear that it is watching the German-British air battles with keen interest.

Calls Move Aimed at Russia.

ANKARA, Turkey, Oct. 14 (AP).—The official Turkish radio said tonight that "Russian troop concentrations in Bukovina and Bessarabia are significant and soviet silence is full of meaning," since the creation of German air and naval bases at Constanta, Rumania, "is directed against soviet Russia."

"Germany has come to the Black sea to settle as a thorn in the breast of the U. S. S. R.," Yeni Sabah, an Istanbul paper, said.

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

HINT ROOSEVELT WILL SIDETRACK SENATE ACTION

Rush Plans to Begin Job Before Winter.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14.—A state department announcement tonight indicated that President Roosevelt is about to conclude an agreement with Canada for construction of the St. Lawrence hydro-electric power project, in the name of national defense and apparently without senate ratification.

The announcement said steps have been taken by the governments of the United States and Canada for immediate preliminary engineering and other investigations for the power project in the international rapids section of the St. Lawrence river.

These steps are being taken, the announcement said, "in order that the entire project may be started without loss of a favorable construction season when final decision is reached between the two governments."

Treaty Rejected by Senate.

The intimation that work on the project will be started before winter indicated to many observers that the proposed agreement is not to be presented to the senate for approval. In 1934 the senate rejected a formal treaty with Canada calling for development of the power project and a 27 foot seaway connecting the Great Lakes with the Atlantic. The waterway project is not embraced by the agreement now pending.

The St. Lawrence water power project has been one of Mr. Roosevelt's pet dreams since he was governor of New York. Originally it was camouflaged by calling it a navigation project. Now the emphasis is on "national defense."

The cost of the original St. Lawrence waterway and water power project was estimated at 500 million to 1 billion dollars, four-fifths of which was to be spent by the United States. The cost of the water power project alone is estimated at 200 millions, most of which would be borne by the United States. Canada, however, would get 4 million of the 5 million horse power of electric energy to be generated.

Power Shortage Denied.

The New York State Chamber of Commerce denounced the scheme two weeks ago on the ground that there is no present shortage of power on either side of the border, and that if there were, construction of the hydroelectric project would require from five to eight years. The report included the following paragraph:

"The power aspect of the St. Lawrence project has been fought for years as an unwarranted and economically destructive invasion of the field of private enterprise, but the opposition of industry on this ground would be withdrawn promptly if such power actually were needed for the defense of the nation. It first should be proved, however, that an urgent defense need exists which could not be provided for more quickly and more efficiently by other sources."

The state department's announcement said that in order to provide an adequate power supply for Canada's immediate defense needs, the United States has agreed to the utilization of additional waters at Niagara Falls by the province of Ontario. In return for this increased diversion, Ontario is to permit diversion of the same quantity of water into the Great Lakes system from the Albany river basin. This water normally flows into Hudson bay.

OPPOSITION IS IGNORED.

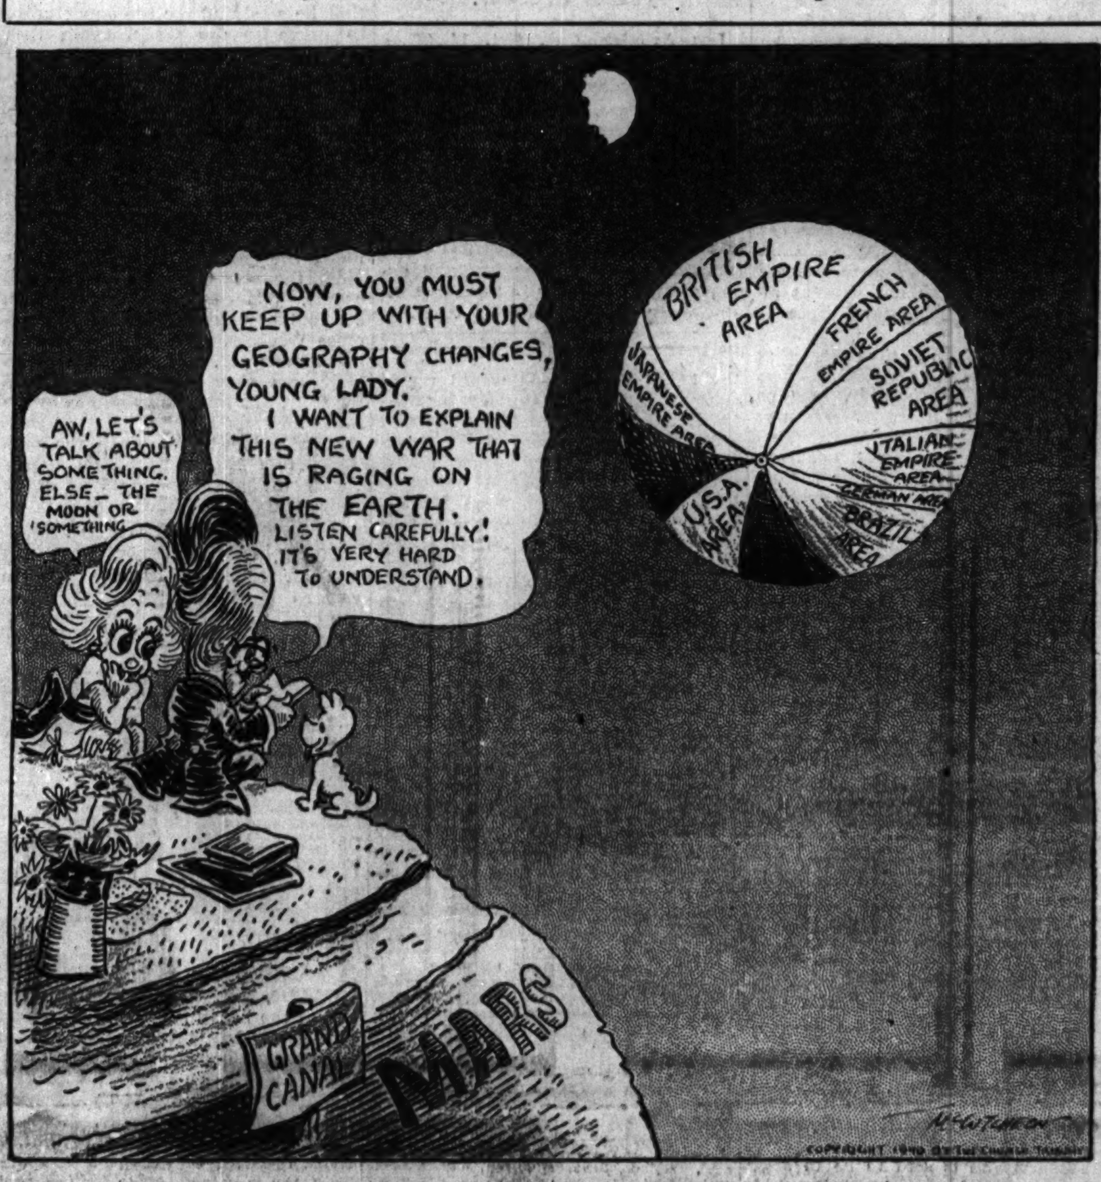
By proposing to carry out the St. Lawrence river power development program as a defense measure, President Roosevelt is ignoring opposition to the project from Chicago and the middle west, where it has been fought since 1926.

Two factors motivate these objectors. They are Canadian interference with American sovereignty over Lake Michigan and the use of Canadian labor and materials to be paid for in American money.

The sovereignty phase developed when Canadians insisted that diversion of water from Lake Michigan at Chicago for the Illinois waterway and the sanitary canal be forever frozen at 1,500 cubic feet per second — the present limitation under a United States court decision.

A PLANETARY VIEW OF THE WAR ON EARTH

Where they cannot adjust inequalities without a devastating conflict



Cites Record, Then Hurries Off to Make It

All thru the campaign Waldemar J. Roehler, Republican candidate for representative in the 3d congressional district, which takes in most of Cook county south of 51st street, has been telling audiences that Edward A. Kelly, the Democratic incumbent, has made a poor attendance record in congress.

Last night Roehler journeyed out to Flossmoor to deliver that message to the Woman Voters' league in the grade school auditorium. He walked into the hall and was surprised to find that Kelly's attendance, for the evening at least, was almost too good. Kelly was up on the platform making a speech of his own to the women.

Opponent Walks Out.

Roehler sat out the rest of his opponent's speech, then was introduced by the chairwoman. As he started to speak Kelly walked out the front door, apparently headed for his home near by in Flossmoor.

Roehler, warming up to his speech, began criticizing the Roosevelt administration and his opponent with impartial relish.

"My opponent," he said, "turns up for roll call only about 50 per cent of the time in congress.

Then Bobs Up Again.

"What this district needs is a representative who will represent it. The nation needs men of constitutional mind in congress, not rubber stamps. Why, my friends——"

He got no further, for Kelly, reentering the school, poked his head thru the curtains on the platform and then advanced toward Roehler. This made Kelly's attendance record 200 per cent perfect for the night.

"I don't like what you're saying about me," interrupted Kelly. "You've been talking about my record."

Proposes Debate on Spot.

"That's right," said Roehler. "You're not on the job in Washington, whatever your attendance record is for the meeting here, and I'm telling the ladies about it. I've been wanting to debate you for a long time, and now that you're right here we might have it out."

"Fine, fine," interposed Kelly somewhat hastily. "Any time you say. But not right now. I've got to get back to Washington right away to attend to my official duties in congress."

And, with dignity, the congressman walked out.

Kelly, reached later at his home, said he had intended to debate Roehler at once, but that the latter seemed "in a trance" and didn't accept his offer.

"On June 9 I suffered a ruptured appendix and was in the hospital until July 11, as hospital records will show," he said. "I'm lucky I'm alive. As for the rest of my attendance record, I've sent for it. It should be here soon, perhaps tomorrow."

"Someone came out after I left and told me Roehler was attacking my record. So I returned."

Face Death to Feed Britain!

BY STANLEY C. JOHNSTONE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

IN THE DOVER AREA, England, Oct. 14.—Well within range of big German guns on the opposite side of the English channel and with enemy planes flying overhead — sometimes coming down to machine gun or bomb boats on the Kent coast—Britons still fish those waters so that herring, along with Dover sole and other fish, can remain on the breakfast menu. Herring is an important part of the British diet.

The fact that their nets sometimes haul up a mine filled with 1,500 pounds of deadly explosive which, unless delicately handled, will blow up the frail fishing craft, does not deter these fishermen. Furthermore, they would be surprised if any one suggested they were following a dangerous calling, for the older men who now man the fishing boats served on mine sweepers and other naval auxiliary craft in the world war, just as younger men are doing in this one.

Wait for Tide to Come In.

The other day I found a crew of fishermen waiting for the tide to come in so they could seine off shore. In seining, a net is dropped off the stern of small power boats and run out for 800 yards in a semicircle from the beach and then hauled in, bringing with it the fish enclosed by the net.

I talked to these men about their calling. They spoke of the day when two German Messerschmitts machine gunned them while they were taking in their nets two miles off shore. On several other occasions, they said, German bombers came down and dropped their missiles, which burst near by. Water thrown up by the explosions rocked their boats.

The crew boss, a man over 60, said that one day bombs did them a good turn. The bombs killed a school of fish which floated to the surface. The fishermen scooped them up and gained a good profit.

Counts 19 Bomb Craters.

The fishing village is pitted with bomb craters. I counted 19 within a circle of half a mile. The bombs fell on pebbly wasteland between widely scattered houses. They did no serious damage. Occasionally a blast tore sheets of galvanized iron from the roofs.

A fisherman's wife remarked the bombs were dangerous for children at play.

Unlike towns where a lookout sounds a warning when enemy planes appear, these villagers first hear the sound of plane motors followed by the explosion of bombs.

They don't blame the Germans, for as one man said, "We suppose the Germans are acting according to their lights. Perhaps they don't know we are only fishing."

Soon afterward a German plane was shot down by a machine gun post about a mile farther along the beach. As the plane fell into the channel two miles off shore fishermen rushed to a lifeboat house, launched and manned a boat and went out to pick up the pilot, who was sitting in a small rubber boat.

German Thanks Villagers.

As the lifeboat approached shore, men, women and children hauled on lines to get the craft onto the beach. Women asked if the "poor lad" was seriously hurt. The young German waved to the villagers and thanked the crew for coming out for him. Military authorities then took him away.

The lifeboat coxswain said he had bandaged the flyer's head and had given him a stiff drink of rum from the boat's stores so he wouldn't take cold from the biting wind.

The coxwain's friends said it was a pity to send such youngsters up in planes over England because of the danger of their being shot down or killed by the British air force. The fishermen have great confidence in the R. A. F. and the navy.

After the rescue of the aviator the fishermen made a haul and inside of an hour had more than 300 pounds of fish ashore which were cleaned and shipped to market. There was excitement because some herring were caught. A fisherman explained that the appearance of schools of herring in the channel meant they must prepare drift nets so they could work farther from shore tomorrow and catch these fish.

Fish in Daylight Only.

Formerly the men followed schools of fish all over the channel and fished most of the night. Now they fish inside the mine barrage which runs the length of the British coast about three miles off shore. Because of naval activity they can fish only in daylight. The mines, they said, occasionally snap their mooring lines, drift toward shore with the tide and get caught in the nets.

It is not unusual to hear a blast as a mine floats against the beach and explodes.

ELECT LEADERS 'WE CAN TRUST,' LINDBERGH PLEA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14.—In a radio address excoriating the record of the Roosevelt administration, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh tonight appealed for the election of leaders "whose promises we can trust, who know where they are taking us, and who tell us where we are going."

Col. C. A. Lindbergh.

"The entire future of America and our system of life hangs upon the action we take and the judgment we show," he declared. "It does not depend upon the outcome of the war in Europe, but upon men, regardless of their party, who will lead us to strength and peace."

Condemns New Dealers.

Col. Lindbergh mentioned no names, but his condemnation of the Roosevelt administration was unmistakable. Having given us the greatest national debt in our history and left us weak and unprepared, he said, "these same leaders who have failed to solve even our peacetime problems, who have a consistent record of promise followed by failure, now ask us to put ourselves in their hands again as they lead us steadily toward that climax of all political failure—war."

The administration, Col. Lindbergh said, tells us that we are preparing to defend America, while orders are being placed for the type and quantity of armament that would be used for war in Europe. This country does not need untold thousands of airplanes, he said, unless it intends to wage a war abroad. What we need, he added, is a thoroly modern and efficient air corps, trained and equipped for the specific mission of American defense.

Calls for U. S. Independence.

Pleading for "American independence," Col. Lindbergh accused the Roosevelt administration of pursuing the same course that led France to disaster and England to her present plight. Instead of building their own national strength, the peacetime leaders of England and France told their people that their security lay abroad, that the best way to defend their own countries was to fight for Poland, he said.

Leaders of the same caliber now tell us, he declared, that our security lies abroad, that the best way to defend our country is to defend England.

This country is weak, the people are divided and dissatisfaction is rising among them, Lindbergh asserted, because they have no confidence in the efficiency or judgment of their leaders. He said the leadership which has alienated the most powerful military nations of both Europe and Asia while leaving ourselves unprepared for action is not competent to lead the nation successfully thru a great crisis.

Here's Address in Part.

Col. Lindbergh's address in part follows:

"I come before you tonight to enter a plea for American independence. It is amazing that one should have to plead for American independence in a nation with a heritage such as ours; in a nation which in its infancy revolted against foreign control, and whose people have fought time and time again against

BRITAIN BROADENS INSURANCE PLAN TO BENEFIT HOME GUARDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 14.—Between 1,500,000 and 2,000,000 home guards have been enabled to take out full time insurance at standard rates against serious disablement or death as a result of a decision by Lloyd's, underwriters, to cover Britain's civilian defenders while on duty.

Hitherto, home guards were covered by the air raid insurance scheme known as the "one in a thousand," run by Lloyd's, but were covered only while pursuing normal civilian activities and not while on the job. Now for their monthly shilling [20 cents] they will be insured for 50 pounds [$200] in the event of death while on duty or a lesser amount for the loss of eyes or limbs.

Much dissatisfaction had arisen from the fact that some of the home guards, on duty perhaps 12 hours daily, were not insured fully while paying the same premium as an ordinary civilian not attached to the defense forces.

WILLKIE WARNS NEW DEAL SEEKS ABSOLUTE RULE

He Denounces Aims of Inner Circle.

Wendell Willkie will be heard from 9:30 to 10 o'clock, Chicago time, tonight over WMAQ and the NBC Red network in another of the special question and answer broadcasts sponsored by the Associated Willkie Clubs of America. He will answer questions on vital issues asked by voters.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 14.—The New Deal effort to capture the third term for President Roosevelt on the theory of "the indispensable man" was analyzed tonight by Wendell Willkie as one of the last steps on the road to absolute power. The Republican nominee spoke before a crowd of 25,000 at the Syracuse stadium.

"This is the pattern of dictatorship," he said, after he had related some of the high achievements of the New Deal in taking power away from the courts, building power in money, and relief votes.

Manufactured Emergencies.

"The pattern is the usurpation of power by manufactured emergencies [67 in the Roosevelt administration]," he said. "However, in the capture of the courts, the pattern calls for the creation of one dominant party in which all power is vested [such as the Nazi party], it calls for the indefinite rule of one indispensable man. These are the steps we are now asked to approve. This is the way democracy has been destroyed. We must not let that happen here."

Willkie's attack on the third term, his presentation of it as a violation of a deep American principle rather than the overlooking of a mere tradition in a world where so many traditions are being lost every day, was the most vigorous and earnest that he has made since his extemporaneous talk on this subject in Madison, Wis.

Predicts More Court Packing.

Willkie predicted that, given another four years, the President would fill not only the Supreme court, but the whole federal judiciary with his own men.

Willkie referred to the New Deal group around the President as "a little clique of power hungry men who hide behind his smiling mask."

"A third term," he added, "would give them the opportunity they seek to fasten their grasp irrevocably upon this country."

The principle opposing the third term is deeply imbedded in American political history, Willkie demonstrated, even in the Democratic party.

"The truth is," he said, "that it is not the real Democratic party today which seeks to break the unwritten law against the third term. It is the New Deal of Hopkins, Ickes, Corcoran, and Wallace that has captured the Democratic party.

"Voice from the Sewers."

"We saw the real nature of the third term movement revealed in the Chicago convention. We saw there how Carter Glass and other statesmen of the party were howled down by the Voice from the Sewers."

Willkie departed from his prepared speech to score Charles Michelson, Democratic publicity director.

"I saw in the evening press," he said, "that Charley Michelson at last has raised an issue. This is the great issue of the New Deal while democracy is at stake in the world. It is charged that Willkie has five farms in Indiana, bought at sheriffs' sales, when other farmers were ruined. In 1940, when bombs are falling on London, this is the issue. Well, I meet the issue. I do own five farms. I bought them in a period of economic depression, while Franklin Roosevelt was President. And I have almost gone broke on them since."

TEXT OF SPEECH

Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 14 (AP).—The text of Wendell Willkie's speech as prepared for delivery tonight at the stadium here follows:

"It is a fundamental concept of democratic government that there shall always be available men who are fit to be entrusted with the responsibilities of government. That concept is today being challenged.

"We are being told that in all this land, among all these 131 million

BELIEVE AXIS MAY SKIRT TURKEY IN DRIVE FOR EGYPT

Experts in London Vision Attack on Greece.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 14.—News reports from all sources, even those from the United States, in the opinion of military experts, continue to confirm forecasts that the next phase of the war will be a battle for the Mediterranean basin and Africa.

Britain is well prepared for the struggle, according to experts. Additional naval units and troops sent to the Mediterranean and Egypt particularly are believed to compensate for the loss of allied forces in these regions by the collapse of France.

See Obstacles to Axis Plans.

The recent speech of Dragisha Tsvetkovitch, Jugo-Slavia's premier, in which he said his country is determined to defend her territory and the announcement of Turkey that 2,000,000 bayonets are ready to resist invasion of that country are regarded as formidable obstacles against axis designs.

The firm stand of Greece during the recent Italian press campaign against that country also is taken to indicate that the British are not without allies so far as continental Europe is concerned.

Credence is given to the report that a three-power bloc, composed of Jugo-Slavia, Greece and Turkey, may be formed to resist a possible German or combined German-Italian thrust from Albania, Rumania, and Bulgaria thru Greece and Turkey. Reports from Sofia state that the axis has urged the Bulgarian army to mass on the frontiers of Turkey, Greece, and Jugo-Slavia.

The Evening Standard asserts that "command of the Dardanelles would mean for Hitler a great political triumph," and adds that "command of the Suez would be a major victory."

Arabs Suspicious of Italy.

Most experts consider Turkey, if she remains faithful to the alliance with Britain, as a possible obstacle against large scale German-Italian operations thru Syria.

Suspicion of Italian designs among the Arabs who are trying to profit from the war in order to form their long sought for All-Arab federation is also assumed to be an important factor in the ultimate outcome of possible axis operations in that area as well as Egypt.

The Evening Standard, however, foresees the possibility of the Germans and Italians skirting Turkey as Germany did with Sweden in the Norwegian campaign. Instead of involving Turkey, the paper suggests the next step may be to march into Bulgaria and take over that country as a prelude to an axis drive on Greece.

The purpose is said to be to seize islands in the Aegean sea, bring raiding parties to the Dodecanese Islands. From bases established there, the axis would be within striking distance of Alexandria, Egypt. The Evening Standard ignores the Arab factor in the operations, pointing out the danger of troops being carried by sea and air to Syria from the Greek islands, thus sidestepping Turkey.

See Russia Checkmated.

While the London Times expresses the belief that Russia would resent German control of the Dardanelles, the Evening Standard maintains that a campaign as outlined in the northeastern Mediterranean—a half pincer movement against Egypt combined with a frontal attack from Libya—might leave Russia out of the picture even if she wanted to do something about it.

Most calculations mentioned in London do not attempt to analyze the part demobilized French soldiers in Syria and Africa will play in the African war. However, high hopes still are held out for Gen. Charles de Gaulle's trip from French Equatorial Africa thru the Chad area to Egypt. De Gaulle is leader of the "free France" movement.

Successes so far are said to have speeded up the recruiting of French forces in Egypt, but it is officially admitted that news from Syria is meager and of a nature which produces little optimism.

Sues Band Leader

JULIE GIBSON.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 14 (AP).—Band Leader Jimmy Grier was sued for divorce today by Julie Gibson, torch singing actress. She did not ask alimony, but requested that Grier pay the costs of the suit and turn over $500 she claims he borrowed from her savings. The couple was married in Tucson, Ariz., in 1939 and separated last month. Mrs. Grier charges cruelty and states that her husband engaged for a long time in "conduct intentionally and wrongfully cruel."

LONDON, Oct. 14. — In military and social circles here there is an atmosphere resembling that in the United States in 1917 and 1918.

The old glamor and lifting of glasses to a successful campaign are being reënacted. The answer to the questions of "where" and "why" is difficult to obtain, but the best information from informed circles reveals that the war front is changing to the near east.

One person concerned remarked that he was glad for the opportunity to prove to the world again that men can take it in the desert as well as the women and children are taking it in London cellars. That attitude is easily understood. It is difficult for fighting men in uniform to stand helplessly while a bomb from the sky demolishes their homes.

It is a wicked war. It is waged here over the heads of fighting sailors down the channel and soldiers along the coast. The fighting comes from the sky into the laps of the people. Women with babies, children, air raid precautions workers, clerks, office workers, and the like are the people affected, and the standard of endurance they set will be the goal for front line soldiers to aim at in the future.

It is believed that when the men from this island have the opportunity to fight on a field of battle they will fight hard.

Raid Italian Sea Base.

ROME, Oct. 14 (AP).—British sea and air raids on Italian bases in eastern Mediterranean zones which are potential battlefields of the European war were reported today by the high command.

British bombers attacked Portolago on the fortified island of Leros, in the Dodecanese, where Italian air and naval bases are situated.

Three British warships, the communique reported, also pounded Italian positions near Sidi Barrani, on Egypt's Mediterranean coast along the line of the Italian push eastward from Libya toward the Suez.

A shed was hit and several telephone lines were cut at the Libyan port of Tobruk in a long British air attack, the communique said.

Heavy Rainy Season Ends.

CAIRO, Egypt, Oct. 14 (AP).—The end of the heavy rainy season in East Africa has brought a resumption of operations along the Sudan-Ethiopian border, where the Italian armies face the British along a 2,000 mile front.

Near Kassala yesterday, the British command announced tonight, a British patrol of armored cars and light tanks attacked the Italian positions on the River Gash within a few miles of the frontier. Heavy casualties were declared to have been inflicted on the Italian forces, which numbered 120.

U. S. POLLS AMERICANS IN ENGLAND ON DESIRE TO COME BACK HOME

LONDON, Oct. 14 (AP).—The United States embassy began today to poll Americans in England to determine how many desire to return home if Washington sends a ship as requested by Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy.

There has been a renewed demand for transportation to the United States and it was believed about 1,000 Americans were seeking to get home.

Consul General John G. Erhardt in a letter to Americans, said the department of state and the maritime commission had been asked to review the situation in the light of changed conditions.

AID ILLEGITIMATE CHILDREN, NAZIS ORDER TEACHERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Oct. 14.—The education of illegitimate children in Germany will be determined by their "biological and racial value," according to a decree issued by the minister of education. All illegitimate children who are "irreproachable" from these standpoints shall enter the peoples' community, the decree says.

Teachers are ordered to avoid any action which would lower these children in the estimation of their schoolmates or arouse a feeling of inferiority in them. All questions dealing with their birth must be delicately handled, the decree adds.

AIR RAID NERVES BOOM LONDON'S 'LOST AND FOUND'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 14.—Altho Londoners are standing up stoutly to the vicissitudes and privations of the blitzkrieg and have adjusted themselves mentally and physically to the new conditions, psychologists report that one symptom of air raid nerves is the growing tendency of the population to lose their personal effects.

Officials of the London Transport lost and found office say they have never handled so many articles. Umbrellas, mackintoshes, brief cases, handbags, books—Usual losable articles—are pouring in at an unprecedented rate. The tide is swollen with articles of soldiers' equipment, steel helmets and the inevitable gas masks. The masks are being mislaid at a rate of 500 daily in London's buses, street cars, and subways.

A store clerk reported "many times daily we find customers leaving the department without taking their purchases or leaving bags and umbrellas behind."

LONDON GLOWS WITH FLAMES OF BOMB SET FIRES

Violence Greatest of All 5 Weeks' Raids.

LONDON, Oct. 15, Tuesday (AP).—Ancient London was alight with fires and rocked by explosions early today as Nazi airmen rained tons of bombs from moonlit skies in the fiercest assault yet made on the capital.

Firemen careened thru narrow streets from blaze to blaze. Rescue workers tossed themselves headlong against buildings trembling with the raid's impact. Added to the inferno of explosive bombs were the "breadbaskets" of fire bombs sprayed over the city.

Observers agreed the attack was the heaviest in the five weeks' of raids. At times the glare of blazing buildings cast their reflection upon the "flying elephant" balloon barrage floating thousands of feet aloft.

More than 100 workers who toiled 20 hours have rescued 40 to 50 persons alive from the débris-buried basement bomb shelter of a block of wrecked London flats. Uncounted others died when a big bomb smashed the flats during an air raid Sunday night and Monday morning.

Big Building Smashed.

Franklin Gowen, second secretary of the United States embassy, surveyed the damage in one area and reported before midnight that a big building in that vicinity had been utterly smashed.

The Nazis dived low and night workers on the streets threw themselves headlong into the gutters to escape falling bombs.

Other detachments of raiders were active over East Anglia—the area northeast of London—and the industrial Midlands.

The violent night attack capped a day of quick, scattered raids over many areas of Britain and two thrusts at London, which according to British sources, were turned back with but little damage done.

In a town in western Scotland, more than 200 families had to be removed from a time bomb section.

Destroy 4 Engine Bomber.

An unusual victory for the British defense—the destruction of a four-engined Nazi bomber of the sort rarely used and hard to replace—was reported from a London suburb during yesterday. It was said unofficially that the great craft was the victim of ground guns.

A new type of "breadbasket" with small high explosive bombs instead of incendiaries was believed to have been dropped by a Sunday night raider in one outlying London district. Residents said 16 bombs exploded in less than a minute.

While no official total was given, there were heavy casualties in London, in Liverpool, and two industrial northeast towns not further identified on Sunday night.

Fly Thru Snow and Cold.

In ever-widening raids carried out by British bombers flying "blind" thru snow and subzero weather, the RAF reported smashing blows early Monday at vital German naval bases and war stores deep in the reich.

Naval bases at Kiel, Wilhelmshaven, and Hamburg, and the vast Krupp armaments works at Essen, oil stores and airdromes deep in Germany, as well as Nazi-held invasion ports, were blasted time after time, the air ministry said.

Many raiding crews reached their targets only to find clouds hanging almost to the ground, an air ministry account said, but openings in the mists gave them a chance to dive thru and unload their bombs squarely on their objectives.

At Kiel, returning pilots told of bombs exploding like firecrackers among naval docks. At Wilhelmshaven, momentary gaps in the clouds enabled them to splash bombs on two main shipping bases. At Hamburg the sprawling Blohm and Voss shipbuilding yards were attacked.

"Weather conditions in the Ruhr were a little better," the air ministry related, "but another bomber force detailed to attack a large coal tar plant at Duisberg, where nearly one-half of Germany's coal tar is distilled, finally succeeded in reaching their target.

Bombs were dropped on airdromes at Wesel, Woensdrecht and Texel, on gun positions on the islands of Borkum and Terschelling, on the seaplane base at Norderney, and oil plants at Gelsenkirchen.

Many Bombs Fall in Berlin.

BERLIN, Oct. 15, Tuesday (AP).—Three British bombers en route to Berlin were officially reported shot down by Nazi fighter planes early today as other raiders unloaded many bombs on the German capital.

There were two alarms overnight. The first was uneventful. The second sent the populace scurrying to underground shelters early today as anti-aircraft guns broke into full roar over the city in the clear night.

A communique said the raiders "dropped bombs which damaged a number of dwellings, and also Virchow hospital was hit, but without causing injury to any one."

Officials said Nazi airmen attacked London and other English targets, including a troop encampment in southern England, with "great success."

Attack planes, used instead of regular bombers, were dispatched in such rapid order on Sunday to carry out a rolling barrage, the high command said, that the English were given almost no chance to rest their gun and fighter plane crews.

Conflagrations were visible for miles from London and great damage was done in Liverpool and other places, a communique declared. London's Victoria and India docks were bombed. A power plant also was reported hit. Barracks in two army camps in south England and numerous military objectives in central England were reported destroyed or damaged.

Says No to Movies

HELEN HAYES.

New York, Oct. 14 [Special].—Helen Hayes, reportedly offered $85,000 to make a single picture, gave the movies her 20th refusal today and added: "Hollywood — never again!"

The actress tried Hollywood several times, worked in half a dozen pictures, and walked off with one acting award.

"I just don't like the way they chop a play into hamburger during rehearsals," the actress said in an interview. "You work on the end first and get to the opening scene three weeks later. Besides, I can't compete with glamor girls."

FREAKISH FATES AND ODD ESCAPES FOUND IN LONDON

Few Places Where Nights Are Free of Worry.

BY GUY MURCHIE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 14.—The capriciousness of descending bombs was brought home to this Tribune correspondent today by the knowledge of curious escapes from death and of equally freakish fatalities. Rich and poor alike must take their chances in London and there are few places where one can spend his nights without some measure of worry.

This correspondent, for instance, who has just returned to work after recuperating from a bomb injury, moved a few days ago from a building made of brick and plaster to a building constructed of steel and concrete. Last night, however, while writing before going to bed, I heard the sickening wail of a descending bomb and just had time to jump away from the window before a tremendous explosion shook the building and panes from all the windows in the apartment were blown in.

Curtains Stop Splinters.

The shower of glass splinters covered the floor as far as the opposite wall in some places, but the heavy blackout curtains stopped most of them so that I was not injured, except for an insignificant cut on one finger.

A large bomb had landed on the other side of the street, knocking down two brick dwellings, the front off the house opposite, and the roofs and chimneys off about a dozen other houses. An unoccupied trolley bus in the street was torn and crumpled.

Grim was the whim of fate that met one woman last night. Bored with many nights in air raid shelters, she decided to risk venturing out for a quick drink in a pub. She had just stepped up to the bar when a bomb struck the building, killing her and several others.

The opposite was the case of eight other regular shelter sleepers who had built a communal shelter of reenforced concrete. They had been sleeping in it every night, but last night all eight, despite an air raid, were in their homes eating supper when a bomb made a direct hit on this shelter, blowing it to pieces.

Saved By an Iron Bed.

In another case an old woman's life was spared because she was under a heavy iron bed when a bomb hit the roof, knocking down tons of bricks and masonry. The frame of the bed shielded her from almost certain death. Her cries attracted a rescue party.

Cleaning up after the air raids, which a month ago was done on makeshift lines according to the ideas of individuals immediately concerned, now is assuming a pattern of uniformity. Workers arrive at the wreckage quickly after an explosion, as I saw last night. They work methodically in shifts until their tasks are completed.

While demolition squads, ambulance workers, and firemen are at work police rope off the area and reroute traffic. Workers later assist and direct the work of patching windows. In most cases householders repair the window frames with translucent waterproof composition board.

FINDS NO THREAT OF STARVATION AHEAD OF POLES

Writer Forecasts Some Shortages.

BY ALVIN J. STEINKOPF.

CRACOW, Poland, Oct. 14 (AP).—Will Poland have enough to eat this winter? A cautious answer, after observation on the spot, is that no one probably will starve but that there may be more or less acute shortages in some commodities.

The Germans ridicule reports that famine conditions will prevail before next season's crops are available. I saw no evidence that the Germans are taking great quantities of food from Poland. In fact, most foods in transit seemed to be moving in the other direction.

Food rationing was introduced last week. Allowances at the start are more liberal than in Germany.

Meat Ration Larger.

Each Pole is allowed 3,000 grams of meat monthly, about 6.6 pounds, compared to the German ration of 2,500 grams. Moreover, there is no rationing in Polish restaurants.

The butter ration is 1,200 grams [about 2.5 pounds] monthly.

Poultry abounds.

On the whole, the impression prevails that Poland will be better off this year than some of the western lands the German army collected for the axis.

Old Poland was able to export food, but she lost some of her most productive territory. Of her four provinces, only Lublin has an agricultural surplus.

Nazis Push Production.

Germany is seeking to increase the country's production and is teaching the Polish farmer about chemical fertilizers. Trainloads of agricultural machinery are being hauled in daily from Germany.

The Germans won't stand for seeing one horse hitched to a plow with one Pole holding the plow and another driving the horse. Neither do they permit a farmer to make a two day trip to a distant market to take 200 pounds of potatoes. German trucks now gather the produce and the farmer is told to work his acres.

Poland will get land reforms to readjust holdings regarded by the Nazis as too large or too small.

SAN JUAN, P. R., Oct. 14.—Witnesses from the Virgin Islands St. Thomas and St. Croix appeared today before Thomas O. The service now provides two or three plane trips a week.

2 AMBASSADORS SHUN A HOTEL OCCUPIED BY CAROL AND SWEETIE

SEVILLE, Spain, Oct. 14 (AP).—The presence of former King Carol of Rumania, his red haired friend, Mme. Magda Lupescu, and his regal entourage cost the Andalusia Palace hotel here some business today.

Francesco Lequio, Italian ambassador to Spain, declined to stay at the municipally owned establishment even tho he was Italian minister to Bucharest during Carol's reign. Sir Samuel Hoare, the British ambassador who is en route to Gibraltar, also changed his plans and stayed at another hotel.

Carol and Mme. Lupescu arrived yesterday with an entourage including Mme. Lupescu's maid, three secretaries, three chauffeurs, six other servants, and this property: One hundred and fifty trunks, a collection of rifles, three automobiles, four Rembrandt paintings [value, priceless], a valuable stamp collection, a big China collection, and four dogs.

Husky Attorney's Fists Puts Robber Pair to Rout

Attorney Alexander J. Moody wasted no time on legal technicalities last night when two strong arm men attempted to rob him and his wife as they sat in an auto in front of their home at 1441 Albion avenue. He merely smashed one of the robbers on the jaw, then chased both a block down an alley. Attorney Moody is 6 feet tall and weighs 200 pounds.

FREE ENTRY TO U. S. PROPOSED FOR BERMUDIANS

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Oct. 14.—In connection with negotiations for the leasing of naval and air bases in Bermuda to the United States, N. H. P. Vesey gave notice in the assembly today of a motion expressing hope that the United States might relax its immigration restrictions in favor of Bermudians.

"With a population excess of 30,000," the motion reads, "the problem of the overpopulation of these islands is a serious one, and it is hoped arrangements can be concluded to allow native born Bermudians the privilege of entering the United States at any time."

It was declared the United States formerly absorbed Bermuda's surplus population.

REPORT JAP NAVY FORCES U. S. SHIPS INTO SIAM BASE

New York, Oct. 14 (AP).—Japanese warships have forced three United States vessels carrying war materials to put in at Taheeb, Thailand [Siam] naval base, according to a report broadcast today by the German wireless and attributed to the Bangkok newspaper Prechchant.

The newspaper was quoted to the effect that while tanks, machine guns, and airplanes on the ships ostensibly were for Thailand they were in fact destined for the Chungking [Chinese] government.

[In Washington the state department said it had not heard of the reported incident and doubted it had occurred.]

U. S. AND BRITISH PLANES WILL BE MADE IDENTICAL

American Policy Adopted to Speed Production.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14 (AP).—Some of the warplanes turned out by American factories for the United States and Great Britain are to be made identical in every detail, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. disclosed today, in order to speed up production and improve the result.

In certain cases where a factory is turning out a plane for the British and another for the United States of the same general character, he said, the aim is to standardize the manufacturing operation.

The army and navy already have had the benefit of British experience in standardizing designs, Morgenthau said at his press conference, and have asked England for ten additional technicians to further the coördination.

Inspection Group Named.

President Roosevelt has appointed Morgenthau, Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson, Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, and William S. Knudsen of the defense commission on a committee to visit airplane plants informally and talk over production problems.

Meanwhile, Secretary of State Cordell Hull indicated that naval and air base facilities were involved in discussions with various South American countries, but said that there was no question of any change in sovereignty.

He said that exchanges were taking place regarding all phases of hemisphere defense and that any talks relating to facilities, resources, or methods were within the scope of the Havana and Panama inter-American conferences.

His comment was prompted by reports from South America that Brazil and Chile had agreed to lease naval and air bases to the United States.

[A dispatch from Santiago, Chile, quoted the ministry of foreign relations as saying reports that Chile and Brazil were ready to grant naval and air bases to the United States were unfounded as far as Chile is concerned.]

Home Guard Bill Passed.

The house today completed congressional action on a measure authorizing states to establish "home guards" to replace national guardsmen called to federal service.

The treasury sent to congress a request for reorganization of the coast guard reserve as a military group whose members would be available for active duty in a war or emergency.

186,000 Vehicles Is Goal.

New York, Oct. 14 (AP).—Acquisition of 186,000 automotive vehicles—enough to equip a field force of 1,400,000 men—was disclosed tonight by Robert P. Patterson, assistant secretary of war, as the goal of the army's motorization policy.

Speaking before the Society of Automotive Engineers, Patterson said that altho the fundamental aim was for standard equipment with few modifications, the army is still open for new ideas in its mechanization program.

Of the necessary number, 16,000 have been purchased with 1940 funds, he said, and 39,000 would be delivered before Jan. 15, 1940. Funds for the remainder, he added, were already appropriated or before congress.

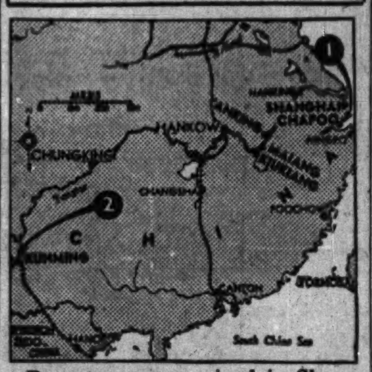
News in China



Reports were received in Shanghai yesterday that Chinese forces had recaptured Chapoo (1) from the Japanese. The United States consulate at Kunming (2) was damaged when the Japanese bombed the city.

A SHOT AT JAPS STIRS SHANGHAI FOREIGNERS' FEAR

Chinese Blamed; Shut Hongkew Two Hours.

SHANGHAI, China, Oct. 14 (AP).—A shot fired at a motor car carrying Japanese naval officers caused a flurry of nervousness here tonight and led the Japanese army to close off the Japanese-held Hongkew region from the rest of the International settlement for two hours.

An unidentified Chinese was said to have fired the shot, which did not hit the officers. Their chauffeur was injured by windshield fragments.

The shooting heightened tension in the International settlement, already made anxious by reports of renewed Japanese pressure on France and British and American disputes with the Japanese over distribution of authority in the community. Many Americans live in the French concession.

The determination of authorities to see that Americans are enabled to leave the far east was believed to stem from a feeling that the area faced difficulties.

New Shanghai Mayor Named.

Cho Fou-hai, minister of finance in the Nanking government, was named mayor of Shanghai, replacing Fu Siaoen, puppet mayor who was assassinated Friday.

Shanghai Chinese were excited by a report of foreign travelers that Chinese had recaptured Chapoo, 60 miles southwest of Shanghai on Hangchow bay. It was at Chapoo that Japanese forces landed in 1938 and outflanked the Chinese defenders of Shanghai.

More Americans to Flee Tokio.

TOKIO, Japan, Oct. 14 (AP).—A large contingent of Americans booked passage for home today on the Nitta Maru, which will sail on Saturday, as the American exodus from the orient continued under the advice of the United States state department.

A large group of wives and children, including the families of almost the entire staff of the National City bank, already is on the high seas, headed for home. The state department's announced intention to send special liners to remove other Americans caused a fresh wave of consternation in official circles here.

The United States embassy here was refusing to issue visas for Japanese nurses and servants of American families on the ground it would be impossible to guarantee that Americans would be able to return within a few months.

U. S. Consulate Damaged.

HONGKONG, Oct. 14 (AP).—A Reuter's [British] news agency dispatch states the United States consulate at Kunming, in Yunnan province, China, was slightly damaged when Japanese bombed the city yesterday.

U. S.-Japan Parley Denied.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14.—Reports from Tokio last week that Joseph C. Grew, the American ambassador, had conferred with the Japanese foreign minister on the Berlin-Rome-Tokio agreement were denied today by Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

ELLIOTT OFFERS TO RESIGN, BUT IS TURNED DOWN

Congressmen Scoff; Call It 'Shadow Boxing.'

Dayton, O., Oct. 14 [Special].—Elliott Roosevelt, it was disclosed today, has submitted a resignation of his air corps reserve captaincy, which has stirred protests thruout the country, but the resignation was refused by Brig. Gen. Oliver P. Echols, assistant commander of the air corps materiel division at Wright field.

Brig. Gen. Echols.

Echols, a lieutenant colonel who holds temporary rank as a result of air corps extension under the defense program, said the resignation was refused "on my own responsibility."

Roosevelt's resignation first was submitted Saturday, the day his father made a "non-political" visit to Dayton, according to Gen. Echols, who said Elliott insisted that it be forwarded to Washington, D. C., at once so he could register for the draft on Wednesday.

Congressmen Scoff.

When news of the resignation and its refusal reached Washington, members of congress scoffed.

Congressman John C. Schafer [R., Wis.] called the resignation "shadow boxing" and Congressman Clare E. Hoffman [R., Mich.] said Elliott's father is commander-in-chief of the army and that if he really wanted to resign he could do so.

Sources close to the war department agreed with this last, saying that if Elliott is dissatisfied with Echols' refusal of his resignation he has a right to demand that it be considered by a higher authority. This would put the matter squarely up to Elliott and, ultimately, to his father.

Calls Him Qualified.

Gen. Echols defended his refusal of young Roosevelt's resignation by saying his services are needed for liaison work between the air corps and the signal corps in connection with the procurement of aircraft equipment. He added that Roosevelt's background in radio qualified him for the job.

A statement issued on behalf of Gen. Echols said Elliott wanted to resign because he feared his acceptance of a captaincy and the resultant publicity "might have an injurious effect" on the draft program. It also said Elliott's eyesight made him unfit for flying or combat duty.

WORLD WAR VET WHO WAS IN MARINES AT 13 MUST SIGN FOR DRAFT

Portsmouth, O., Oct. 14 (AP).—Adurm Oppenheimer wonders if he'll be the only world war veteran required to register for selective service Wednesday.

Adurm Oppenheimer. [(AP) Wirephoto.]

"I'm going to try to be the first to register this time," said Oppenheimer, who enlisted in the marines at the age of 13. He won't be 36, the registration age limit, until Nov. 24.

Oppenheimer, youngest Ohio American Legion member, first enlisted in the navy, saying he was "18, but small for my age." A telegram from his father, R. D. Oppenheimer of Paintsville, Ky., brought a cancelation. He next tried the army at Fort Knox, Ky., but was sent home. En route he stopped in Cincinnati and joined the marines.

FLAGS TO MARK POLLS AS DRAFT REGISTRATION AID

Plan to Help Chicagoans Sign Up Tomorrow.

BY HAROLD HUTCHINGS.

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki announced last night that an American flag would fly at each precinct polling place in the city tomorrow to aid Chicagoans of draft age to register for military service.

The flags, owned by the board of election commissioners and displayed each election day, will be distributed to polling places by city policemen. The flags are intended to guide draft eligibles to polling places at which they can learn the names and addresses of the schools in which they must register. All 3,648 precincts within the city and the 200 precincts outside the city which are under the jurisdiction of the election board will have school lists available.

Register in 404 Schools.

Chicago's potential draftees will register in 404 public schools and at the city hall. In Cook county, outside the city, in territory under the board, and in the area under County Clerk Michael J. Flynn the registration will be in schools and in city and village halls.

Employés of the board of election commissioners and of County Clerk Flynn worked late last night bundling draft registration printed matter for distribution to each of the registration places.

A total of 1,197,000 registration cards was allotted to Cook county—about two for each anticipated registrant. In addition there were 877,000 registration certificates, a copy of which will be given each registrant, and 637,000 information booklets.

Draft headquarters in Washington warned yesterday that employers and employés are expected to register in their home areas and not in the business sections of cities. This is to avoid downtown jams.

Ask Employers to Help.

"I think it is the patriotic duty of every business man and employer to permit employés to register without loss of pay," said Paul G. Armstrong, state director of selective service. "In Illinois upwards of a million men will register, more than half a million of them in Cook county. If they all came in before or after work hours, it wouldn't be possible to complete the registration between the hours of 7 a. m. and 9 a. m."

Charles E. Miner, state Work Projects administrator, estimated that 30,000 to 35,000 WPA employés would register. They will be allowed time off and paid for a full day's work.

Draft Boards Named.

Names of the three members of each of Illinois' 284 local draft boards were approved yesterday by Gov. John Stelle in Springfield and were dispatched by plane to Washington, D. C., for formal approval by President Roosevelt. The plane, a ship of the 108th observation squadron, Illinois National Guard, was piloted by Capt. Wilson V. Newhall. The 852 board members will receive formal appointments from the President. The boards must be organized and ready for operation after the registration tomorrow.

RAILROAD SWITCHMAN KILLED.

Charles Zazeski, 50 years old, 5012 South Elizabeth street, a switchman for the Wabash railroad company, was fatally injured last night when his head struck an iron door as he apparently slipped while about to switch an engine on a spur track at 2410 West 18th street.

BRITAIN REPORTS ALL'S 'IN APPLE PIE ORDER' ON WARSHIPS FROM U.S.

LONDON, Oct. 14 (AP).—The latest destroyers acquired from the United States not only are "in apple pie order," but are equipped with everything from china and silver down to pencil sharpeners, a British naval officer reported today. In addition, he said the men on his ship were delighted and astonished to find abundant supplies of towels, sheets, blankets, pillows, typewriters, paper, an electric coffee percolator, a refrigerator, and an ice-water tap.

"NOW?" you say, "why, I was thinking of modern twenty years ago!" We don't doubt it—and we'll wager that those thoughts were anything but complimentary. HERE ARE STEPS THAT FIX YOUR STATUS IN DRAFT

Registration Tomorrow Starts Wheels Going.

John Jones is a resident of Cook county and is between 21 and 36 years old. He must register tomorrow, between 7 a. m. and 9 p. m., under the selective service law which congress recently passed as a peacetime defense measure.

Listed below, step by step, is the procedure by which John Jones reaches his final status—whether an active member of the armed forces of the United States, a person exempted from the draft, or one whose call to the colors is delayed.

First, the registration. Jones must appear at a convenient school in his neighborhood and answer a brief list of questions asked by a registrar. In general these questions have to do with his identity, his address, and his business connections. This information is written on a registration card, on the back of which the registrar writes a physical description and other remarks about Jones.

Gets Registration Certificate.

The registrar then signs the card, which he keeps, and gives to Jones a certificate showing that he has duly registered. The certificate is the registrant's proof that he has complied with the registration law.

Men eligible who are ill in hospitals will be registered there. Those ill at home may deputize some other person to register for them. Those out of town may register in any county in the United States and their cards will be forwarded to their home districts.

That is all Jones does for the present. The registrar has a great deal more to do. He must sort the registrations according to election precincts. He must make bundles of registration cards not used and any that are spoiled, and forward all to the county clerk or to the county board of election commissioners, depending on which authority controls the territory.

Registrants To Be Tallied.

The county clerk or the election board must tally the total number of registrants in each "local board area" in the county [there are 284 boards in Illinois, 78 in Chicago, 103 in all of Cook county] and give this information to the governor by telegraph.

Next the clerk or the election board must turn over the completed cards to the local draft boards. Each board, of three men, will have a headquarters and clerical help and will keep the cards as completed records.

It is the duty of the governor, as soon as he has all the information necessary, to notify the draft administrator in Washington, D. C., of the total registration in Illinois and the greatest number registered in any one local board area.

Cards Will be Numbered.

Each local board must, on receiving the completed cards from the county authority, shuffle them thoroly and number them serially. It also is required that a list of these names and numbers be posted at the board headquarters so every registrant may see his serial number. The names and serial numbers will be forwarded to Washington.

In Washington the administrator will make up a key list of numbers, as large as the registration in any board area in the country. These numbers—one by one—will be placed in blue capsules and collected in a glass bowl. This is the machinery for the lottery which will determin which serial numbers are called to service first.

At a specified time—publicly and with some ceremony—the drawing of the blue capsules will begin and will continue until all the numbers have been taken from the bowl.

First Number Is Order Number.

The first number drawn becomes the first "order number." Assume that it is 475. Then every man with 475 as his serial number is the first to be called from his draft board area. Should it happen that a large number such as 3,333 is drawn first, an area that had fewer than that many registrants would observe as its first order number the next figure drawn that is within its serial list.

The press and the radio will be depended on to inform draftees where they stand on the order number list—they will not be notified by mail. Soon after the drawing, however, the local boards will begin mailing questionnaires to the draftees at the rate of about 50 a day, beginning with those who have low order numbers.

These questionnaires, which are intricate, must be returned in five days to the local board. Much of the information in them will have value in classifying the draft status of individual men. There are four main classifications: [1] available for service; [2] deferred because of occupational status; [3] deferred because of dependents, and [4] deferred specifically by law or because unfit for military service.

BLOCK DYKSTRA APPOINTMENT AS DRAFT DIRECTOR

Fight on Dies Inquiry Is Exposed in Senate.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14.—Confirmation of the appointment of Dr. Clarence A. Dykstra to supervise the registration and classification of 16,400,000 men for service in the armed forces of the United States was blocked temporarily in the senate today.

Several hours later it was learned from an inspection of the files of the Dies committee on un-American activities that Dr. Dykstra, who was granted an indefinite leave as president of the University of Wisconsin to take the draft board post offered him by President Roosevelt, was one of the leaders of a movement last January to cut short the work of the Dies group. Robert E. Stripling, secretary of the committee, made public this information upon request.

Linked to Communist Front.

Dr. Dykstra's name appeared high in a list of signers of a petition sent to members of congress on Jan. 17, 1940, which declared that the Dies committee constituted "a real threat to intellectual rights and civil rights" in the United States.

Chairman Martin Dies [D., Tex.] and his committee have been exposing communistic and Fascist activities in this country. The petition urged congress to call a halt to these exposures.

A majority of the signers of the petition are known members of communistic front organizations, Secretary Stripling declared. The group entitled itself the "American Committee for Democracy and Intellectual Freedom." It has headquarters in New York City.

Among the other signers, known for their radical tendencies, Stripling said, were Max Yergan, secretary of the National Institute for African Affairs and president of the National Negro Congress; Leane Zugsmith, author; Dashiel Hammett, author, who is leading a national fight to keep the communist party's name on the ballot; Paul Robeson, the Negro singer, and Donald Ogden Stewart, president of the League of American Writers.

764 Red Affiliations.

The People's World, San Francisco publication, which is a west coast communistic organ, on Jan. 10 had featured the framing of the petition, calling particular attention to Dr. Dykstra's signature.

Twenty-three of Dr. Dykstra's fellow signers have no less than 764 affiliations with known communistic front organizations, the committee files disclosed.

Senator Rush D. Holt [D., W. Va.], who blocked immediate confirmation of the Dykstra nomination, said he was not aware of the Dies committee's information when he interposed an objection to immediate action.

Holt Urges Less Haste.

Democratic Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley had taken the unusual course of proposing immediate confirmation of Dykstra's appointment, which had just been received from the White House. Normally such an appointment would have been referred to the senate military affairs committee for investigation.

Senator Holt said he objected to Barkley's request on the ground that possible objectors to the appointment would be deprived of the opportunity to present their protests.

"Three years ago, the senate hurriedly confirmed a nomination and then had cause to regret it," Holt remarked. He said he referred to confirmation of the appointment of Hugo L. Black to the United States Supreme court. It was only after the appointment had been confirmed that proof of Black's Ku Klux Klan affiliations was obtained.

"There's no reason for so much haste," Holt told Barkley. "The senate must cease this practice of breaking all precedents and rushing ahead madly without considering what it is doing."

SUPREME COURT DENIES $2,197,000 PHONE REFUNDS

The United States Supreme court in Washington yesterday denied John Lackner of Chicago permission to institute litigation against the Illinois Bell Telephone company for a refund of $2,197,000 in behalf of himself and other telephone subscribers.

Telephone company lawyers here said Lechner contended that a fee of $1,500,000 allowed by the federal District court to Attorneys George I. Haight and Benjamin F. Goldstein should have been paid by the company and not from a $20,000,000 fund set aside to make refunds to subscribers under a Supreme court decision of 1934.

Lackner also attacked the payment from this fund of $60,000 to the state of Illinois, and $37,000 to the city of Chicago as reimbursement for attorney fees and the waiver by the District court of $600,000 in interest under an injunction bond. These payments had been approved in 1938 when the District court ruled the company had discharged all obligations under the 1934 decree.

Lackner's suit was the outgrowth of 17 years of litigation over telephone rates in Chicago. Haight and Goldstein in 1934 won an order from the high court for a rate reduction and refunds of $18,798,980 to those who had been paying a rate higher than that fixed by the Illinois Commerce commission in 1923.

Lackner said that approximately $1,700,000 of the refund money was unclaimed. He also had asked the Supreme court for permission to intervene and take action relative to the unclaimed money. He has no further recourse, local attorneys said.

3D TERM MEANS DICTATORSHIP! WILLKIE WARNS

He Assails the New Deal's Inner Circle.

people, there is only one man qualified to be our chief executive. There is only one indispensable man.

"If that were true, America would have ceased to be a democratic nation. Let me read you the words of a great Democrat, a man who never reached the Presidency, but who was often entrusted with the leadership of his party—William Jennings Bryan. This is what he said:

"'Whenever this nation can find within its borders but one man qualified for the Presidency, it will have reached a condition when its preservation will be a matter of little concern.'

Stand of New Deal.

"Have we reached that condition today? In effect, the New Deal, by its doctrine of the indispensable man, tells us that is so.

"I say that the preservation of this country and of its democratic system is today the deepest concern of every one of us. If we in this country fail to preserve our traditional system, then the last hope of democracy will have been lost. We cannot and we must not fail.

"Perhaps it may seem to some that in the troubled world we face the preservation of the third term tradition is a small thing. We see a world aflame. We see abroad ruthless military aggression trampling upon the rights of free peoples. At home we have seen for too many years long unemployment and economic distress. The problems of our day are heavy.

"Oppressed by the difficulties of these problems, it is understandable that some of our people should feel that the preservation of a mere tradition is relatively unimportant.

Principles vs. Tradition.

"If it were merely a tradition that was being challenged, I would agree. Traditions as such are not sacred; principles are.

"The tradition against a third term is no mere accident. The fact that it has never been violated in 150 years, is no mere tradition.

"Perhaps the best way to understand the importance of the principle underlying our rule against a third term is to go back and examine the conditions under which this principle developed into a tradition.

"Why did Washington feel so strongly that he must refuse a third term? Why did Jefferson insist so strongly upon this principle?

"The answer is that these men lived their lives in a world where tyranny had been the rule and freedom the exception. They knew that freedom is not something that can be taken for granted. They knew that freedom must be earned and they knew that the price of freedom is eternal vigilance.

"The men who established the third term tradition knew that power long continued in the hands of one man will inevitably and insensibly corrupt him. They knew that no man is to be trusted with prolonged and increasing power.

"When Washington came to the end of his second term a war was raging in Europe. He, above all men of this age, was qualified by experience and character to lead our country in those troubled times. His popularity was such that he could have been unanimously reëlected. Yet Washington deliberately chose to set the example of no third term.

"Jefferson felt so strongly about the principle of rotation in office that he would have liked to have seen it written into the constitution. He determined to establish as a tradition the example that had been set by Washington. The principle of rotation in office, he declared, should never be dispensed with because there will never be a time when real difficulties will not exist and furnish a plausible pretext for dispensing with that principle. And in his autobiography he expressed the solemn hope:

"'That should a President consent to be a candidate for a third election, I trust he would be rejected on this demonstration of ambitious views.'

Tradition Is Reinforced.

"The tradition that Jefferson established was reinforced by Madison and Monroe. Jackson could have been President for life. But he, too, chose not to destroy the unwritten law against a third term. He chose deliberately to strengthen it.

"'I cannot but believe,' he said, 'that more is lost by the long continuance of men in office than is generally to be gained by their experience.'

"And since those days the principle against a third term has been upheld by every thoughtful leader in American public life. Twice before in our history the attempt has been made to violate it. But never in our history until this year has a major political party sanctioned the attempt.

"Republican conventions have turned back the only two serious third term bids in our history. But justice compels us to say that it is the Democratic party that has been preëminent in upholding this unwritten law. It was the founder of that party who established the tradition. It was the great popular hero of that party, Jackson, who reënforced it. And more than once it has been Democrats who have offered in congress resolutions and amendments to limit the Presidential term.

Planks Against Third Term.

"It was the Democratic party which on two occasions adopted planks against the third term. It was that party which in 1896 made this solemn declaration:

"'We declare it to be the unwritten law of this republic, established by custom and usage of 100 years and sanctioned by the greatest and wisest of those who founded and have maintained our government, that no man should be eligible for a third term of the Presidential office.'

"This is among the deepest traditions of the Democratic party, and the Democratic party today would not be seeking to violate that principle had not the Democratic party been kidnapped by the New Deal.

"The truth is that it is not the real Democratic party today which seeks to break the unwritten law against a third term. We know that many real leaders of that party are not behind this movement.

"We saw the real nature of the third term movement revealed in the convention in Chicago.

Voice from the Sewers.

"We saw there how Carter Glass and other statesmen of that party were howled down by the voice from the sewers.

"We saw a man who had given long years of faithful and devoted service cast aside. When James A. Farley was dropped the New Deal dropped one of the most trustworthy pilots that had ever guided the Democratic party ship. And since then we have seen day after day how real Democrats have been compelled by conscience and a loyalty to the principles of their party to reject the leadership which has captured it.

"It is not the party of Jefferson and Jackson and Woodrow Wilson that has abandoned its principles. It is the New Deal of Hopkins, Ickes, Corcoran, and Wallace which has captured the Democratic party. They seek to substitute for Democratic doctrine the doctrine of the indispensable man.

The Indispensable Man.

"And what makes the third-term candidate an indispensable man?

"More than nine million men are unemployed in this country today. Unemployment is as great as it was four years ago when the third-term candidate was running for his second term. And today the New Deal tells us that no man living or who ever lived can get jobs for all those men. The candidate who now asks for a third term has proved that he does not know how to get our people jobs.

"Is that what makes him indispensable?

"The New Deal has spent more than 60 billion dollars. It has doubled our national debt. The New Deal candidate excels all others in the art of spending money.

"Is that what makes him indispensable?

"We have figures showing the degree of recovery that had been made by 18 leading nations of the world up to the outbreak of the war. These show that in industrial recovery the United States stood next to the bottom of that list. In reëmployment the United States stood sixteenth in that list of eighteen. The third term candidate has succeeded in putting the United States at the bottom of the list in economic recovery.

"Is that what makes him indispensable?

"The Democratic platform of 1932 promised 'an immediate and drastic reduction of governmental expenditures by abolishing useless commissions and offices, consolidating departments and bureaus and eliminating extravagance.' The New Deal candidate repeated that pledge and here is the result:

"We now have more than a million employés on the government pay roll in the executive department. That is the highest in our history. It is an increase of 73 per cent over the number of federal employés in 1933 just after the third term candidate took office for the first time. It is more federal employés than Woodrow Wilson needed in 1918 to fight the world war. There has been an unparalleled increase in the number of government bureaus and burocrats under the third term candidate.

"Is that what makes him indispensable?

"While the New Deal has added hundreds of thousands of employés to the government pay roll the proportion of government employés under the civil service has declined. It has declined from 80 per cent in the last Republican year to 68 per cent in the last New Deal year. Under the third term candidate political preference has displaced civil service as the test of eligibility for government service.

"Is that what makes him indispensable?

Slush Fund Contributions.

"Under the third term candidate men on WPA have been forced to contribute to New Deal campaign funds. They have been forced to sign pledges to vote for the New Deal candidates. In some sections of the country allegiance to the party in power has been made the test of eligibility to a WPA job.

"In 1938 a senate committee, a majority of whose members were Democrats, reported on that situation. The committee said that 'organized efforts have been made and are being made to control the vote of those on relief work and that contributions have been sought and obtained from government employés on behalf of one of the senatorial candidates.'

"And then the committee, the majority of whose members were Democrats, went on to say, and I am quoting:

"'These facts should arouse the conscience of the country. They imperil the right of the people to a free an unpolluted ballot.'

"Yet the third term candidate in a speech in Kentucky in that same year referred to charges of political pressure on workers on relief and said:

"'Personally I am not greatly disturbed by these stories.'

"The third term candidate is not disturbed that the right of the people to a free and unpolluted ballot has been imperiled.

"Is that what makes him indispensable?

"These are precisely the things that make the third term candidate indispensable. These are the things that make him indispensable to the little clique of power hungry men who ride behind his smiling mask. A third term will give them the opportunity they seek to fasten their grasp irrevocably upon this country.

"The powers of the Presidency are great. The advantages of a President who wants to perpetuate himself in office are enormous. They were described by Grover Cleveland in these words:

"'The patronage of this great office, the allurement of power, the temptations to retain public place once gained, and, more than all, the availability a party finds in an incumbent when a horde of officeholders, with a zeal born of benefits received and fostered by the hope of favors yet to come, stand ready to aid with trained political assistance.'

"And the longer a President remains in office the stronger are his powers to keep himself in office.

Declares 67 Emergencies.

"Franklin Roosevelt has taken into his own hands in eight brief years more power than any President of this nation ever had. He has declared the existence of more than 67 emergencies as the basis for the exercise of extraordinary powers.

"He has obtained from the congress blank check appropriations of 16 billion dollars.

"He has multiplied the administrative agencies which regulate our enterprise and has secured for these agencies the power of economic life or death.

"He has established a vast organization of propaganda.

"Congress rebuked his bold attempt to pack the Supreme court. But time and human mortality have given him his way. He has appointed to the highest bench in the land five of his closest followers. Given another four years and he will fill with his own men not only the Supreme court but the entire federal judiciary.

"This is the pattern of dictatorship—the usurpation of power by manufactured emergencies, the circumvention of the legislature, the capture of the courts. The pattern calls for the creation of one dominant party in which all power is vested. It calls for the indefinite rule of one indispensable man.

"These are the last steps on the road to absolute power. These are the steps which we are now asked to approve. These are the steps whereby the people of other countries have lost their freedom. This is the way democracy has been destroyed. We must not let that happen here."

Percentage of Change in Re-employment from 1929 to 1939

In June, 1936, the United States ranked 14th among eighteen leading nations in re-employment. In June, 1939, the United States ranked 16th among 18 leading nations, according to the Republican national committee figures used in this comparison. This situation under the New Deal was discussed by Wendell Willkie, Republican candidate, yesterday.

ROOSEVELT PATH IS ROAD TO WAR, WILLKIE WARNS

Candidate Cites Family's Record of Patriotism.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 14.—The danger of President Roosevelt leading this country into a war for which it is unprepared and an answer to opposition attempts to question his own and his family's patriotism were the chief topics of Wendell L. Willkie's campaign talks today.

The Republican Presidential nominee spoke to station, theater and street crowds in Schenectady, Amsterdam, Utica, and Rome before addressing a night rally in Syracuse. In Rome he was splattered by a tomato thrown into his automobile by a teenage boy. He laughed off the incident.

Cites Opposition's Tactics.

After asserting the primary campaign issues are American ones, not those of America's position in world affairs, Willkie declared that the opposition strategy was to have the national committee conduct a "smear" campaign and deal with the corrupt political machines, "while the candidate himself engages in lofty speeches and expressions about world leadership and his knowledge of foreign affairs."

"I really have a very sincere concern, a very grave concern," said Willkie, "that the candidate for the third term, by his reckless statements in this critical hour in the world's history, when this country is wholly unprepared for war, by reason of the inactivities of his own administration, may do something or say something that draws this great peaceful land into war.

"I hate war. I hate it from the very soles of my feet to the top of my head. And my hatred is not a theoretical hatred. That hate arises out of experience."

Gives Family's Record.

Then, in answer to recent Democratic attacks on the Willkie family patriotism, he spoke of his family and its wartime record as follows:

HERMAN F. WILLKIE—"When the war broke out in 1917, altho my father was 60 years old, he promptly tried to enlist in the armed forces of the United States. When he was rejected he devoted his entire time to making public addresses in arousing the people to the patriotic cause of America."

HENRIETTA TRISCH WILLKIE—"My mother devoted all of her time to the Red Cross thruout the war."

JULIA—"My oldest sister was a professor of languages at Manchester college in Indiana. At the request of Thomas R. Marshall, then Vice President of the United States, she resigned her position and went to Washington, D. C., and worked for the government in the translation of confidential war documents."

Sister a Red Cross Aid.

CHARLOTTE—"My youngest sister quit school and went to Washington to work for the Red Cross."

ROBERT—"Robert, my oldest brother, was practicing law with my father. He was married and the father of a family. Within a month after war was declared he gave up his business, enlisted in the United States army, and served thruout the war."

FRED—"My next brother was a chemist and devoted a great deal of his time, at the request of the government, to chemical research in varnish and munitions, particularly in connection with airplane manufacture."

WENDELL—"Within a month after war was declared I enlisted in the service of my country and served thruout the war."

EDWARD—"My youngest brother was in the United States navy during the war."

Voices Prayer for Peace.

"So I know what war does," Willkie continued, "and I fully appreciate the rôle that the United States must play in international affairs. Appreciating that we must defend the areas of freedom in this world, I therefore say to you—I pray with all my heart that this great free land may never become involved in war.

"To send men into warfare when a nation is not adequately prepared is worse than a betrayal of one's country. It is just taking men to slaughter and murder.

"This country is woefully unprepared, and the reason it is woefully unprepared is because we have in charge of the government talkers instead of doers."

Youths Get Medals for Saving Life

Submerged in Auto

Three young Chicagoans who saved the life of a 4 year old boy trapped in an automobile under 14 feet of water last summer were decorated yesterday with the medal of valor by Advertising Men's post, No. 38, American Legion. The ceremony took place at a luncheon in the Sherman hotel.

William C. Waugh, state department commander of the Legion, presented the medals to the young heroes. They are Gerald Padon, 24, of 4348 Shakespeare avenue; Richard Anderson, 22, of 3345 Wellington avenue, 22; and Leonard Ratkovski, 19, of 1353 North Ashland avenue. Joseph W. Cox, commander of the post presided at the luncheon.

The young men rescued Harvey Pautz of Milwaukee after his parents' automobile plunged off an embankment on the outer drive into Lincoln park lagoon on July 13. The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Erick Pautz, had freed themselves from the car. Padon, after four attempts, managed to swim down 14 feet and into the open window of the car to rescue the child. The other two men had tried but were unable to accomplish the feat. They helped Mrs. Pautz to a rescue boat.

OFFICIAL OF G.O.P. COLORED DIVISION PRAISES WILLKIE

Chandler Owen, director of publicity for the colored division of the Republican National committee, asserted yesterday that Wendell L. Willkie "is the most courageous and outspoken champion of Negro fair play nominated for the Presidency since emancipation."

Owen made the assertion in condemning a pamphlet issued in New York which called attention to the Republican nominee's German ancestry. The booklet bore the heading "Speaker's Bureau, colored division, Hotel Biltmore, New York City," a branch of the Democratic national campaign organization.

Owens said President Roosevelt has appointed only 10 Negroes in a total of 57,531 jobs and that Negro Democrats had received only one among 28,750 appointments as AAA field agents. He also asserted that the administration had spent $45.12 for education of a white child as compared with $1 for a Negro child.

THREE ACCUSED CHURCH LOOTERS HELD TO JURY

Three young men accused of burglarizing two Catholic churches waived examination and were held to the grand jury yesterday by Judge Joseph Drucker in Boys' court. Bonds of $4,000 each were set. The defendants are William A. Rothwell, 24 years old, and Frank Smoltz, 20, of Cleveland, O., and Kenneth Smith, 21, of Cheyenne, Wyo. They were arrested Saturday after they entered St. Anne's Catholic church at 153 West 55th street. Policeman John White of the Englewood station told Judge Drucker they admitted taking $9.50 from St. Mary's church at 911 South Wabash avenue.

PROGRAM TO FIND WPA JOBS FOR RELIEFERS LAGS

Only 8,743 Shifted; Goal: 15,000.

Figures were reported yesterday showing that the program for transferring able bodied men from the relief rolls in Chicago to WPA jobs has lagged far behind schedule and does not begin to approach the goal set when it was instituted nearly three months ago.

To help the city complete public works projects and expand WPA rolls the Illinois Emergency Relief commission voted, on July 19, to pay $16 per man month for every reliefer transferred to a city sponsored WPA job. Officials expected 15,000 men to be transferred by Sept. 1, and 5,000 more later.

It was learned yesterday, however, that only 8,743 men have been transferred, bringing total employment on city sponsored construction projects, according to WPA officials, to 10,780.

Many Workers Discharged.

These officials could supply no figure on employment prior to the time the transfers of reliefers began in late August, but a recent IERC bulletin showed that 4,335 men were employed Aug. 17. Thus, if 8,743 reliefers have been transferred, and there are now 10,780 men on WPA jobs, more than 2,000 WPA workers have been discharged for various reasons. Officials acknowledged that "several hundred" who were on WPA before the coöperative program was started have been discharged.

Since the IERC helps the city pay its 25 per cent sponsorship share of the project cost by contributing $16 per man month for each reliefer transferred, the transferees obviously constitute cheaper labor from the city's point of view than the WPA workers for whom no contribution is received.

WPA officials said the delay in transferring the proposed 15,000 men was because the IERC failed to certify enough workers as eligible under the program—a necessary prerequisite to transfer. Oscar Hewitt, commissioner of public works, concurred in this view.

12,776 Certified, Says Lyons.

Leo M. Lyons, executive secretary of the IERC, said that 12,776 reliefers have been certified as eligible. He added that rising private employment, which caused a 5 per cent drop in relief rolls last month, has taken many eligible reliefers off the rolls, particularly skilled workmen.

"The program is gaining speed nevertheless," Lyons asserted. "Since Oct. 1 more than 1,000 men have been put to work, and 700 more have been given assignments."

The relief commission's purpose in helping the city sponsor projects is to reduce the cost of administering relief in Chicago. Against the $16 per man month which the IERC must pay for each reliefer sent to WPA, it costs an average of $30 per month to keep a man on relief. In transferring 15,000 men, the IERC would save an estimated $210,000 monthly.

BLAME NEW DEAL HIGHER-UPS FOR SMEAR CAMPAIGN

Martin Puts Roosevelt and Wallace on List.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14.—Representative Joseph W. Martin Jr. [R., Mass.] chairman of the Republican National committee, today accused the New Deal of direct responsibility for the scurrilous attack on the loyalty and patriotism of Wendell L. Willkie, issued last week by the colored division of the Democratic National committee.

Joseph W. Martin.

Martin said the incident culminated a definite plan to smear the Republican nominee, to which Henry A. Wallace, Democratic candidate for Vice President; Gov. Herbert H. Lehman of New York and President Roosevelt were parties.

The repudiation of the smear pamphlet by Edward J. Flynn, Democratic national chairman, Martin said, "ignores the fact that the keynote for tactics of that sort has been given by the leaders of the New Deal."

Puts It Up to Flynn.

Martin's statement continues:

"If, as Chairman Flynn states, this canard directed at Mr. Willkie's ancestry was prepared by a subordinate, without the approval of responsible officials of the Democratic National committee, what has the Democratic chairman to say about the attempt of Henry A. Wallace, New Deal nominee for Vice President, to link Mr. Willkie to Adolf Hitler in his acceptance speech in August?

"Mr. Flynn characterizes the latest attempt to build up racial prejudice against the Republican nominee as 'stupid.' Does he say the same about the recent statement of Gov. Lehman of New York, which was in the same vein, and which the adverse popular reaction forced the governor to retract?

Links President to Plan.

"What was the purpose of the subtle attempt of the third term candidate at a recent press conference to build up an impression that the European dictators were opposed to his reëlection, except to cast suspicion by inference on Mr. Willkie's Americanism and his loyalty to his country?

"With these precedents, it is no wonder that some subordinate turned sly innuendo into direct libelous assertion and brought the whole smear campaign into the open.

"Does Chairman Flynn think that was 'stupid' because of the tremendous damage it has done to the cause of the third term candidate, or because it tipped off the scheme of the New Deal to use the red herring technique in diverting attention from the failure of the Roosevelt administration to restore employment, build our national defense by efficient methods and drive hundreds of communists and their fellow travelers out of federal offices?

Boomerang Among Negroes.

"This further effort to arouse racial antagonism for the purpose of influencing colored voters will have directly the opposite result than that intended. It already has stirred the widest resentment among our colored citizens, whose patriotism and loyalty will not permit of them being used as tools for the dissemination of such an outrageous libel.

"It indicates that the New Deal is attempting to divert attention from the many discriminations against Negroes by this administration with a 'smear' campaign against Mr. Willkie, which is an insult to their intelligence."

Stelle and Hershey Raise Cry of 'Hate Rich' at Party's Rally

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 14.—The Roosevelt campaign flag of "Hate the Rich" was waved by Gov. John Stelle and by Harry B. Hershey, Democratic candidate for governor, at a rally here today launching the final three weeks of the campaign. Their speeches urged the pay rollers to combat "big money interests" which they said were supporting the Republicans.

The new chief executive and his would be successor talked in the state armory before an audience of 6,000 pay rollers and their wives and friends. The crowd cheered complimentary references to the state house and Kelly-Nash machines.

Stelle Praises Hershey.

It was the first opportunity Stelle had to indicate publicly that he will open the throttle of the state house machine in behalf of the candidate whom he unsuccessfully fought in the April primary as the tool of the Chicago city hall bosses and of the sick room regency in Springfield. He praised Hershey and Hershey later returned the compliments.

"It is no easy task we face in this state," said Stelle. "The opposition not only is making a bitter fight, but it has an unusually well oiled organization.

"In the past eight years there has come about a violent and vicious opposition of Franklin Roosevelt on the part of certain groups and interests in this country. The great money interests, the utility interests, the industrialists, Wall street and La Salle street, all are bitterly opposed to the things he has done."

Appeals to Downstate.

"I am firmly convinced," said Stelle, "that insomuch as Harry Hershey is a downstate man he will be close to the problems of downstate Illinois and that we who live in the rural areas will receive from him kindly and sympathetic understanding."

"Incidentally, I want to make it clear that no one is now being forced to make campaign contributions. The so-called 2 per cent club is dead," and then he added significantly: "However, I do believe that all those who want to see President Roosevelt and Harry Hershey elected should be just as much interested financially as those millionaires and others of large means who are giving large sums to our opposition."

Hershey followed a similar theme, directing the pay rollers to ring door bells in their home precincts.

"Let us not be overconfident, for a fight it is," said Hershey. "These [the opposition] are cunning forces, selfish forces with unlimited funds, unlimited gall, and vicious newspapers in their ranks. There is a task ahead for every loyal Democrat, and if Harry Hershey is your next governor there will be party recognition for every loyal Democrat."

COURT UPHOLDS CITY CLERK IN NEW JERSEY POLL BOOKS RULING

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 14 (AP).—Chief Justice Thomas J. Brogan of the New Jersey Supreme court, in a ruling today involving the burning of 1936 and 1937 Hudson county poll books, dismissed the charge that Jersey City Clerk Joseph E. Colford violated the election law by failure to save the books at least five years.

Brogan said the election law was silent on "what precise period of time a municipal clerk is required to retain poll books."

Brogan noted in his opinion that the poll books for 1936 and 1937 admittedly had been burned last January. Books for 1938 and 1939 were produced by Colford. The decision was on an application by Superintendent of Elections William E. Sewell for an order to compel delivery of city poll books. Sewell made his demand under a 1940 law, passed by the Republican controled legislature in a sweeping election revision program aimed at the Hudson county strength of Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City, state Democratic leader.

U. S. COURT GETS HOUSING PROJECT INJUNCTION SUIT

The problem of deciding whether the Chicago Housing authority can cut rents in federal housing projects and use the reductions as a basis for evicting tenants was transferred yesterday from the Superior court of Judge Robert C. O'Connell to Federal District Judge Michael L. Igoe.

An injunction suit was filed in Superior court Sept. 16 seeking to restrain the housing authority from expelling 500 families in the Julia Lathrop and Jane Addams projects whose incomes, after a rent cut Jan. 1, were above the legal maximum of five times the rent charged. The petition contended that using a reduction of the rents for the purposes of eviction is contrary to the federal housing law of 1937.

The transfer in jurisdiction was made by agreement between attorneys for the authority and the plaintiffs.

WILLKIE LEADS IN 1ST RETURNS OF IOWA STRAWS

Polls 56.2 Per Cent of Vote in Nine Cities.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Straws from nine Iowa cities are tabulated today in the third day's results of The Tribune straw vote which is being taken in Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, and Wisconsin. The first returns from the tall corn state contain 5,989 straw ballots collected from farmers, industrial workers, and folks along the main streets of towns and cities.

Wendell L. Willkie leads in seven of the nine cities and President Roosevelt in two. In one—Ames—Roosevelt was one vote behind Willkie.

Willkie has 56.2 per cent of the total straws taken thus far in Iowa. He is getting a much larger share of the straw ballots than Alf M. Landon got in the 1936 Presidential election. Landon polled 47 per cent of the vote in the nine cities and carried five of them. Willkie's percentage runs close to the 57 per cent vote which Gov. George A. Wilson, a Republican, polled in the nine cities two years ago.

Roosevelt Polls 43.8 Per Cent.

Willkie has a few more straws than Gov. Wilson. Roosevelt runs ahead of John K. Valentine, former United States district attorney, who is the Democratic candidate for governor. The result is that Wilson's percentage of the governorship straws is larger than Willkie's percentage of the straws on President.

The results follow:

President—	Straws.	Pct.	Governor—	Straws.	Pct.
Willkie	3,364	56.2	Wilson	3,318	60.3
Roosevelt	2,625	43.8	Valentine	2,189	39.7

The cities in today's table lie in a strip running from the Mississippi river half way across the middle of the state. They are scattered over five of Iowa's nine congressional districts, including the second, which is strongly Democratic.

G. O. P. Upswing in 1938.

Iowa is one of the states which registered a Republican upswing in 1938. Traditionally Republican, it went to Roosevelt in 1932 by a plurality of 183,586 and by 133,779 in 1936. It swung back to the Republican party two years ago. In the 1938 election it elected seven Republican congressmen out of the state's nine, a gain of three, and elected Gov. Wilson by a plurality of 59,176. It also reelected Senator Guy M. Gillette, a Democrat, whom the White House had marked for defeat in a purge of senators who opposed the court packing bill.

The results of the straw poll in the nine cities follow:

CLINTON—This city, which calls itself "the city where agriculture and industry meet," gives Willkie 55.9 per cent of the straws. A large proportion of the farmers and industrial workers voted in the straw poll. Four years ago Landon polled 46 per cent and two years ago Gov. Wilson got 51 per cent of the votes.

DAVENPORT—A shopping and retail center with several good size factories, this city gives Willkie 49.7 per cent. In 1938 Landon had 39 per cent of the vote. Wilson had 51 per cent two years ago.

Willkie Gets 65% in Cedar Rapids.

CEDAR RAPIDS—Here, in the same congressional district as Clinton and Davenport, Willkie got 65 per cent of the straws. Cedar Rapids is the home of Harrison B. Spangler, Republican national committeeman, and is an important industrial center. It has a large corn products plant. Four years ago Landon carried the city by 40 votes, getting 13,334 to 13,294 for Roosevelt. Two years ago Wilson had 65 per cent of the vote, polling 11,184 against 5,964 for Gov. Nelson G. Kraschel, Democrat.

IOWA CITY—President Roosevelt has 51.8 per cent of the straws. The city, seat of the state university, casts about 5,500 votes. It is in the heart of a great agricultural district. Willkie's 48.2 per cent of the straws is close to the Landon vote of 47 per cent and the Wilson vote of 49 per cent.

MARENGO—This city, in an agricultural county, was carried by Landon by 53 per cent. Wilson carried it by 60 per cent in 1938. Its straw vote gives Willkie 66 per cent.

MARSHALLTOWN—Willkie got 61 per cent of the straws here. Wilson carried the city by 61 per cent and Landon carried it by 56 per cent.

57.8 Per Cent in Grinnell.

GRINNELL—Willkie has 57.8 per cent of the straws here, the home of Grinnell college. Landon got 53 per cent and Wilson 68 per cent.

AMES—This, the seat of the agricultural college, gave a difference of only one vote between Willkie and Roosevelt. Landon carried the city with a vote of 53 per cent and Wilson polled 64 per cent.

NEWTON—This industrial city is known as the washing machine center of the world. Willkie has 58.8 per cent of the straws. Wilson carried the town two years ago with 57 per cent. Landon lost it with 46 per cent.

Courtney has polled 56 per cent of the straws cast in Chicago in the race for Cook county prosecutor. Judge Oscar F. Nelson, his G. O. P. opponent, has polled 44 per cent.

450 DOWNSTATE OFFICIALS HEAR DWIGHT H. GREEN

Nominee Hits Alliance of Crime and Politics.

Four hundred and fifty officials of Illinois cities, counties, towns, and villages last night heard Dwight H. Green, Republican nominee for governor, assail the alliance between crime and politics and declare himself a champion of home rule for downstate communities. Green's speech, which was also broadcast, was made in the Hotel La Salle.

Among the officials who heard the Republican candidate was J. W. Spresser, mayor of Taylorville, home town of Harry B. Hershey, Democratic nominee for governor. Spresser expressed the belief Green will win.

Depends on Chicago.

"Even Hershey will tell you," Spresser said, "that if he is to be elected Chicago must furnish the necessary votes."

Other mayors present were Mayor James D. Flynn of Champaign, George F. Hurd of Urbana, Mark B. Hayes of of Bloomington, Frank P. Meyer of Danville, Myron M. Lehman of Elgin, Luke Stuart of Freeport, Albert Hattenburg of Kankakee, Ray Klingbill of East Moline, and F. W. Bruggeman of Harvey.

Green told his audience that the crude rough days of gang crime have been superseded by protected lawbreaking, which depends on bribery and political fixing for its power.

Cites Court Record.

"From a witness in the federal court trial of that convicted czar of gambling, William Johnson, came the names of men high in the Kelly-Nash councils who sent job hunters to the gambler with the demand that he put them on his pay roll. It is evident that so many jobholders already filled the city hall, Johnson was forced to pay off for the protection under which he piled up millions in profits.

"From the lips of a dying labor union official poured the story of how racketeers looted his organization treasury, and how the membership was commanded to vote the Kelly-Nash ticket. The deathbed statement revealed that hoodlums enjoyed political protection, and paid for it by securing votes for machine candidates.

"Files in the city hall are filled with complaints against fire trape and unsanitary lodging houses in "blighted wards." These complaints are utterly ignored. Is it because they pour forth their quota of fraudulent voters on election day?"

Green also spoke at a meeting of the National Republican party at the Morrison hotel. There he was joined by Judge Oscar F. Nelson, Republican nominee for state's attorney.

Assails State's Attorney's Office.

"Who is really state's attorney of Cook county?" Nelson asked the 500 listeners. "The police captain who gets $8,000 a year runs that office. He is an ex-hoodlum and consorts with Frank Nitti, boss of the Capone gang."

Green and C. Wayland Brooks, Republican candidate for United States senator, closed the evening with speeches to 300 persons in a small hall in the 35th ward at 4410 Diversey avenue. Here Brooks asked for whom the army of conscripted men is being raised to fight.

"Is it Hitler?" he inquired. "Is he going to invade the United States? Hitler cannot cross 20 miles of water. How will he get across 3,000 miles of ocean?"

HERSHEY PLEDGE: JOB PROTECTION TO DRAFTED MEN

Rock Island, Ill., Oct. 14 [Special].—Harry B. Hershey, Democratic candidate for governor, declared here tonight that protection of the jobs of men called for military service and economic security for their families during their absence would be one of his first concerns as chief executive of Illinois.

Before a large audience at Masonic Temple, the Democratic nominee promised, if elected, "to mobilize Illinois' best brains" in working out such a program. Leaders from the ranks of business, the professions, labor, and agriculture would be invited to coöperate, he said.

"Only a small proportion of our Illinois men will be subject to call, either for selective service or the guard," Hershey remarked. "But no matter how small the number might be, our duty would be just as definite.

"This problem of job protection and family security can be solved by coöperation of our state government with the citizens of our state, which is the way all of our problems can and should be overcome."

POLICEMAN'S SON IS RETURNED TO JUVENILE COURT

Robert Gieseler, son of Policeman John Gieseler of the Wabash avenue station, was returned to custody of Cook county juvenile authorities yesterday by Judge Perry L. Persons of the Lake county court at Waukegan.

Young Gieseler, who is 17 years old, was arrested at his father's request last Thursday by Lake county deputy sheriffs as he was fleeing in his father's car after an automobile collision.

Young Gieseler had been a Juvenile court probationer since last June, when he was caught carrying a gun. Two companions captured with him last Thursday were placed on probation by Judge Persons yesterday. They are Edward Cizowski of 1646 South Throop street and Milton Kessler of 1025 Cullerton street. Each is 16 years old.

SUBWAY COSTLY VOTE CATCHER, LYONS CHARGES

100 Million Project Serves Only Few, He Says.

The real cost of completing Chicago's 7½ mile subway and placing it in operation will exceed 100 million dollars, Richard J. Lyons, former state representative, charged in a radio address last night. He asserted that the 46 millions now being spent for the subway will only pay for a "concrete gopher hole" and that the Kelly-Nash machine has not divulged the ultimate cost.

Lyons also asserted that the subway, even when ready for service after a 100 million dollar outlay, will benefit only 10 per cent of the transit users. It will only give local rides and will not replace any present routes of the surface lines or the elevated lines, he said.

Recalls Bridle Paths.

"The subway will give car riders the poorest ride for the money invested of any transportation line since the bridle path that this man Kelly built as engineer for the sanitary district," Lyons charged. "It will benefit nobody except the machine which has used the subway as a screen for paying out tens of millions of dollars to help buy votes for the Democratic bosses."

Lyons listed in detail items included in what he termed the real cost of the subway. He recalled that the original estimates by engineers for Mayor Kelly and the federal Public Works administration placed the subway cost at 40 million dollars. Then they found later, he said, that they were a mere 6 million dollars off, bringing the cost up to 46 millions.

An additional outlay of 10 millions will be required to equip the subway with track, signals, turnstiles, ventilators, and escalators, he said, and another 25 millions for 600 all-steel cars needed for subway operation. To these items Lyons added 6 millions for the cost of relocating public utilities in the path of the subway, and 10 millions for damages to "hundreds of buildings" along the subway route.

Reaches 100 Million Total.

These sums, Lyons added, bring the total to 97 millions, to which must be added more millions for repaving sinking streets and sidewalks over the subway and for the cost of unused subway plans, pushing the total beyond 100 millions.

"If Chicago had wisely used this huge sum which is being squandered on a needless and useless subway the city's entire transportation system could have been modernized," Lyons asserted.

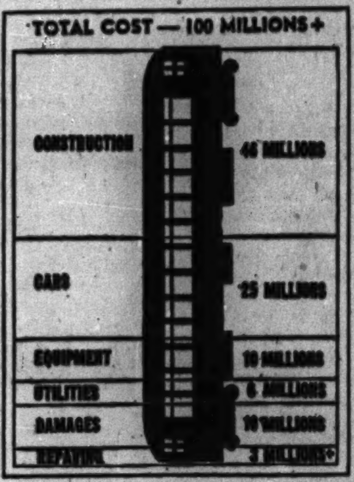
"This is no idle statement. Even without the subway cars, and without any federal grant, the subway will cost approximately 57 millions. In addition the street car companies have 30 millions of cash on hand that they want to spend for new equipment if only Mayor Kelly would let them. There is 87 million dollars. Chicago for this money could have bought 2,500 streamlined street cars and 1,000 new streamlined elevated cars and still had 8 millions left over.

"And these would have served 100 per cent of Chicago's car riders instead of only 10 per cent."

Lyons' talk was the second in a series of eight radio speeches on "Politics Behind Chicago's Traction and Subway Muddle." The addresses are being made each Monday and Friday at 6:45 p. m.

Cost of Subway

(Story in adjoining column.)



The total cost of the Chicago subway is shown in this diagram, based on figures provided by Richard J. Lyons, in radio address last night. The breakdown on various items also was made by Lyons. Relocating utilities took 6 million; damages to buildings, 10 million, and street repairs, 3 million.

The Order of the Eastern Star of Illinois donated $500 to the Chicago chapter of the American Red Cross yesterday as an early gift to the chapter's annual drive for funds. The gift was presented to Roger Holden, manager of the chapter, by Barbara Ann Johnson, 3 years old, 3620 North Oakley avenue, a baby Star, in Red Cross headquarters, 616 South Michigan avenue.

The fund was collected at the Eastern Star state convention in Chicago Oct. 1 at the suggestion of Mrs. Bertha Eagle, 3016 North Kilpatrick avenue, past state worthy grand matron. Mrs. Minnie Caperton, present state worthy grand matron, accompanied little Barbara Ann to Red Cross headquarters yesterday.

The annual drive for funds conducted by the Chicago chapter of the Red Cross will open Nov. 11 and continue thru Nov. 30.

SUPREME COURT TO HEAR BRIDGES, BROWDER CASES

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14 [Special]. —The Supreme court today agreed to review the conviction of Earl Browder, communist Presidential nominee, for using a passport obtained by false statements. Browder was found guilty by a federal jury in New York last Jan. 22 and sentenced to serve four years in prison and pay a fine of $2,000.

Browder's conviction has been upheld by the Federal Circuit Court of Appeals in New York. Argument on the appeal will be heard by the Supreme court soon and a decision will follow in a few weeks.

Harry Bridges, west coast dictator of the C. I. O. and a reputed communist, also appealed to the Supreme court today to upset his conviction for contempt of a Los Angeles Superior court which gave him the alternative of paying a fine of $135 or serving a five-day jail sentence. Bridges' conviction resulted from a telegram he sent to Madam Frances Perkins, secretary of labor, criticizing a decision of the court.

Bridges, an alien, whose expulsion from the country has been voted by the lower house of congress, said the contempt conviction abused his right to petition the government and impaired his service as a labor union official.

NORMAN THOMAS IS DENIED A HALL IN CARBONDALE

Carbondale, Ill., Oct. 14 (AP).—William Cox today charged that Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for President, had been denied the use of a Carbondale theater for an address tonight. Cox identified himself as chairman of arrangements for the meeting. He said he had leased the theater, but the manager returned the money and informed him that Thomas could not use the building.

George Hayes, the theater manager, said he acted at the request of Mayor Charles Johnson. Mayor Johnson said he appealed to Hayes after receiving protests from Legion officials, members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and many citizens.

Dr. Roscoe Pulliam, president of the Southern Illinois Normal university, granted Thomas the use of the school's auditorium "in accordance with our long established policy that a candidate for any major office has the right to use our buildings."

Poll Shows Churchmen Favor Willkie's Election

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 14 [Special]. —A Presidential straw vote taken among bishops, delegates, and visitors attending the triennial convention of the Episcopal church here today gave 974 votes for Wendell L. Willkie, the Republican nominee, to 560 for President Roosevelt for a third term. The poll was taken by the Living Church, a Milwaukee, Wis., religious publication.

Hairdresser Is Fined $50 on Charge Brought by Girl

Robert Ranier of Bensenville was fined $50 for disorderly conduct yesterday on accusations brought by a girl 11 years old. The girl told Judge J. M. Braude that Ranier tried to persuade her to enter his car. Ranier, who is 24 years old, is a hairdresser in a Hinsdale beauty parlor. He said he only wanted to take the girl's picture when he accosted her Wednesday near Ridge and Estes avenues.

BROWN SAYS HE DOESN'T WANT NEW FCC TERM

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14 (AP).—Thad Brown, member of the Federal Communications commission, asked President Roosevelt today to withdraw his nomination for another term on the agency. Mr. Roosevelt agreed "reluctantly" to do so.

The President nominated Brown, a Republican from Ohio, on June 5, but the senate has never acted. At hearings by the senate interstate commerce committee on the nomination, Senator Charles W. Tobey [R., N. H.] sharply criticized the commission, and opposed confirming Brown.

Tobey also questioned Brown on one occasion about what the senator said were reports of an incident in a New York City "hot spot" where "members of the Federal Communications commission were present."

CRUISER SUNK, BOATS BATTERED BY HEAVY WINDS

Ten pleasure boats which broke loose from their moorings and were carried into the lake on a strong northerly wind, were towed in last night by coast guardsmen. Several of the boats were battered by the wind and high waves against the north side of Navy pier and suffered considerable damage. A large cruiser, the name of which was not learned, was battered on the rocks near Shedd aquarium and sank.

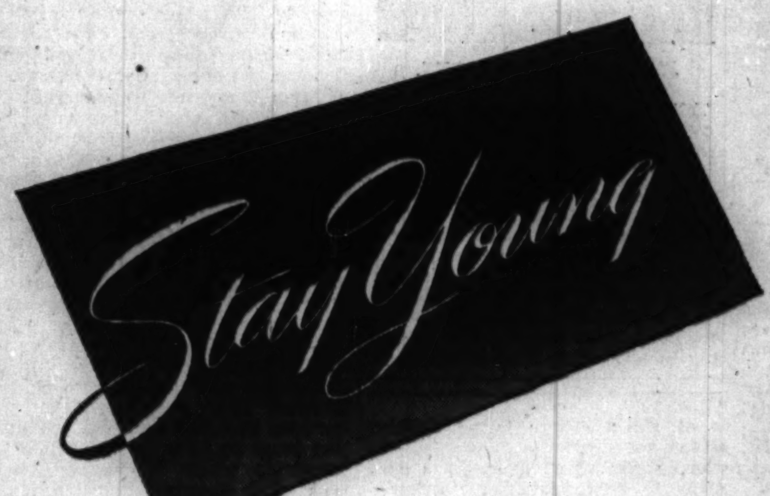
Today an Exciting New Store Opens in Chicago with

A FUNDAMENTAL IDEA FOR MEN



You will hear it said that this new Broadstreet's Store in Chicago is the most modern men's clothing store in America. That's true.

You will hear a great deal about the new lighting, the windows, the beauty of the architecture and the thoroughly masculine comfort of this exciting new store.

You will also probably learn that this store is kin to the famous Broadstreet's on Fifth Avenue, New York.

These are all very interesting details. But the most important thing that you should know about Broadstreet's is the idea behind the windows and the lighting and the merchandise — an idea which will be of profound significance to every thinking Chicagoan.

This is not just another clothing store in Chicago. This store was created to render a certain basic, highly specialized apparel service based on a fundamental concept addressed primarily to business men.

We say that the function of clothing is to help you in the most important of all human aspirations — to STAY YOUNG!

The whole fashion trend in men's apparel today lines up with that idea. For today the rich vitality of color is freely employed in men's dress to back up the admonition to STAY YOUNG.

DEMOCRATS GIVE WILLKIE SLIGHT EDGE IN INDIANA

Pour In AAA Cash, Trying to Offset Trend.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 14.—One of the major battles of the Presidential election is raging for the capture of the 14 electoral votes of Wendell Willkie's home state, Indiana.

Both the Republican and Democratic national committees are giving Indiana special attention. They are pouring in their topline spellbinders and pouring in campaign funds—at least to the extent possible since the passage of the Hatch act.

The Democrats are distributing soil conservation and parity checks to farmers with more or less subtly conveyed hints to vote for Mr. Roosevelt as the author of the largess. Members of the 82 Associated Willkie clubs and of the Democrats for Willkie are ringing doorbells and soliciting votes for the Hoosier candidate.

Observers Agree It's Willkie.

Impartial observers calculate that Willkie will carry the state—by no great margin, perhaps no more than 50,000. Democratic leaders privately concede that Willkie probably has the edge today, but are counting on war events between now and election day to recover lost ground for the President.

Mr. Roosevelt is accounted by the Democratic managers to be far stronger in Indiana now than he was two months ago. They ascribe the improvement in his prospects to the prominence of war events and questions of national defense, with which the President sedulously associates himself as the indispensable expert thereon.

According to Republican leaders, the war psychology is proving a two edged sword. While Mr. Roosevelt's shrewd exploitation of the war as a campaign issue may have persuaded many voters that he is the country's indispensable leader, quite as many, if not more, have been driven away from support of Mr. Roosevelt by apprehensions that he is edging the nation into war, according to the soundings of public opinion transmitted to Republican state committee headquarters by county chairmen.

German Groups Favor Willkie.

There is a large German-American population in Indiana which was largely Democratic, but which now is overwhelmingly for Willkie. Various explanations have been forthcoming from the German-American communities. The principal ones are that Roosevelt is pro-British, is against Gemany, is getting us into war. Willkie's German ancestry also is a factor.

In the great steel and other industrial communities of Lake county, racial factors are figuring. The Polish-Americans are for Roosevelt pretty generally as the champion of their cause against Hitler, while the Italian-Americans have gone against Roosevelt because of his "stab in the back" speech directed at Mussolini.

Taken by and large, however, the biggest factor operating to the advantage of Willkie is the split in the Democratic party over the third term and the socialistic tendencies of the New Deal. Scores of prominent Democrats in every community are working openly for Willkie, and for every one out in the open there are hundreds who for social or business reasons are unwilling to disclose their intention to vote for Willkie.

REGIMENTED LIFE SOFTENING U. S., BAKERS WARNED

The soft life of regimentation, encouraged by the New Deal, is weakening the fiber of the American people, Maj. John L. Griffith, commissioner of Big Ten athletics, told delegates to the American Bakers' association convention yesterday in Hotel Sherman. He asserted the same system would be ruinous to athletics, which is based on enterprise and open competition.

Maj. Griffith declared the government is making a serious mistake in guaranteeing security for the people instead of encouraging them to work for it, just as athletes must work for the honor and prizes they receive.

He carried the analogy into the field of international relations, saying that the countries like France, which pampered their peoples, have been unable to compete with "the lean and hungry" nations.

"Those lean and hungry nations are tough, and they are going to make it tough for us, too, unless we wake up to the idea that we must work to preserve the American system which made this country great."

Also addressing the convention delegates was Clarence Francis, president of the General Foods corporation, who declared the country's greatest danger in the chaos of today lies from within and not from the possibility of invasion. L. J. Schumaker, association president, also spoke.

DIES IN THREE FLOOR PLUNGE.

Mieczyslaw Mierzwinski, 55 years old, plunged to his death yesterday from the roof of a three story building where he lived at 1337 North Western avenue.

ELECT LEADERS 'WE CAN TRUST,' LINDBERGH PLEA

Nation Being Dragged Into War, He Says.

the armies and interference of the old world. Yet the independence and the destiny of America were never more in jeopardy than they are today.

"During the first century and a quarter of our existence as a free and independent people, we opposed, and opposed successfully, all the major powers of Europe. At the same time that our forefathers pushed thru the wilderness to the Pacific, they forced, one after another, England, France, and Spain, to discontinue their interference with American affairs. We won our independence from England when we were a nation of less than four million people.

Why Give Up Independence?

"Why, then, with one hundred and thirty million people, are we being told that we must give up our independent position, that our frontiers lie in Europe, and that our destiny will be decided by European armies fighting upon European soil? What has happened to this nation that it fears in maturity the forces that it conquered in its youth? What foreign influence has sprung up among us? Where is the blood of such leaders as Washington, Jefferson, and Lincoln; blood that stood firm on American soil against the threats, the armies, and the navies of the greatest empires on earth?

"What we lack today is the type of leadership that made us a great nation; the type that turned adversity and hardship into virility and success. No one doubts that we are in the midst of a world crisis. No one denies that our defenses are weak; that our debt is great; that dissatisfaction is rising among us. We do not question the need for rearmament, for reform, for a better economic system.

Leadership Is Questioned.

"What we do question is the leadership that has brought these conditions upon us. We question that the men who were unable to foresee these conditions in time to avoid them, who could not foresee the war in time to prepare for it, are now competent to carry this nation successfully thru a period of great crisis.

"Under their leadership we have alienated the most powerful military nations of both Europe and Asia, at a time when we ourselves are unprepared for action, and while the people of our nation are overwhelmingly opposed to war.

"There is no question about the fundamental courage and solidarity of Americans when our national welfare is at stake. There is no division among us about the defense of our own country. We have always been ready to fight against the interference of foreign powers in our affairs. If need be we are ready to die for the independence of America, as our forefathers have died before us. On a clearly American issue we stand a united nation. It is only when we are asked to take part in the quarrels of foreign countries that we divide; only when we are asked to merge our destiny with that of other lands.

"The fact is today that we are divided; we have not confidence in our leaders. We have not confidence in their efficiency or in their judgment. Instead of a Washington warning us against the wiles of foreign influence and excessive partiality for any nation, we are told that our frontiers lie in Europe. We are informed that we may be invaded from the icebound mountains of Greenland, and by fleets of nonexistent trans-Atlantic bombers.

"We find the same men who have led us to the greatest national debt in our history now telling us that as a nation we are weak and unprepared; that we must appropriate more billions of dollars to building up our military forces. These same leaders who have failed to solve even our peacetime problems, who have a consistent record of promise followed by failure, now ask us to put ourselves in their hands again as they lead us steadily toward that climax of all political failure—war.

"They do not tell us openly what their intentions are. They say we should leave our decisions and our destiny to specialists—to the same specialists who have made us a weakened nation in an antagonistic world. They harangue us about 'democracy,' yet they leave us with less knowledge of the direction in which we are headed than if we were citizens of a totalitarian state. We are told we are being prepared to defend America at the same time that orders are placed for armament that would be used for a war in Europe.

"We do not need untold thousands of military aircraft unless we intend to wage a war abroad. What we do need is a thoroly modern and efficient air corps, trained, equipped, and maintained for the specific mission of American defense.

"Adequate defense does not necessitate this alarm and confusion. With intelligent leadership, we could have built an impregnable defense for America. But today, while we listen to talk of aircraft, guns, and battleships, we find ourselves in confusion at home and under ridicule abroad.

It Is Happening In America.

"The same thing is happening to us that happened to England and France. We have been led to debt and weakness, and now we are being led toward war. Instead of building their own national strength, the peacetime leaders of England and France told their people that the best way to defend their own countries was to fight for Poland. They followed this advice and failed. Now we are being told, and by leaders of similar caliber, that the best way to defend our own country is to defend England. If we desire strength, and freedom, and independence, the first step must be to assure ourselves of leadership which is entirely American. The doctrine that we must enter the wars of Europe to defend America will be fatal if we follow it.

"If we desire the unity among our people that is essential to national life and strength, we must select leaders who believe sincerely in national defense, but who are wholeheartedly opposed to our involvement in foreign wars. Above all, we must select leaders whose promises we can trust, who know where they are taking us, and who tell us where we are going. The entire future of America and of our system of life hangs upon the action we take and the judgment we show. It does not depend upon the outcome of the war in Europe, but upon men, regardless of their party, who will lead us to strength and peace, rather than to weakness and to war."

MARIE FITZIMMONS.

Tall, brunette Marie Fitzimmons of Boston was adjudged winner of a health and beauty contest conducted by American Bakers' association at a convention session last night in Hotel Sherman. Miss Fitzimmons will be officially proclaimed "Miss Energy of 1940" at the association's annual dinner tonight at the hotel. Winner of second place in last night's judging was Christine McDonald of Washington, D. C., who received the title of lady in waiting to Miss Fitzimmons.

Handcuffed Convict Gets Away, En Route to Prison

Boonville, Ind., Oct. 14 [Special].—Russell Heutt, 33 years old, of Selvin, convicted of issuing a fraudulent check to Albert Ward for a cow, escaped today as Sheriff Porter Brown was taking him to Indiana prison to begin a term of one to ten years. Heutt was handcuffed.

THREE DEAD AND ONE DYING AFTER PARALLEL DOMESTIC QUARRELS

In duplicate shootings last night, two men shot and killed two women, then shot themselves. One man is dead, the other dying.

Charles Yurkaites, 50 years old, went to 2724 Emerald avenue, the home of his wife, Veronica, 42, from whom he had been separated three weeks. They quarreled and she locked herself in a bedroom. He broke down the door and fired two shots. She ran into the street, where he shot her in the head, then fired three bullets into his head. Physicians at Bridewell hospital said he would die.

John Nus, 69, an old age pensioner, and Mrs. Agnes Jachimiak, 40, a widow with whom he had been living for the last four months, were found shot to death in Nus' flat at 1758 17th street. Lieut. Edward Collopy and Detective Joseph Carroll of Marquette station said that Nus had apparently shot the woman and then himself. A .32 caliber revolver lay near Nus' hand. A niece, Sophie Nus, 22, who lived in the flat, said that Nus and Mrs. Jachimiak had quarreled frequently.

SLATTERY DENIES F. D. R. IS LEADING NATION TO WAR

Senator James M. Slattery, Democratic nominee for reëlection, defended the Roosevelt administration last night in a radio address from WENR against the charge that it is leading the nation into war. The senator urged the voters to approve the New Deal program by returning him and President Roosevelt to office. Senator Slattery characterized the campaign of those who oppose the New Deal as one of propaganda and misrepresentation, and attacked THE TRIBUNE for its stand. He said that no President since Jackson has so captured the hearts of the plain people as President Roosevelt, and quoted passages from the President's Saturday night speech.

ONE DEAD, 2 HURT IN BOWLING ALLEY BLAST AND FIRE

Fire of undetermined origin last night swept the north side of a building housing new bowling alleys at 5221 Broadway, burning one man to death and injuring two others.

The dead man was Edward Kamt 52 years old, 1924 South Ridgeway avenue, a porter. Those injured are John Callahan, 51, of 1124 Wilson avenue, a pinsetter, and Elmer Herman, 42, of 5348 Madison street, a maintenance man. They were taken to the Swedish Covenant hospital by Policemen John Settler and Harry Rosenzweig of the Summerdale station.

Callahan told the officers that the fire started in a storeroom and that as he was helping Herman stamp it out a barrel of shellac overturned and there was an explosion. Callahan, blown out the storeroom door, is not seriously hurt. Herman, however, is in a critical condition from burns. Kamt is thought to have been trapped in the storeroom. The fire loss was estimated at $250.

BANDITS KIDNAP TWO GIRLS FROM ESCORTS, RAPE 1

Two bandits held up two young couples in a parked automobile at Parker and Kilbourn avenues last night and then kidnaped and raped one of the girls, a freshman at the Carl Schurz High school.

The victims were sitting in a car owned by Donald Peterson, 19 years old, 5043 Schubert avenue, when the gunmen appeared. Peterson was robbed of his watch. The bandits forced him an Charles Nelson, 19, of 5052 Schubert avenue from the car and drove off with the two girls, each 15 years old.

They later put one out and drove back to their own car, parked near the place where they first accosted their victims. Taking the remaining girl in their car, the robbers drove her to a secluded spot where each raped her.

HUNTED 29 YEARS AS KILLER, ALIEN GIVES HIMSELF UP

Mt. Vernon, N. Y., Oct. 14 (AP).—Fearing that registration under the alien act would lead to his arrest in the fatal shooting of a friend 29 years ago, Paolo Isola, 50 year old automobile dealer of San Antonio, Tex., surrendered to police today.

Isola had been on the "wanted" list since Dec. 15, 1911, when police charged he shot Joseph Scarfone in Stamford, Conn. Arraigned before City Judge Jacob A. Bernstein today, he pleaded innocent to a manslaughter charge, waived extradition, and was taken to Stamford.

During the years he was a fugitive, Isola said he had lived in San Antonio, built up an automobile business and reared a family.

They'll Wear Grass Skirts Right Into the Water

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 14 (AP).—Attention, men: The newest thing in feminine bathing suits is a grass skirt, briefer even than the kind they wear in Hawaii. Fashion experts at today's opening of the Los Angeles resort and cruise wear show suggested, however, that the plump bather reject the new style lest it make her resemble a bale of hay. The skirt is woven of Southern California grasses. Very brief shorts are worn beneath it. The "bra" is of cotton. Sponsors said the grass suit would not wilt under the sun and could be worn "right in the water."

INQUIRY ORDERED ON U. S. BOOKLET LAUDING DEFENSE

Senate Body Asks Works Chief to Explain.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14.—The senate committee on campaign expenditures today ordered an investigation of the distribution by the Democratic national committee of a booklet issued by the federal works agency, titled "Millions for Defense." John Carmody, federal works administrator, was ordered to explain the purpose of putting out this expensive publication.

Alan Valentine, executive director of the National Committee of Democrats for Willkie, complained that the issuance of the booklet at the expense of the taxpayers violated section 2 of the Hatch act, which forbids any federal official to use his office, or the people's money, for the purpose of influencing an election.

Seeks to Answer Charges.

The 48 page brochure, printed on slick paper and containing 22 large photographs, was issued by the federal works agency to counteract charges made by Democrats as well as Republicans that the Roosevelt administration has spent 60 billion dollars and left the country hopelessly unprepared. A complaint most frequently made is that some of the billions of dollars lavished upon boon doggling and leaf raking projects should have been used to house and mechanize the army and build up an air force.

The federal works agency booklet says that "over a billion dollars of emergency funds" has been spent for defense in the last seven years. Among items mentioned are 238 million dollars set aside from a public works appropriation for warships, $7,496,923 of PWA funds for 130 naval planes, $7,497,612 for 100 army planes, and "10 million dollars of PWA allocations for the motorization and mechanization of our army."

Carmody Makes Boast.

An introductory statement by Administrator Carmody boasts that "we have a strong nation today—a nation capable of mobilizing quickly and effectively behind an unprecedented program of national defense."

Private printers have estimated the cost of 1,000,000 copies of the propaganda booklet at $51,000. Copies are being issued as part of a "speakers' kit" distributed by the Democratic national committee.

The senate campaign committee announced that Howard Hunter, work projects commissioner, will appear before it next Friday to answer charges that the WPA rolls are being padded in places where it will do the most good on election day. The WPA has increased its national quota for October from 1,700,0000 to 1,800,000, thereby conforming to the unbroken rule that federal relief rolls decline from June thru October in nonelection years and increase during the same period in election years.

UNION OF RADIO ARTISTS GRANTED PAY INCREASES

New York, Oct. 14 (AP).—Members of the American Federation of Radio Artists [A. F. of L.] approved tonight a three year agreement with the National Broadcasting company and the Mutual and the Columbia Broadcasting systems.

The agreement, which covers commercial and sustaining program performers, provides sustaining program fees of $19 for a 15 minute program; $23 for 30 minutes; $27.50 for one hour in New York, with rates proportionately lower in Chicago and on the west coast.

Rehearsal rates represent a 10 per cent increase if programs are held to a new minimum of rehearsal time, and a 30 per cent increase under the present practice. N. B. C. staff announcers in New York and Chicago gain a 10 per cent increase and other increases go to staff singers, stand-by group singers, and signature voices.

It was agreed that if by December, 1942, living costs increase 10 points, pay scales will be adjusted accordingly.

BARRETT GROUP TO CHECK HOTEL VOTING FRAUDS

George F. Barrett, Republican candidate for attorney general, announced yesterday that a special division of the Illinois Volunteer Committee to Stop Vote Frauds would investigate registrations from all hotels in the city. He referred to the Hamilton hotel at 18 South Dearborn street, from which William F. Galling, a Republican 1st ward worker, was ousted Friday after compelling hotel authorities to strike 25 false registrations from the canvassers' list.

A special canvass of hotel and lodging house registrations in four wards, including the 1st, was started yesterday on orders of Judge Jarecki. At the same time, Galling stated that the Chicago Business Men's 1940 Election committee also would investigate hotel registrations.

CLEAN BALLOT GROUPS TO AID SENATE INQUIRY

Prepare Evidence for Chicago Quiz.

Leaders of several organizations which are trying to keep down fraud in the Nov. 5 election yesterday started checking their files for evidence of illegal voting. They acted in response to the appointment in Washington of a senate subcommittee to investigate charges of vote buying, vote stealing, intimidation and coercion in Chicago.

The appointed group is part of the senate committee on campaign expenditures and was named by Senator Guy M. Gillette [D., Ia.], chairman. It includes Senators Lister Hill, [D., Ala.] and Clyde M. Reed [R., Kas.]. Hearings are expected to open here Thursday.

The subcommittee was named following complaints made to Senator Gillette by Robert L. Hunter, president, and Fred W. Blaisdell, executive director of the Better Government Association of Chicago.

George F. Barrett, Republican nominee for attorney general and chairman of the Illinois Volunteer Committee to Stop Vote Frauds, promised all possible assistance to the subcommittee.

Barrett, who has been vigorously attacking vote frauds, already has turned a list of cases over to County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki and has promised more if action is taken.

Business Group to Aid.

Recently Barrett reported on vote frauds before a house committee in Washington. His volunteer group has developed a school for poll workers to teach them methods of detecting fraudulent voting. Yesterday he explained how his schools work to 15 Republican county chairmen at a meeting in Indianapolis.

Henry Pope Jr., head of the Chicago Business Men's Election committee, a group investigating vote frauds in certain wards, promised coöperation with the senate committee. "We will do anything possible to assist the people in their right to vote and to have their votes correctly counted," Pope said.

Mrs. Harriet M. Robertson, president of the Women's Civic council, an an organization which has been active in vote fraud investigations, said: "We are getting our information ready for the committee."

The Joint Civic Committee on Elections, a newly formed group headed by Albert J. Meserow, is ready to present reports from workers showing instances of chain balloting, vote buying, and illegal casting of ballots by judges asked to assist illiterate voters.

Send 175,000 Suspect Notices.

Judge Jarecki said the records of the election board will be open to the committee.

At the same time John S. Rusch, chief clerk of the election board, said that 175,000 suspect notices were being mailed following a two day canvass of registered voters. Persons who receive such notices have 10 days in which to appear before the board and establish their right to vote.

THE CAMPAIGN
Both Sides of it

REPUBLICAN.

Why the People Fear One-Man Rule.

(Provided by the National Committee of Democrats-for-Willkie.)

Why do so many civic, educational, and religious leaders deeply fear a third term for President Roosevelt?

Why are these men strongly opposed to a third term even tho they approve of Mr. Roosevelt's humanitarian efforts, praise him for his lack of religious bigotry as evidenced in his appoiztments to office of men and women of every creed, and believe in his attempts to provide better educational opportunities for our youth?

The answer is clear:

They know that a third term is bound to lead toward dictatorship no matter how well intentioned Mr. Roosevelt may be, and that free education and freedom of worship are impossible under dictatorship whatever form it takes, whatever name it goes by.

They know that Washington, Jefferson, and Jackson and our other great Presidents were against a third term, because these great men would not trust themselves or any other man with the power that a third term would bring.

The Voters Will Decide.

From reports we are getting from all over the country the people, on Oct. 23 in a coast to coast observance of national NO THIRD TERM DAY, will tell Mr. Roosevelt what they think of his grab for power. And on still another national NO THIRD TERM DAY, Nov. 5, we are confident that they will settle the issue for all time.

The observance of the first national "NO THIRD TERM DAY" on Oct. 23 comes in response to the urging of more than 50 of the most outstanding civic leaders in America.

In a telegram to Mr. Willkie the petitioners pointed out:

"Mr. Roosevelt has been entrusted with greater powers than any peacetime President, and is seeking to increase those powers. His open and shameless attack on the Supreme court in 1937, his selfish elimination of all other Democratic candidates for the Presidential nomination this year, and his defiance of the hallowed tradition of our country against three terms for any President—all these are danger signals indicating plainly that under Mr. Roosevelt this nation is headed toward dictatorship in fact if not in name."

Mr. Willkie replied:

"In the last few weeks I have traveled from coast to coast. I have found that one of the issues which stirs millions of Americans is that of the proposed continuation in the Presidency of one man for more than eight years, in violation of a sacred tradition of our history.

"No matter how capable or well meaning he may be there is no indispensable man in a democracy. When we are confronted by threats to our freedom from abroad we cannot afford to risk a departure from our traditional system of free government at home."

DEMOCRATIC.

Who Moved Industry South?

(Provided by the Democratic National Committee)

After Wendell Willkie's invasion of New England, the ancient wheeze about President Roosevelt stirring up class prejudices, repeated so often with nothing to sustain it, wears pretty thin.

The Republican nominee was after votes, and he was not too careful in selecting his methods of pursuit. Apparently he figures that results count, no matter how you obtain them.

The removal of northern industries to the south and other sections of the country is a vexing issue in the New England textile and shoe manufacturing areas. Candidate Willkie decided to make capital of this fact.

In a speech at New Bedford, Mass., he said the New Deal policy is to divide and rule. "It has pitted class against class and section against section," he added.

In the same speech, after contrasting federal tax collections in New England and relief expenditures in other sections, Mr. Willkie said:

"And that is the reason why your factories here in New England are idle while new factories that compete with you are being built in Mississippi, Arkansas, and Alabama.

Willkie Claimed the Credit.

Now who helped build the new factories which, according to the Republican nominee, are draining the industrial lifeblood of New England and other northern sections?

Wendell Willkie, president of Commonwealth and Southern, a utility holding company, answered that question in a speech at Birmingham, Ala., on Nov. 7, 1934. Mr. Willkie did it himself. He was proud of the fact and he wanted to let his southern audience know how well he promoted their interests. He said:

"The Alabama Power company can remove industries from the north because it is a business concern, but the TVA cannot remove them besause it is a part of the government and, therefore, has to think of the political effect on the community from which the industry is removed. . . .

"I can tell you why we maintain an office in New York. It is solely for two reasons: First, to have a convenient and advantageous point from which we can work with the Alabama Power company and other companies to secure the removal of NORTHERN INDUSTRIES TO THIS AREA.

"How successfully we have done this, perhaps you can judge by the fact that in the past decade the new industries division of the Alabama Power company aided directly or indirectly in the location of 245 industries in 129 different communities in your state."

Consider those paragraphs carefully. First he said emphatically that the government could not be a party to the transfer of industries from the north to the south. But Wendell Willkie, as a power company president, could, and did.

Promoting National Unity.

With national unity the supreme issue of the hour, the ethics of a Presidential candidate trying to stir up sectional prejudice and jealousy may be open to question. The fact is that the Roosevelt administration has tried to halt the transfer of manufacturing plants to low wage areas by enactment of the wages and hours law, a measure which many Republicans in congress vigorously opposed. The Republicans were in power for 12 years and never sponsored such a law.

When he addressed the steel workers and stockyard workers of Illinois he found it worth while to tuck in a sneer at Harvard and Groton men. A bit of class prejudice might win a few votes.

TALENT IS VARIED IN CONGRESSMAN AT LARGE RACES

4 Contestants Range from Savant to Salesman.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

Diverse talent is offered to voters in the four candidates for the two posts of congressman at large on the state-wide ballot in the Nov. 5 election. A philosopher and an alderman on the Democratic side are ranged against an outstanding authority on the constitution and a young salesman on the Republican side.

The two Democrats are credited with a total of 20 years on various governmental pay rolls while the two Republicans have little pay roll experience. Both Democrats are in their early 50s whereas there is a difference of 32 years in the ages of the G. O. P. nominees. The Democrats were unopposed in the primary. Their opponents won out in a field of 14 men.

REPUBLICANS.

Stephen A. Day, a leading authority on the constitution, is a son of the late William R. Day, who was secretary of state in the McKinley cabinet and for 20 years was a justice of the United States Supreme court.

Consistency is a jewel, as Day sees it. He was an outspoken opponent of prohibition long before this was the popular course. He has been ever vigilant regarding the Supreme court and led an organization against the attempt to pack the court early in Roosevelt's second term.

Day comes from a distinguished line of American patriots, among them Gen. Joseph Warren, who fell at Bunker Hill; Zephaniah Swift, chief justice of Connecticut; Rufus Payne Spålding, national Republican chairman in 1856, and Chief Justice Luther Day of Ohio.

Day was secretary to Chief Justice Fuller of the United States Supreme court. This is his seventh try for congressman-at-large. Now 58 years old and a resident of Evanston, he opposes foreign entanglements, warning that "A vote for Roosevelt is a vote for war."

William G. Stratton, Day's team-mate, likewise is an outspoken foe of intervention in European and Asiatic wars. In recent speeches he has stated that this would be his position in congress regardless of whether a Democratic or a Republican President wanted military adventures.

Stratton is the son of the late William G. Strattton, former Illinois secretary of state, in whose campaigns the younger Stratton received early political experience. Born in Ingleside, Lake county, he graduated with a degree in political science from the University of Arizona at the age of 20. He served in the National Guard for two years.

Stratton is 26 years old. In 1934 he married Marion Hook of Gurnee. They have two children and live in Morris.

DEMOCRATS.

Thomas Vernor Smith, elected congressman-at-large in 1938, is the philosopher. Lean and tall, as befits a native of Texas, Smith preserves a sense of humor in politics which permits him to refer to himself as "an ignorant man and a politician."

"T. V." earned his doctorate in philosophy at the University of Chicago, where he has been on the staff since 1922. The late Gov. Horner, also from the Hyde Park district, backed him for the state senate in 1934 and he won. Despite the fact that he was critical of the governor on several occasions, Horner supported him for congress two years ago—as did the Nash-Kelly machine.

Smith has written half a dozen books on philosophy and the democratic system. In one of these, in 1926, he urged birth control, prohibition, cessation of war, and the abandonment of industrial autocracy to bring about an ideal democracy. However, in congress he voted for conscription.

Walter J. Orlikoski is the alderman, representing the 35th ward in the city council since 1931. Born in Chicago in 1886, he became a precinct captain at an early age and when 22 was chairman of his ward organization.

Orlikoski went into the real estate and coal businesses and also was an employé in the department of internal revenue. In 1929 he was appointed chief clerk in the county recorder's office, a job he kept until his first election as alderman.

This is his second state-wide race. In the 1938 primary he was the losing Kelly-Nash candidate for clerk of the Supreme court against the late Adam F. Bloch.

[Sketches of other candidates in the forthcoming election will appear in an early issue.

President Signs Two Big Defense Housing Bills

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14 (AP).—One bill authorizing a $150,000,000 defense housing program and another appropriating $75,000,000 to start it were signed today by President Roosevelt. The appropriation bill also authorizes the Federal Works agency to enter into contracts amounting to $75,000,000, over and above the direct appropriation. The program is designed to provide homes for workers near national defense industries and shipyards and also to provide quarters for married army and navy enlisted men.

G. O. P. CHARGES OF OFFICE WASTE DENIED BY KAINDL

Job Is Misrepresented, Says Recorder.

County Recorder Edward J. Kaindl replied yesterday to charges of A. W. Komarek, Republican candidate for the office, that his administration has been extravagant and that his office has been a haven for Democratic pay rollers.

Kaindl denied Komarek's accusation that the cost of recording real estate transfers has risen from $8.24 to $15.64 while he has been in office. Kaindl said Komarek's figures were based on a misconception of the functions of the office.

Kaindl Charges Omissions.

"The figure [$15.64] was arrived at by my Republican opponent by way of a most peculiar method of reasoning," Kaindl's statement said. "He took the total expenditures for the fiscal year of 1939 for both the offices of the recorder of deeds and registrar of titles and divided the amount of these expenditures by the 47,226 real estate transfers reported during the year.

"He either deliberately omitted from his caluculations [or does not know of] 246,074 other documents such as mortgages, trust deeds, contracts, leases, release deeds, assignments, and chattel mortgages filed during the year.

"Even if one unfamiliar with the office believed that recording documents was its only function and charged all its expenditures to that one function, he would find that the cost of recording each of the 293,300 documents filed in 1939 was approximately $2.50, not $15.64."

Staff Routine Described.

Kaindl then took up the pay roller charge.

"The Republican candidate attempted to give the impression that the number of employés in the office can be increased at the will of the recorder," he said. "Nothing is further from the truth.

"If and when the candidate is ever elected to any fee office in Cook county he will find that the constitution of this state provides that the number of deputies and assistants of such offices is determined by the Circuit court and their compensation is determined by the county board.

"When this number is determined by the court annually after an open and public hearing on the matter, it legally cannot and is not increased."

BAR COMMUNIST CANDIDATES IN 2 STATES IN SOUTH

Little Rock, Ark., Oct. 14 (AP).—The state Supreme court today barred the communist party from the general election ballot in Arkansas. In a unanimous decision upholding a Little Rock Circuit court ruling, the Supreme court said it found evidence of a substantial nature in the record tending to show that the party in Arkansas advocated enforcement of doctrines of the communist party of the United States relating to overthrow of established government.

Tennessee Board Acts.

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 14 (AP).—The state board of election supervisors barred the communist party from the Nov. 5 ballot in Tennessee today because, the board said, it is the aim and purpose of the communist party to overthrow the government of the United States by force or violence.

TELLS OF DEADLY GASES IN WATER DIVERSION PLEA

Professor Says Health Is Menaced in Joliet.

Hydrogen sulphide, one of the gases which emanates from the odorous Brandon pool at Joliet, is highly poisonous—three times as poisonous as carbon monoxide, Prof. Anton Carlson, University of Chicago physiologist, said yesterday.

Prof. Anton Carlson.

Prof. Carlson testified before Monte M. Lemann, a special master appointed by the United States Supreme court to take testimony on Illinois' petition that diversion of water from Lake Michigan into the Illinois waterway be increased from 1,500 to 5,000 cubic feet per second until the end of 1942.

Temporary Relief Sought.

Illinois asserts that the dumping of partially treated Chicago sewage into the waterway constitutes a health menace and that greater diversion of lake water is needed until the Sanitary district's sewage treatment facilities are expanded.

Prof. Carlson said the hydrogen sulphide, which he "observed" Sunday on an inspection of the Brandon pool, a backwater pond behind a dam, affects the membranes of the eyes, nose, and throat, and produces irritation, coughing, headaches, nausea, lack of appetite, and vomiting. Similar effects are produced by other "sewer gases" which emanate from the pool, he said.

"Hydrogen sulphide sometimes enters the blood and may produce instability of the nervous system, affect the circulation, or injure the liver and other internal organs," the psysiologist asserted.

Insists Danger Is Greater.

Lemann then asked Prof. Carlson: "Then there may have been an increase in the health menace since the pool was formed in 1934?"

"There is no 'may' about it," Prof. Carlson replied. "The menace has increased."

Prof. Carlson said the "presence of this highly infectious open sewer in the center of a city is a menace in itself. Amoebic dysentery, or typhoid fever, might be carried into the city at any time by flies, mosquitoes, or other insects. Even persons walking near the pool on windy days might contract disease from spray-borne germs."

PROBE ALLEGED SEIZURE OF TWO UNIONS BY REDS

An executive board meeting to be held within two weeks was planned yesterday by the International Ladies' Handbag, Pocketbook, and Novelty Workers' union to consider charges that the communist party was attempting to seize control of two Chicago locals. Nine officers and 25 executive board members of the locals were suspended last Saturday by Samuel Reinlib, the union's international president.

The locals are No. 3, the luggage workers, with 275 members, and local 75, the belt workers, with 175 members. Sam Laderman, secretary and treasurer of the international, and Joseph Jacobs, attorney for the Chicago Leather Workers' Joint board, said that the suspensions followed similar action a week ago against Louis Rooney, business agent of both locals. Meanwhile, the books of the locals were taken from headquarters at 417 South Dearborn street.

Jacobs said that Rooney had announced he was leading both locals out of the international and hereafter would run them himself, with the aid of their officers and board members. Reinlib appointed Laderman as temporary administrator of the two locals.

CAN'T SOFT SOAP HUBBY, SO WIFE BLOWS BUBBLES

Mrs. Mildred Lagerholm, 20 years old, upbraided her husband, Paul, 21, after he had taken 50 cents from her purse to buy a few drinks, she told Judge LeRoy Hackett in Fillmore street court yesterday. During the quarrel in their home, 3349 Lemoyne street, she stuck out her tongue and Paul warned her gravely not to do it again. But she did—twice.

Then, she said, Paul jammed a bar of soap down her throat, turned her over his knee and spanked her. Mildred told the judge that every time she tried to cry out she merely blew a soap bubble.

When Paul finally tired of the bubble game he left and Mildred locked him out. On returning he beat the door down. Judge Hackett put him under a $1,000 peace bond.

WHOLESALE PRESIDENT ROBBED.

THE answer to that question depends, of course, upon what engine you're talking about.

An 800-pound automobile engine developed about 30 horsepower in 1915. An engine of the same weight develops over 100 horsepower today.

And even among modern engines—the way they're built and who builds them makes a difference in their worth and value to the buyer and user.

It's somewhat the same with the markets that magazine circulations cover.

Some markets have more buying power than others—some put more buying power to work than others. Collier's market—No. 1 Sales Territory in the United States—represents top buying power in action. (If you'd like a measure of Collier's power by a sales manager's standards, read the panel at the right.)

This magazine is edited for people who like action.

It gets action for itself. Collier's, of all the multimillion weekly magazines published over a long period of years, is the only one at its all-time peak today both in circulation and advertising revenue.

It gets action for advertisers, as George A. Patton, vice-president and manager of agencies of the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, will tell you. Says Mr. Patton:

"It is our plan to make our advertising a means of creating continuous public good will towards the field representatives of this company. The agent is encouraged to select his best prospects from those to whom he has been introduced through his company's own advertising.

"We have found the readers of Collier's increasingly adaptable to this plan and have accordingly given Collier's the first preference in our advertising."

HOW'S THIS FOR THE NO. 1 SALES TERRITORY IN THE UNITED STATES?

Collier's today has 2,890,058 circulation. But it takes more than circulation to make a market. It takes people with active wants and the buying power to satisfy them.

By these standards Collier's has been ranked No. 1 in numerous competitive surveys—none of which were made by or for Collier's. We have enumerated these "firsts" repeatedly in this series.

For another quick 1-2-3 appraisal of Collier's market as the No. 1 Sales Territory, here is a sound, horse-sense sequence:

1 Because of Collier's up-to-the-minute design, its timely reporting, its vital editing, its color and its courage, the magazine appeals to active people with active wants and active pocketbooks.

2 Because it's their kind of magazine, millions of that type of people read it avidly each week and swear by it—the kind of people anyone with goods to sell wants as customers.

3 Because these millions do read it thoroughly, responsively, Collier's pays an exceptionally high return on the advertising dollar.

So important that they bear constant repetition are the following facts:

You cannot reach more than 29.7 per cent of Collier's market with any combination of the other weekly magazines.

You are days closer to Collier's great market than any other multimillion weekly is to its market because of Collier's new, fast, copy closing dates.

ARE THEY JUST ALIKE?

Many people are saying that they are having a hard time choosing between Mr. Willkie and Mr. Roosevelt because the policies of the two men are identical.

That is a superficial judgment, which would be rejected by any sensible person after five minutes spent in examining the evidence.

It is true that Mr. Willkie favors aid to Britain and conscription. It is true, also, that he favors unemployment relief, farm relief, social security, etc., etc. But to conclude from these points of similarity that there are no points of difference is as absurd as to conclude from the fact that Michigan Central trains run out of Chicago on the tracks of the Illinois Central that the trains of these two railroads go to the same places.

Any one who will take the trouble to look at the time tables can very readily distinguish the Michigan Central from the Illinois Central; and any one who will take the trouble to look at the speeches and records of Roosevelt and Willkie can find their differences.

Confronted by an economic problem, Mr. Roosevelt's instinct leads him to a collectivist solution. The pattern of his thinking is clearly revealed in AAA, NRA, TVA, and many of his other improvisations. Confronted by the same set of circumstances, Mr. Willkie's instinct leads him to a solution which will preserve free enterprise. Voters who believe that in socialism lies the cure for all our economic difficulties will properly vote for Mr. Roosevelt. The others will vote for Mr. Willkie.

There is one aspect of Mr. Roosevelt's collectivism which deserves especial emphasis. It is his belief in government spending as an economic panacea. He has no scruples about straining or exhausting the national credit. These debts, he says, are of no consequence because we owe them to ourselves. Any one who believes in unlimited spending ought to vote for Mr. Roosevelt. Any one with the wit to see that this doctrine must lead to inflation or repudiation if allowed to continue will vote for Mr. Willkie. He regards borrowing-to-spend as a measure which sometimes cannot be avoided, but he does not regard it as a desirable end in itself, will employ it only reluctantly, and will stop it as quickly as he can.

Regarding foreign policy the differences are equally striking. Mr. Willkie says he will not send an American boy to fight on foreign soil and there is no reason to doubt that he means it. Mr. Roosevelt says he is of the same mind but there is every reason to believe that he doesn't mean it. If he meant it, he would not conduct the foreign affairs of this country in so belligerent a fashion. He would not so lightly threaten those he says he has no intention of fighting. Citizens who want their President to avoid war if it is possible to do so will vote for Mr. Willkie. Those who are willing that this country shall get into a war which could have been avoided will vote for Mr. Roosevelt.

WARS "ON ORDER."

In Washington, last week, it was said that for some reason or other the Asiatic crisis had suddenly been relieved. No one knew just why. The heat had been on the day before. American citizens had been urged to rush home from China and Japan, Indo-China, the Dutch East Indies, and all French and British eastern possessions on ships which couldn't be provided for them. American consuls had the storm warnings up; the citizens were down at the dock looking for transports. War with Japan seemed to be but a matter of minutes.

Lord Lothian couldn't go back home as he had intended because of the crisis. Our naval reserves were being hurried to the Pacific coast, and the navy was assembling an auxiliary fleet of transports and hospital and supply ships, and was clearing for action. Mr. Roosevelt was closeted with his admirals and everybody felt the imminence of a terrific event. Then everything eased off and nobody said why. The Burma road is still to be opened and the embargo on scrap is to be imposed. Notice has been given of both intentions and the date has been fixed. There has been no change of decision. The prospect apparently now is what it was earlier.

Presumably, our government would like to have it understood that when it and the British government showed Japan that they couldn't be pushed around the Japanese changed their tone and became amenable to reason. The Japanese merely said that they weren't ordering any of their citizens out of the United States, because they didn't see any reason for it and they didn't know any reason why Americans in Japan should be hurried home. They seem to be proceeding now as they have in the past and, no doubt, there are danger spots enough to cause a crisis in time.

The American marines in China may get into a real fight, and if they do Mr. Roosevelt can have the war of which he is talking. If what happened to the French at Haiphong should happen to American troops in Japanese occupied China, Americans probably would be in a mood for anything Mr. Roosevelt wanted to do. His wars are on order; his war scares are on hand.

THE FEATHERED NEST.

Flip-flops are not strange antics in politics. Men to whom self-interest is a public duty will change with circumstances as a matter of survival. Politics isn't an amateur game; it is a profession. Men like Senator Robert La Follette of Wisconsin and Senator George Norris of Nebraska can be one year against the third term as a danger to free American institutions and another year for it as the salvation of these institutions. In both attitudes they would profess that they are honorable, intelligent, and patriotic men.

Altho flip-flops are common enough in politics, the Illinois New Deal Democrats must occasionally think that circumstances have required more acrobatics of them than is customary in most political circuses. It has been almost impossible for many of them to peer into the future for as much as two or three months and perceive where self-interest might lie. Gov. Stelle, as lieutenant governor, was the primary opponent of Mr. Hershey for the nomination for governor, which Mr. Hershey won. Mr. Stelle is now governor, but all he can get out of this election must come to him thru the election of Mr. Hershey.

Politicians have not found a way to bury an opponent in defeat by saying only kind things about him and his followers. When they do discover this new weapon they will be happier people. Mr. Stelle didn't find it. In fact, Illinois New Dealers have been less successful in this than any others in the country. Now Gov. Stelle needs Candidate Hershey and Candidate Hershey could do with a bit of friendship from Gov. Stelle. They will link arms and go the rest of the road as comrades, ignoring any gibes as being unworthy of attention.

It is to be assumed that if Gov. Stelle plays ball with Candidate Hershey and Candidate Hershey becomes Gov. Hershey, of which there is some doubt, the present governor will receive from the future governor some consideration, which may take the form of the commerce commission, or the public works department, or the finance department. This would carry Mr. Stelle over another four years as a practical politician plying his trade.

These little things explain a great deal.

THE WITHHELD WILLKIE FILM.

S. F. Pryor Jr., eastern Republican campaign manager, charges that R-K-O for political reasons is withholding a film scheduled for early release. The picture is a movie short of "Information Please," well known to radio audiences. Mr. Willkie was one of the experts in this particular stumping the experts session. He appears well on such occasions when a person performs without rehearsal and without a ghost.

Mr. Pryor says that a former release of this type with Mr. Willkie in it had proved popular thruout the country, and that the distributors were anxious to get another. He attributes the change in schedule which will delay the second release until after the election to the suggestions of Mr. Flynn, the New Deal national chairman. That might be. It might also be that the producers found the suggestion unspoken in the threat the federal government holds over their business.

R-K-O denies that any pressure was used to hold up the picture or that there was any change in program. Anything but a denial could hardly be expected. The movie business regards itself in constant danger of federal action against it for monopolistic practices. It does not know when the department of justice may move in on it, and naturally it plays close to the governmental side.

Some New Dealer may have said that the Willkie picture would be unacceptable before election but harmless after Nov. 5. Or the producers may have come to their own conclusion, based on an accurate understanding of the authorities who might make or break them; that a picture presenting the Republican candidate in an interesting and attractive manner wouldn't do them any good unless that candidate were elected. In either way it comes to the same thing. The New Deal has its hands on several sources of public information, and when occasion requires they are bold hands. The intimation "or else" has become familiar to the enterprises involved.

PENNSYLVANIA'S ELECTION.

[Pittsburgh Post-Gazette.]

Four years ago, when President Roosevelt carried Pennsylvania by a plurality of 663,488, the vote for Gov. Landon was 1,690,300. Few will dispute that this was a rock-bound Republican vote, or that it represented the minimum Republican strength in the state.

Two years ago, when Gov. James was elected with a plurality of 279,148, the vote for Charles Alvin Jones, his opponent, was 1,756,192, and that for Gov. Earle, candidate for United States senator, was 1,694,367. Since the Democratic party at that time was in control of the state administration—an advantage the Republicans did not have in 1936—there is some ground for doubt that this was a rock-bound Democratic vote. But conceding that it was, the conclusion must be that each party has a basic reserve of approximately 1,700,000 votes in Pennsylvania.

Under that assumption, there are from 600,000 to 1,000,000 independent votes in this state — possibly more when the results of the recent registration drive are in—and these votes will decide the result of the 1940 election. They shifted to Roosevelt in 1936 and to James in 1938. Where will they go in '40?

We believe a large majority of this independent vote will go to Mr. Willkie, because it is an independent vote. We believe it will be cast for the candidate who looks forward optimistically to an ever brighter future for this country rather than for one who seems to see no hope but in continued doles and government-made work. We believe it will go toward the preservation of the American tradition against unlimited tenure in the office of President, rather than for violation of the two term precedent never broken by any chief executive since the nation was founded. We believe it will be cast against the principle of the indispensable man and for the principle that in this republic there are many men fully capable of leading us, as there have been in the past. We believe that this vote cannot be coerced—for the peak of coercion came in 1938 and failed—and that it cannot be bought with doles and other forms of paternal benevolence at Washington.

BITS OF POLITICAL PATTER.

The Republican party became the Grand Old Party about two decades after the civil war. The term was a spontaneous creation by many Republican campaign orators, who were fond of dwelling upon the fact that the party had saved the Union in the civil war period. Thus far no researcher has been able to put the finger on the man who said it first.

The campaign of 1880, which elected James A. Garfield to the Presidency against Winfield S. Hancock, was the time when the expression rent the air at political meetings with such frequency that it became the party's permanent label. It is likely that "Grand Old Man," the term for William Ewart Gladstone, British statesman, then current, had some influence in molding the phrase.

The Republicans adopted the label in pride and affection; the Democrats soon learned how to echo it with a sneer. Its condensation into G. O. P., started by cartoonists, represents one of the early steps that the American language took in its descent into the bottomless pit of the initials habit.

Here are some other famous "olds" in political patter:

Old Abe—Abraham Lincoln's nickname among the people from whom he sprang.

Old Bullion—Senator Thomas H. Benton of Missouri [1782-1858] was so called because of his opposition to paper money and steadfast support of gold and silver coinage.

Old Man Eloquent—A sobriquet bestowed upon John Quincy Adams during his long advocacy of personal liberty in the house of representatives.

Old Public Functionary—A nickname given to James Buchanan because of his long career in public office. In his Presidential message of 1857 he applied the term to himself. Here is another early case of the initials habit; he was often spoken of as O. P. F.

Old White Hat—Horace Greeley, editor and politician, was given this nickname in the campaign of 1872 because of his eccentric taste in headgear. In that year he ran for President on two tickets, Liberal Republican and Democratic, and was defeated by Grant.

Columbus as a Writer.

Oct. 12 is designated on the calendar as Columbus day yet of the many writings attributed to the discoverer of the Americas few if any are used in our school system. For example, when he was being taken back to Spain in irons and Don Francisco de Bobadill offered to remove the shackles, he wrote:

"No; the truth must be apparent, and my patrons are too noble, too generous to overlook me. Then, if fortune again smiles upon me, these will serve as affecting memorials of sorrow past; I will not part with them, and I even wish that, when I am no more, they may be suspended over my sepulchre."

Again when he set foot on Spain he poetized:

"Are these the wreaths of triumph you bestow
On those who bring you conquest home and honor?"

On his four voyages to the new world Christopher Columbus liked to record humorous incidents such as the following:

"On this day I was presented with a peccary and one of those monkeys with prehensile tails, indigenous to this country, the Indians call Guanahani. The peccary being thrown in the way of the monkey, the latter, by dexterous use of its tail, confined the jaws of the wild pig in such a manner as to expose it helplessly to the action of the monkey's claws. This appeared to me so strange that I thought fit to write it down for the information of your majesties."

Thus Columbus became a sort of gag writer for their majesties, Ferdinand and Isabella.

I am taking a terrible revenge on all the editors who have returned manuscript to me with printed rejection slips. I have had printed a thousand rejection slips of my own which I am mailing to every editor who writes to beg me to submit the manuscript of a book, a poem, or even a short story. The slip reads:

I regret that I must decline your urgent request that I submit to you a manuscript for publication. This rejection does not imply any lack of merit in your house; it merely means that you do not come quite up to my requirements as the publisher of my writings. I have no doubt you will easily find writers who will assist in filling your space. The Author.

Maybe you think that isn't panicking the editors! Wait till I send you some of the replies I get.

The Persian poet Hafiz seems to have called the turn way back in the 14th century. Witness the opening lines to Ode 223 in his "Divan":

What ails the times? Is friendship then no more?
What has become of the old kindly days?
The world seemed once so safe and warm with friends—
New men, new ways.
And living went with gust; existence wore
Brave feathers, and the jocund planet whirled
Gaily in heaven: now somewhat sadly ends
That ancient world.

COD LIVER OIL FOR BURNS.

BURNS and scalds are common household accidents — while in industry their number is legion. Since the advent of the tannic acid treatment thousands of victims have been spared unsightly scars and contractures and many lives have been saved.

Another plan that has proved of great value is the use of cod liver oil —which was first suggested six or seven years ago by William Lohr. The procedure which he advocated is so simple that it may well be tried in any home. In fact, some modifications of this régime have been employed by physicians with spectacular success. Should objection be filed against the fishy odor, a small amount of tincture of myrrh may be added to the mixture, which consists of 40 per cent crude vaseline and 60 per cent cod liver oil.

Curiously enough, this pasty material has been found to be distasteful to bacteria and staphylococci don't like it at all. They are unable to grow in its presence and finally give up the attempt. While Lohr preferred the crude cold pressed product from the livers of cod, a more refined form will be nearly as effective.

The substance is used as follows: No attempt is made to clean the wound, altho bits of clothing—if adherent—may be removed gently. The dressing is then applied generously and covered with sheet wadding or gauze, over which crêpe paper—similar to that sold for paper towels—is wrapped. In order to avoid pain, the ointment may be spread on a bandage, which may then encircle the injured parts.

Because of the oily nature of the preparation, no pain is felt incident to a change of dressings. A fresh application is made daily for three or four days and then once a week thereafter. Apparently the excessive proportion of vitamin D thus supplied stimulates healing. In many cases the necessity for skin grafting is avoided entirely or reduced to a minimum.

Along with this local measure, the sufferer is urged to take huge volumes of fluid as an aid to the elimination of toxins. If shock appears, with signs of collapse, glucose solution is administered directly into a vein. After the initial stage has passed—within two or three days—an ample diet is provided.

A short while ago I observed three patients who were treated in this manner. None required morphine or other narcotic for relief. One, a painter, had been burned severely while polishing a hardwood floor. The lower half of each thigh and both legs were involved. Within 30 minutes following his arrival at the hospital cod liver oil had been applied and intravenous fluid started. The temperature did not go above 99.4 degrees at any time. There was practically no distress and the lesions mended rapidly. The dressings were renewed on the second day and then once a week. Repair was complete by the end of a month.

Altho tannic acid still holds a high place in the treatment of these mishaps, there is every reason to believe that the program outlined is equally satisfactory. It may be simpler to keep the cod liver oil on hand for emergencies rather than be forced to lose time in making up a 5 per cent solution of the acid.

Of course, the best way to manage burns is not to have them. Every mother can be extra cautious in this respect. Boiling water is just as dangerous as fire—particularly when there are youngsters about. Kerosene and gasoline should be handled with the same respect which most of us yield to dynamite. Housecleaning performed with gasoline is about as hazardous as one can imagine.

THE HEART RATE.

J. K. writes: Is it possible for certain types of food to hasten the heart action?

REPLY.

Coffee and tea contain caffein, which is a circulatory and cerebral stimulant. Theobromine, which is found in chocolate, is another drug of the same type. Alcohol [which some regard as a food] dilates the capillaries in the skin. This is responsible for a substantial loss of body heat. Excitement due to this latter drug may be accompanied by a more rapid rhythm.

THROAT INFECTION.

U. N. writes: Would removal of the tonsils help to prevent recurrences of a "strep" throat?

REPLY.

Yes. The operation, however, should not be undertaken until all signs of acute inflammation have subsided.

STEPPING INTO WAR.

Chicago, Oct. 12.—When I hear the statement, "the British navy is our first line of defense in the Atlantic," I become nauseated. Are we such a nation of cowards and spineless jelly fish that we cannot stand on our own feet? What regard would we have for our ancestors if they had ever taken such an attitude?

The present administration's drift toward war should be sufficient evidence that some one else is NOT fighting our war but that we are expected to fight SOME ONE ELSE'S war. The evidence:

1. Oct. 8—Prime Minister Churchill of England gives notice that the Burma road will be reopened.
2. Oct. 8—American citizens are instructed to leave the orient.
3. Oct. 8—British ambassador confers with President Roosevelt.
4. Oct. 8—Japanese ambassador confers with Secretary of State Hull.
5. Oct. 8—President Roosevelt confers with admirals.
6. Oct. 8 — Undersecretary of State Welles confers with the soviet ambassador.
7. Oct. 8—Cutting of the Pacific mail route thru Japan to the dictator nations.
8. Our fleet is in the Pacific for a reason.

The result:

An unnecessary war is probable.

The war would cost hundreds of billions of dollars.

What would we gain? It would take us centuries to recuperate.

The nation would become bankrupt.

America would cease to be the Land of Liberty.

We are 95 per cent selfcontained—we would be sacrificing everything for a 5 per cent foreign trade.

What we need in America—more than anything else—is a new Declaration of Independence!

TIMING OF A CRISIS.

St. Joseph, Mich., Oct. 12.—"Mr. Roosevelt Arranges a Crisis!" Do you think the American public is so lacking in intelligence that it will swallow this line of slander? If you could be fair for one moment, wouldn't you admit that you are giving Mr. Roosevelt credit for being more of a genius than he is? You pervert all news items, attempting to show that Roosevelt started the European war and is now extending the scope of the Asiatic conflict for the sole purpose of getting votes in the coming election. That's spreading it too thick; no man can be that clever.

MR. ROSENWALD'S EXAMPLE.

Chicago, Oct. 10.—It was gratifying to read in The Tribune this morning the announcement by Lessing Rosenwald of his preference for Mr. Willkie for President. His main reason, he states, is objection to the third term, the perpetuation of an individual as head of the government.

Mr. Rosenwald's sound judgment should be an inspiration to all people whose race has suffered persecution at the hands of dictators. He says that affairs abroad have demonstrated what can happen by perpetuating one man in office, and what has happened abroad can happen here.

From the racial standpoint, I have heard it argued recently that Mr. Roosevelt has been kind and generous and solicitous of the welfare of certain classes of immigrants. He has done no more than any other public spirited person would do under similar circumstances. Congress has made it possible for aliens to come here from persecuted areas, and it has been the average American citizen who has looked kindly upon those unfortunates; and when I say average citizen, I include every one without regard to race, color, or creed, or financial standing.

Under a dictatorship, all classes are persecuted. The powers obtained by the present President have been retained while he has sought more power. If this is to continue for another four years he would surpass in power any of the foreign dictators, resulting in complete subjugation of all classes and creeds, with wealth conscripted, not only from the rich, but poor alike, so that eventually he would have a mortgage on every home in America, and every soul who inhabited the homes.

I am hopeful that Mr. Rosenwald's inspiration will bring a ray of light to my people, most of whom I am sure have been misinformed concerning Mr. Roosevelt's generous attitude, for I have found greater understanding and satisfaction in these trying times among those average American citizens who wear the insignia of Mr. Willkie.

"SICKENED" BY EDITORIAL.

Walworth, Wis., Oct. 12.—It is sickening to read your editorial, "Ethics of Roosevelt and Wallace." It comes with pretty bad grace from The Tribune to tell us "the convention didn't want Wallace." Did the Republican convention want Willkie? No, it did not want to nominate a man unknown to 99 per cent of the delegates, or to the people they represented. Neither did The Tribune want him, when, a few days prior to the convention, you charged editorially that "the movement to nominate Willkie was an attempt to sabotage the Republican party." What brought about Willkie's nomination?

Chicago, Oct. 10.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My brother was ill for a period of two years in a hospital, during which time he was attended by a doctor. I have paid the hospital bill in full, but only $500 on the doctor's bill; leaving a bill of $2,000 to be paid to the doctor. If I cannot pay this bill [1] can this doctor sue me, or my mother whom I support and [2] will he be able to garnishee my wages? My brother is now dead.

In case suit is brought against me [3] how can I show that this bill is entirely too high?

H. M.

1. Depends on the agreement, expressed or implied, under which he rendered the services.
2. The garnishment exemption to the head of a family is $20 per week.
3. In general, the burden of proof rests on the plaintiff to prove the reasonableness of his claim. If he presents testimony along that line your chances of contesting it will be improved if you can present the testimony of another doctor supporting your view. If suit is brought we advise you to employ an attorney.

DEFENSE INSPECTION

UTILITIES SLUSH FUND INQUIRY IS TO BE RECESSED

Rogge Denies Pressure from Politicians.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 14.—Washington and Tammany Hall politicians were reported for a second time tonight to be concerned over progress in a public utility investigation here.

The reports were revived by an announcement that the federal grand jury, in session since Aug. 17, will recess on Wednesday until Oct. 27, a week before the Nov. 5 election. There was speculation that this week might be too short to wind up the inquiry and return any indictments before that date.

There have been rumors that Democratic chiefs in Tammany Hall and in Washington have sent word here suggesting that O. John Rogge, chief of the criminal division of the attorney general's office and head of a staff of Washington prosecutors on the case, might be satisfied with his reputation for industry and integrity won in cleaning up the Huey Long gang in Louisiana. Besides, all he would have to do to protect the Democratic party from any embarrassment from the Springfield grand jury would be to delay the report until after Nov. 5, it was argued in these reports.

Rogge Due in Washington.

The explanation that went with the announcement of the recess is a logical one. Rogge is due to argue a case before the United States Supreme court at Washington on Oct. 24.

"I never have been stopped in any investigation," Rogge replied to a reporter's question about these rumors. "I should consider it necessary to resign before yielding to any such request."

There have been Democratic hopes that there might be some political advantage to be gained for President Roosevelt, third term candidate, were public utilities to be named in a true bill, altho Wendell L. Willkie never had any connection with the companies under inquiry.

Any such early hopes, however, have turned to worries. In trying to trace alleged slush funds for certain subsidiaries of the billion dollar North American Holding company, investigators are said to have discovered that there were more Democrats than Republicans in offices where campaign donations or attorneys' fees might influence utility rates or regulations.

Cabinet Aid Involved.

It also has been learned that an assistant cabinet member has a business connection with the holding company under inquiry.

A week or so ago it was learned that United States Senator James Slattery's strong box was of interest in the federal building. A prosecutor asked THE TRIBUNE for a copy of a 1939 issue that carried a Washington, D. C., interview with the senator giving his version of a deal by his daughter in Commonwealth Edison stock with $25,000 cash from his safety deposit box.

Further indications of Washington interest in Springfield affairs were seen in a flurry of activity by so-called undercover G-men. Springfield has become accustomed to their presence about town, since singly and in crews they came and went for months following the statehouse scandals generated by the unexplained death last March of F. Lynden Smith, director of public works and former campaign manager for the Illinois Democratic machine. It was common gossip that some of the investigators were assigned to investigate other investigators, and for a while a politician hesitated to buy a stranger a drink at the bar.

Reporter Under Scrutiny.

The latest of these G-men activities was to intimidate a hotel manager into surrendering a list of telephone calls made from this Tribune reporter's room over a period of six weeks. They were agents of the federal bureau of investigation. One of them sought, unsuccessfully, to read telegrams exchanged between the reporter and THE TRIBUNE.

Federal Judge Charles G. Briggle this afternoon said he had no knowledge of any inquiry in which the government thus might be searching for information. Rogge also said he was ignorant of the purpose of such a search. United States Attorney Howard Doyle said it was "fantastic." Paul J. Cotter, head of the group of prosecutors here for the Securities and Exchange commission, said he couldn't explain it. All said the grand jury wasn't a party to this attempt to snoop into private communications.

So your correspondent visited J. E. Thornton, agent in charge of the Springfield office of the F. B. I. He said he couldn't talk. Obviously he was not acting on orders from the federal building here. He takes orders from Washington.

Damages of $10,000 were asked yesterday in a false arrest suit naming as defendants United States Marshal William H. McDonnell and two of his deputies, State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney, Police Commissioner Allman, and six Chicago policemen.

The suit was filed in Superior court by Attorney Charles Liebman for Roy McDowell, 4662 Winthrop avenue. McDowell charges he was arrested falsely by authorities seeking a brother, alleged to be a parole violator, in connection with a federal sentence for violation of the Dyer stolen automobile act.

McDowell was held 10 days, he charges, at Town Hall and Brighton Park police stations; was subjected to showups, and to other indignities. He eventually was released.

RELIEF IS HELL! GIVE ME WORK, A FATHER CRIES

Feel Independent with Job, His Wife Echoes.

Have reliefers lost hope? What do they really want? What will they vote for? More relief? A chance to help themselves? Jobs? What?

BY MARCIA WINN.

The gay, sociable housewife with the wide, smiling mouth and waving taffy hair whose house is tumbling down in 48th place, just east of Halsted street and the stockyards, knows all about relief. And dreads it.

She has experienced it four times since 1931, once for a stretch of three years. It isn't that relief is so hard to get along on. She doesn't think so. It is what it does to her husband, a husky 235 pounder who belies his great bulk by the tender caress in his voice as he says to one of their five blond boys. "Now, honey, you go 'long."

He Likes to Work.

Her husband worries her, for he is the kind of man, an ex-coal miner, who "just goes crazy sittin' still." He likes to work, and he likes to feel independent, as she does. There are other problems, too.

The housing situation is one.

For the last two years the family of seven, its boys ranging in age from 7 to 15, has lived in a four room flat. The living room is homelike. Green plants grow beside the window; two "Jesus Never Fails" plaques are on the wall. The room is almost bright. If you sit there long, however, in the chairs whose springs jump up to embrace you, you have to pull up your feet and sit on them, for the floor is dank and wet.

Water from the kitchen sink stands two feet deep under that floor, and has for two years. Not once in that time has the family been able to use the bathroom tub or wash basin. They are plugged up. The foundations have slipped until the floor lurches at an angle. In the rear rooms the plaster has fallen away in great patches.

Rent Raised to $20.

"And the rats!" she says. "They play hide and seek right before your eyes."

For this home they pay $15 a month. Last week the landlady raised the rent to $20.

"When you're on relief," she says simply and without undue grievance, "you can't get a house that's fit to live in.

"Now that our rent is raised, I don't know what we'll do. Relief won't pay it. People are scared to death of you when you say you're on relief, yet you've got an easier way to pay rent than when your man's aworkin'. Of course, you feel more independent when a man's aworkin', but you never know how long it'll last."

On she talks. She and her husband are from Danville, of old sturdy American stock. They came to Chicago in 1929, but her voice still rings with the softness of southern Illinois and the coloquialisms of her childhood.

Got Job in Day in 1929.

"We come up here in July of that year," she continues. "It was on Sunday, and on Monday Bill had a job. He had good luck then. Just labor jobs, but he was makin' $30 a week.

"He had steady work until 1931. Then he was out of work for three years, off and on, during the worst of the depression. In 1935 he went to work in a press shippin' room at $18 a week. After that he was at the stockyards workin' in the cooler, liftin' hogs and things.

"One day he fell, about a year ago, and hurt himself, and so then they let him go. Now, he can't get work nowhere, it seems. We'd sure be back in Danville now," she says soberly, "if there was any work there. You've got advantages here, but it's sure hard to get along.

Feels Different with Job.

"Now, my husband is one of these guys that just worries himself crazy about gettin' a job. He was a coal miner when I married him, and those guys won't stop at anything. Some guys wouldn't take a job if you handed it to them. . . .

"But he's a big guy and a strong guy, and he LIKES to work. Oh, relief's all right. We limp along on it, but what this family needs is a job. At $20 a week, I'd rather have him work, for I tell you, you feel independent.

"Then, too," wistfully, "if a man's aworkin' you look for him to come home at night and supper's on the table, and you can really go in anywhere and buy something without being afraid somebody will holler at you.

Husband Echoes Her.

"I even had to drop our insurance. That worries me sick.

"Hey, Bill," she called, as her husband, a husky man with a shining, cleancut face, entered. "Wouldn't you rather work than be on relief?"

"I hope to tell you!" he cried.

"There's so many thing that have to be done and bills to be paid," he added thoughtfully. "They've about got me crazy."

"I'm just hangin' on to that old washin' machine and oil burner tryin' to hold them, payin' $1 a month," his wife put in.

"Had to sell my car for $10 to pay a loan," he said gloomily.

Could Go Home for Meal.

"That's what happens when you lose work," she added. "Could've cried my eyes out when they took that old car. Was worth $100 to us. We could always pile the kids in and go home and eat free for a week-end on the folks."

"I've lost everything," the man said.

"Furniture's under a loan, too," she added.

"I'm so sick of sittin' around here at home," he cried suddenly, rising to his feet. "For a man who's used to his own money and runnin' his own life, relief is hell, and the only cure for it's a job."

Accuses Ex-Fiancee

MRS. OGDEN WRIGHT.

Frank D. Huser, an insurance salesman, was identified yesterday by Mrs. Ogden Wright as the man who shot and wounded her in her home May 15 when she refused to marry him. Huser is on trial on a charge of assault with intent to kill before a jury in the Criminal court of Judge Julius H. Miner.

Mrs. Wright, the former Miss Shirley Melgard, daughter of Al Melgard, Chicago Stadium organist, testified she had kept company with Huser for two years. She said he gave her an engagement ring, which she returned later.

She said Huser telephoned her on the night of the shooting, and she told him she was going to marry Wright. Huser awakened her later in her bedroom, she said, and fired a shot which struck her nose. She said a street light shining into her room enabled her to recognize him. After her recovery she married Wright and now lives in Washington, D. C. Huser, who is 42 years old, lives at 6613 Normal boulevard.

STRIKE DECEASED UNIONISTS' NAMES OFF INDICTMENT

At the request of Leo F. Tierney, special assistant United States attorney general, Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan yesterday dismissed the names of Michael Carrozzo and Vito Miroballi, both deceased, from the indictment in which they and seven other labor union leaders were accused of conspiring to prevent the use of ready mixed concrete on Chicago construction jobs. Carrozzo was president of the International Hod Carriers' Building and Common Laborers' District council, and Miroballi was president of local 1006 of the Hod Carriers' union. A date for the trial of the remaining defendants has not yet been set.

STEAL RACE DRIVER'S TOOLS.

Tools Jimmy Snyder used to repair racing cars before he was killed in a midget auto race at Cahokia, in St. Clair county, in June, 1939, were stolen from a garage at 223 West 63d street, Englewood police were notified yesterday. The tools were valued at $1,600, and bore the noted race driver's initials.

JOSEPH H. BALL NAMED SENATOR FOR MINNESOTA

Newspaperman Will Fill Lundeen Vacancy.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 14 (AP).—Joseph H. Ball, 34 years old, political reporter for the St. Paul Dispatch and Pioneer Press, morning and evening newspapers, was appointed today by Gov. Harold E. Stassen to the United States senate to succeed the late Senator Ernest Lundeen.

Ball is a Republican, as is the governor. Senator Lundeen was a Farmer-Laborite and the Republicans thus gain another seat in the upper house. Minnesota's other senator, Henrik Shipstead, is a Republican. Lundeen was killed in an air crash near Washington Aug. 31.

The youthfull Ball, a tall lean man with heavy black hair, father of three children and a reporter since 1927, has long been an intimate friend of the governor. He has been reporting politics since 1934.

Calls Him Well Fitted.

The governor said he thought that Ball's "experience as a newspaperman, studying both sides of problems, watching closely the actions of all political parties, his faculty for hard work and careful study of governmental problems and independence of judgment" especially fitted him for the job.

Definitely eliminating himself as a senatorial possibility in 1942, when Ball's appointment expires, the governor said he hoped the state would return Ball to office then.

Ball was born in Crookston, Minn., Nov. 3, 1905, worked summers on a farm while in high school and earned money for his first year at Antioch college, Yellow Springs, O., by raising seed corn. He later attended the University of Minnesota.

Started in Minneapolis.

He began newspaper work on the Minneapolis Journal, now the Star-Journal, in 1928 free-lanced for a year writing fiction, and in 1929 went to the St. Paul newspapers. In 1928 he married Elizabeth Robbins of Minneapolis. They have two girls and a boy.

Ball said that in the senate he would favor "all aid possible to Britain without crippling our own defenses" and that he thought the army and navy the "best judges of how much and what sort of aid we can extend with safety."

Ball will be the youngest member of the senate at 34. His closest rival will be 35 year old Senator Rash Holt [D., W. Va.], who was elected to the senate before he was 30 and could not take office until June, 1935.

Upon Holt's retirement—he was defeated for renomination—Senator D. Worth Clark [D., Idaho] will be second youngest member. He was 38 on April 2.

Air Ambulance Battalion Being Formed in U.S. Army

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14 (AP).—An air ambulance battalion is being formed to transport wounded soldiers rapidly from the battlefield to general hospitals far behind the lines, war department officials said today. Men in critical need of hospitalization can be rushed from the field in a few hours in aerial ambulances, they said. The new battalion will be superimposed on a transport group of the army air corps, making use of transport planes, which in a few minutes can be converted into ambulances accommodating as many as 20 patients.

Husband on Trial

Mrs. Edmund Iwanski with her husband yesterday as he went on trial charged with bombing a milk depot.

Edmund Iwanski, a member of the Milk Wagon Drivers union, went on trial before a jury in the Criminal court of Judge John A. Sbarbaro yesterday, charged with bombing a milk depot at 5716 Elston avenue during the milk strike last July. The case was continued to today after a jury had been selected.

Iwanski, who is 35 years old, was shot and captured by police as he fled from the milk depot. Dynamite bombs were found in his home at 5362 North Nottingham avenue.

Police said he confessed six bombings, but Iwanski entered a plea of not guilty. William Crawford, assistant state's attorney, is prosecuting the case.

BARTENDER UNION RECEIVER NAMES 3 BUSINESS AIDS

Roy D. Keehn, receiver for the Bartenders' and Beverage Dispensers' union, local 278, and his assistant, James U. Sammis, yesterday appointed three new business agents for the union. Keehn was placed in charge of the union and its treasury Aug. 16 by Judge Robert Jerome Dunne on the plea of George B. McLane, business representative of the organization, that the Nitti gang had taken control.

The new union business agents are Joseph Slemp, who was given the west side district; Gerald Forney, a former University of Iowa football tackle, who was assigned to the loop, and August Feindt, whose territory will be from North avenue to Irving Park boulevard and east of the Chicago river. They replaced discharged union officials of the faction led by Louis Romano, president.

Today Master in Chancery Isadore Brown is scheduled to hear evidence on McLane's charges against Romano, Frank [The Enforcer] Nitti, Murray Humphreys, and other alleged gangsters accused of plotting against the union.

Chicagoan Gets Prison as Receiver of Stolen Bonds

New York, Oct. 14 (AP).—Frederick Otto Andreae, 35 year old salesman of Chicago, was sentenced to five to 10 years in Sing Sing prison today for receiving stolen bonds and for second degree forgery. During his trial in General Sessions, witnesses testified that the 11 bonds of the National Steel corporation—valued at $1,000 each—were part of $43,000 worth stolen from a Wall street messenger in 1938. Testifying in his own defense, Andreae said that two men told him the bonds were smuggled out of Germany and that he was to get a 10 per cent commission for selling them.

PROBATE TAYLOR WILL; UNIONIST LEAVES $9,000

The will of Matthew Taylor, president of the Chicago Elevator Operators an Starters' Union, who died Sept. 6, was admitted to probate yesterday by John F. Keeley, assistant probate judge.

Taylor died shortly after making a 65 page statement to State's Attorney Courtney relating to the attempt of gangsters to muscle into his union. In the statement Taylor asserted he was forced to give $30,000 of union funds to members of the Nitti gang to save his life and keep his union from falling into their hands.

His estate is estimated at $7,500 in personal property and $1,500 in real estate. Beneficiaries in the will, which was written last June, are Taylor's widow, Louise, 2908 South Maple avenue, Berwyn, and Mrs. Lena Jacobs, 8048 South Marshfield avenue. The women are to share the estate equally.

HARRY HERSHEY HAS RECORD FOR GREAT GOVERNOR

Read the Facts About the Democratic Candidate

A governor for all of Illinois—that is Harry B. Hershey's pledge to the people of our state.

HARRY B. HERSHEY

Harry B. Hershey will bring to the governorship of Illinois the wholesome attributes of a man who, by his own efforts and attractive, strong character, has risen to state leadership slowly but progressively from beginnings common to typical citizens of Illinois.

Halls From Center of Illinois

Since he was 8 years old, he has lived in Taylorville. Thirty miles from Springfield, Harry Hershey's home town is the seat of Christian County, an agricultural, mining and commercial section in the very center of Illinois. There his father, who had been a farmer in Ohio, where Harry Hershey was born March 8, 1885, opened a grocery in 1893. The grocery prospered moderately, and the father became a church trustee, a member of the city council and treasurer of the town.

Worked Hard as Youth

The son helped out at the family store, where the hours were 5 a. m. to 8:30 p. m.—swept out, sacked sugar, waited on the customers and drove the delivery wagon. The customers liked young Hershey. Even then, they took personal problems to him, as they would in later years when he came back from college as a lawyer, because, they said, "young Harry Hershey has a good head on him and a heart that is in the right place."

To become a lawyer, he, in large part, worked his way through the University of Illinois and later, to get his legal education, the University of Chicago, where he went on a scholarship.

All the while, he was demonstrating capacity for leadership and constructive activity, becoming president of his class, a student editor, class orator and the first student at Illinois to make the university debating team in his sophomore year. As a student, he joined the Illinois National Guard, and became Lieutenant in the Fifth Regiment.

Wins Confidence of People

What the folks back home thought of him was indicated when, while he was still finishing up his law studies in Chicago, a group of them put up his name for City Attorney of Taylorville. In a sense, this was a popular political "revolt." Although not until two months afterward did he pass the bar so that he could actually qualify as legal counsel for his home city, he was elected. Few young lawyers could boast of such a mark of confidence. He showed he merited it, for immediately afterward, in 1912, the people of Taylorville persuaded him to run for State's Attorney. He was only 27, and the "powers" in the local political organization wanted someone else. But the people of the county wanted Hershey and the people elected him. They also re-elected him, for the talk of the county was about Harry Hershey's courage, perseverance and intelligence in prosecuting crime.

A Fearless Law Enforcer

As State's Attorney, Harry B. Hershey broke up more than one vicious criminal gang, at times in the face of threats against his life. His earnestness so impressed juries that his record stood at 96 per cent convictions in capital cases. And he was so fair that when he entered private practice, even relatives of men whom he had prosecuted came to him on civil matters.

Fair to Labor and Business

When labor troubles broke out at intervals in his county, Harry B. Hershey's fairness stood him and the community in good stead. Both sides in such disputes attest that he enforced the law without partiality and worked always for a decent peace. He opposed coercion or law breaking by either side.

After two terms as State's Attorney, he devoted himself to building a private practice, his clients being mainly farmers and small business concerns. Significantly, both labor unions and employers have retained him as lawyer.

He Made a Great Mayor

In 1924, a citizens' committee, remembering his services as City Attorney and State's Attorney, drafted Harry B. Hershey to run for Mayor of Taylorville. The city's finances were in poor shape, and a strong, able executive was needed. He filled that bill so adequately that in 1926 he was re-elected Mayor without opposition. Today the program that he instituted for balancing the city's budget is still followed in Taylorville—good forecast of the businesslike state administration he will give as Governor

Experienced in State Problems

Since 1932, he has been a member of the state central committee of his party, and in 1938 was state chairman. He had been closely associated with Governor Henry Horner personally, advising with the late Governor on state policies and also serving as counsel for the state insurance director. Thus state problems are no novelty to him.

Man of Family Who Likes People!

A family man, he is the father of two sons, one a chemical engineer and the other a law student. Both he and Mrs. Hershey, whom he met in high school, have been active in the Presbyterian church in Taylorville. His family, his home—and farm land which he personally supervises—these are his main interests outside of public affairs. These and people, for Harry B. Hershey enjoys nothing better than neighborly chats, to find out what the people are thinking. His program for Illinois reflects that human trait—a program of betterment for all Illinois!

HINES, NEW DEAL PATRONAGE BOSS, ENTERS SING SING

Begins 4 to 8 Year Term as Political Fixer.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Ossining, N. Y., Oct. 14.—Tammany Boss James J. [Jimmy] Hines, once the all powerful dispenser of Roosevelt administration patronage in New York City, looked up at the walls of Sing Sing penitentiary here today and observed they were "pretty high." Then he went inside to start serving his sentence for conviction as political fixer of the policy game racket.

The Democratic leader, who was the ally of the late Arthur [Dutch Schultz] Flegenheimer, murderer and gangster, was sentenced to serve from four to eight years on 12 felony counts charging him with complicity in the operation of a lottery.

With good behavior the Democratic leader will be eligible for parole after serving two years and eight months. His release will depend on the parole board. Hines is in good physical condition, having played golf and loafed all summer while waiting for his last plea to the courts to be decided. He is 63 years old.

Last Recourse Shut Off.

Since the Court of Appeals, the highest judicial body in the state, affirmed his conviction last week there was no other recourse for the political boss but to surrender and go to prison.

Hines went thru the bathing process for all new prisoners, donned a gray uniform, and was given the number 98719. During the next few days he will be examined by psychiatrists and physicians. He was placed in the 108 year old cell block which also houses Richard Whitney, former president of the New York Stock exchange and now a prison bookkeeper.

There was one last act in this denouement of the Hines case which showed the power the man once had over public officials. He was permitted to ride from New York City to the prison without handcuffs in an automobile in the company of two deputy sheriffs, friends of his. Lesser felons are manacled together and go by train.

Great Influence Wielded.

During his salad days Hines wielded great influence. He was the most powerful single leader in Tammany Hall. He dictated candidates for district attorney and other offices, and then the Schultz gangsters helped elect them at the polls.

Since he had supported Roosevelt for President before the Chicago convention of 1932—while other leaders loyally clung to Al Smith—Hines was rewarded with the bulk of the patronage jobs after the New Deal came into power. Hines was a White House visitor on several occasions.

That was before the young rackets-smashing prosecutor, Thomas E. Dewey, indicted Hines and put him on trial. Dewey had to try him twice because the first time a New Deal judge, Ferdinand Pecora, threw the case out on a technicality.

300 WAREHOUSE WORKERS STRIKE AT BUTLER BROS.

More than 300 workers, members of local No. 20475 of the Wholesale Warehouse Merchandise Workers' union, an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor, went on strike yesterday at the warehouse of Butler Brothers, wholesale merchandising company, at Randolph and Canal streets.

According to Harry O'Reilly, regional director for the A. F. of L., every attempt was made to negotiate a new agreement with the company, which would provide better working conditions and a slight increase in wages. The company officials refused to negotiate. Then according to O'Reilly, an offer was made to arbitrate all the matters in dispute, but this was refused too, so an appeal was made to the executive boards of the Chicago Federation and the A. F. of L. Both boards advised and sanctioned the strike as the only recourse. Company officials refused to comment.

PIN SWALLOWED BY JOAN FORGAN REMOVED HERE

Miss Joan Forgan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Russell Forgan, was rushed to Chicago by airplane yesterday after she had swallowed an open safety pin at the Brownsmoor school in Santa Fe, N. M. The pin was located with a fluoroscope at St. Luke's hospital and removed with an esophagoscope. It had lodged in the lower esophagus, the tube leading to the stomach.

Miss Forgan is 16 years old. She placed the pin in her mouth while adjusting a piece of flannel which she had placed across her chest for a cold. Her parents, former Chicagoans, now live in New York. Mr. Forgan came to Chicago to be at her bedside.

The instruments used in the operation are relatively rare. The St. Luke's hospital fashion show to be held at the Stevens hotel today is to raise funds which provide, in part, for making the use of these instruments available to the poor.

New set for opera, "Martha," at the Civic Opera house.

The stage crew at the Civic Opera house fitted together a new 100 piece jig-saw puzzle yesterday which, assembled, depicted a cross section of a comfortable old English farm house. This was the authentic mounting for the second act of "Martha," which Technical Director Monte Fassnacht and his craftsmen have been working on for three weeks. It was designed by William Wymetal, stage director.

Flotow's familiar comic opera, the romance of a titled English lady masquerading at a county fair, is to be produced by the Chicago Opera company this season in a new English version by Vicki Baum and Richard Lert. Helen Jepson and James Melton will have the leading rôles.

Fassnacht is reconstructing 12 settings for the gala opening production of "Aida" on Saturday, Nov. 2. The new sets will permit the presence of 300 persons on the stage at one time. The old designs limited the chorus to 200.

20 FACE $111,000 SUIT IN LAWYERS' FINANCIAL FIASCO

Iowa U. President Elect Among Defendants.

Hearing will start tomorrow before Master in Chancery Samuel Berke in a Superior court suit by Thomas Tighe Jr. to force 20 other stockholders of the Victory corporation, 231 La Salle street, to pay $110,000 in notes held by the corporation.

The action, which was referred to Master Berke by Judge Oscar F. Nelson, was continued yesterday at the request of attorneys for both sides. They asked two days in which to study records of the corporation, which was formed about 10 years ago for speculative purposes.

Most of the 40 original stockholders were either members of or were associated with the law firm of Pope & Ballard, according to Attorney Charles Liebman, acting for Tighe, who is himself an attorney with offices at 10 North Clark street.

Notes of Founders Cited.

Several of the founders, including Tighe, paid cash for their stock, while a number of others, including J. J. Forestall, the president, and Virgil M. Hancher gave notes, expecting to cover them with early profits.

Hancher, one of the defendants in Tighe's suit, recently was appointed president of the University of Iowa. He is to take office in December after formal approval by George T. Baker, president of the Iowa state board of education, and Gov. George A. Wilson.

The Victoy corporation, which was capitalized at $1,300,000, met with serious reverses during the early and middle 1930s, according to Attorney Liebman, and its capitalization recently was written down to $130,000 to cover losses.

Accuse Hancher of Fraud.

Hancher, whose note was for $7,000, is charged specifically in the suit with fraud and conspiracy. He and other directors conspired to sell his note to Hancher's mother for $1,000 in a deal which was fraudulent, the bill sets forth. There were other deals of this kind, it is charged.

Hancher stated last night that he knows of the suit, which was filed last November, but that he has not been served officially. Attorney Liebman stated that this is not necessary, service having been obtained on the corporation.

WIDOW ACCUSES KIN AND BROKERS IN $400,000 LOSS

Niece and Her Husband Defendants in Suit.

Suit for $400,000 was filed yesterday in the Circuit court by Mrs. Agatha Hollenbach, elderly widow of Charles Hollenbach, sausage manufacturer, against the brokerage firm of Mitchell, Hutchins & Co., 231 South La Salle street, her niece, Mrs. Pauline Dernbach, and the latter's husband, George.

The money, the suit charges, was taken from her in stocks and bonds and thru the misapplication of checks during the years from early 1931 to June, 1940, when the Dernbachs had charge of her affairs. Some of the securities were transferred illegally from her account to that of Dernbach with the knowledge of the brokerage concern, the action continues.

Leaves $2,000,000 Estate.

At the time of her husband's death, Oct. 4, 1930, Mrs. Hollenbach knew nothing of business and turned over the management of her one-third share in the two million dollar estate to Mrs. Dernbach, who had been Mr. Hollenbach's secretary, and her husband, the suit relates. The Dernbachs went to live with her at 5924 Sheridan road and were given access to her safe and safety deposit vaults, it is claimed.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Hollenbach went abroad and Dernbach joined the Mitchell, Hutchins firm as their floor broker on the Chicago Stock exchange. He then persuaded her to open a series of accounts there, the suit charged. She since has learned, the suit goes on, that Pauline and George Dernbach also maintained an account with the concern and that they frequently were called upon to put up additional collateral.

In September, 1932, it is charged, George Dernbach in response to one of these calls directed the firm to transfer 2,550 shares of various stocks from Mrs. Hollenbach's account to his own and that the firm made the transfer knowing Dernbach had no right to the shares.

Claims $24,647 Check Taken.

During the same month, the suit states, Dernbach deposited in the account of himself and his wife a check for $24,647 which Mrs. Hollenbach had given him to be deposited in her account. Another count in the suit charges that Dernbach has failed to repay $80,275, borrowed since the fall of 1930.

The suit's five counts name the brokerage concern and Dernbach, the firm alone, Dernbach alone, and the Dernbachs jointly in two counts. The alleged losses and misappropriations total $400,000 without consideration of interest, according to Attorney Walter Moses of the firm of Moses, Kennedy, Stein & Bachrach, who filed the suit. The Dernbachs now live at 5901 Kenmore avenue.

ALEX GETS SELF IN JAM WHEN HE SIGNS OWN NAME

Alex Brzywara, 1016 Madison street, quit his job at the Brown Bag company, 836 West Randolph street, two weeks ago. Then, police said, he returned with a friend, John Stone, 1954 South Spaulding avenue, and stole several blank checks and a check protector.

Then, according to police, Brzywara wrote out checks for $18.35 and $5.35 and cashed them in a tavern at 2500 Western avenue. When he offered a third yesterday, however, the tavern keeper notified police. They found Brzywara without any trouble at all. He had helpfully signed his correct name and address to each check.

Brzywara implicated Stone, who also was arrested. Police said both confessed.

St. Luke's Fashion Show Is Principal News for Today

BY JUDITH CASS.

EVERY fashion conscious woman in Chicago who is able to squeeze into the ballroom of the Stevens hotel will be crowding thru the doors between 2 and 2:30 o'clock this afternoon for the annual St. Luke's Fashion show. No seats are reserved, excepting box seats, so it is a case of first come, first served for the fans who have been returning for 14 years to this fashion spectacle.

The largest and most successful—both artistically and financially — of all Chicago fashion shows, the St. Luke's, continues year after year to give spectators their money's worth in glamor, excitement, and chic. At the performances this afternoon and tonight will be the famed $1,000,000 Jonker diamond, worn by Princess Rostislav; one of the best known of women couturieres, Mme. Elsa Schiaparelli, who will speak; 130 of the prettiest amateur models in the city, some of them debutantes of the season; many hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of furs, jewels, accessories, and clothes, and an audience whose names have made social reading for several decades.

Many Luncheon Parties Will Precede the Show.

Backstage, while the spectators assemble, the models will be having their complexions artfully improved before they step into their gowns and furs to take their turn on the runway. Several score other young women will be doing their bit for St. Luke's by selling flowers and cigarets in the ballroom.

The Blackstone always is the scene of many prefashion show luncheon parties. Among those entertaining in the Balinese or the Mayfair rooms there today will be Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine, Mrs. Merrill Hubbard, Mrs. Alfred Austrian, Mrs. Earle Zimmerman, Mrs. Eugene Howard, and Mrs. Thomas A. Connors. There will be a luncheon at Field's for Mme. Schiaparelli. Mrs. Walter R. Kirk is giving a luncheon for Mrs. E. Graham Lewis [Elizabeth Arden], who has come from New York for the show, as she always does.

Tonight's performance, at which dinner will be served, will be less crowded and more "family" as the husbands, beaux, and parents of the models and cigaret and flower venders all will be on hand. After their appearance most of the models will change into their own evening gowns and join friends for dancing after dinner.

Some of those who have reservation for tonight's performance are the Bruce Borlands, Mr. and Mrs. James C. Hutchins, the John P. Wilsons, the Frederick H. Scotts, Dr. and Mrs. Edwin Ryerson, Russell Tyson, Mrs. Robert H. McCormick, the Joseph Ryersons, who will have their subdeb daughter, Ellen, and the Donald Frosts of Boston, with them; the James W. Thornes, and the James A. Cathcarts.

Woman's Symphony Opens Season Tonight.

It's not the variety of gowns that will make an impression at another gala event on tonight's program, but, rather, the repetition of one stunning one. It is the electric blue and red gown each of the 90 members of the Woman's Symphony orchestra will be wearing for their first concert of the season in Orchestra hall.

Instead of giving receptions for guest artists preceding this winter's concerts, the Woman's Symphony orchestra board has decided to entertain the visiting artists at supper after the performances. Mischa Mischakoff, who is appearing with the orchestra tonight, will be the especial guest at a supper in the Drake's new Camellia house. Mrs. James G. Shakman, president of the board, and other officers will act as hostesses.

Among those giving dinner parties before the concert are Mrs. J. Ogden Armour, Mrs. Ralph Bard, Mrs. Americus F. Callahan, Mrs. William Sherman Hay, Mrs. Archibald Freer, Mrs. Daniel J. Schuyler Jr., and Mrs. Fred-

Cuff Notes.

Lanny Ross, in town today for his radio broadcast, says he has dubbed his farm at Milbrook, N. Y., "Singer's Midget" because the house is so small.. . . Helen Jepson, who with James Melton will have the leading rôle in the new English version of Martha that Vicki Baum has prepared for the Chicago Opera company's coming season, watched Mr. Melton in rehearsal and commented, "I wish all tenors were that tall and handsome!" Some of the long recitatives of the opera have been removed and a ballet inserted. . . . Have you seen the new magazine, Common Ground, edited by Louis Adamic? Robert M. Hutchins has a piece in the first issue titled Democracy and Defense. . . . The Woman's Symphony orchestra, which opens its season this evening at Orchestra hall, decided it ought to celebrate an anniversary this year, too. It's the 15th year of the orchestra—its crystal anniversary. It has a glass manufacturing company for a radio sponsor.

Author's Gag.

Christopher Morley recently made a speech in a midwestern state which since has been published in book form. The title: Friends and Romans. When Morley opened his talk he began it, "Friends, Romans," and then, with a bow to the guest of honor, chairman of a library association whose name is Miss Countryman, "and Miss Countryman."

Home Influence.

Do you remember, asks Anne C. Wilkerson, how mother used to spread newspapers on the freshly washed kitchen floor so that it would dry clean? Apparently the janitor of the office building at 554 West Adams hasn't forgotten. On a recent Saturday morning when he had finished scrubbing the good-sized entrance lobby he carefully laid newspapers over the entire floor space and kept them there until the floor was really dry.

Superstitions of Radio Artists.

Jane Froman won't work on a bill with acrobats. . . . Sheila Barrett will never perform in a pink dress. . . . Ducky Medwick, an artist, too, always touches third base when going out to the field. Xavier Cugat never rehearses a band before noon. . . . Meyer Davis always engages at least one man with a moustache for his bands. . . . Helen Hayes crosses her fingers before her entrance line.

Beginner.

A first grader, Alice Betty Broad, informed her father that she had learned to write in school.

"I can make the word 'him'," she said. "First I make a chair, then a short stick with a dot over it, and then three short sticks with a ziggedy-zag line on top."

Women Open Their Portion of Fund Drive

With record brevity the women's division of the Community fund yesterday opened its annual drive in behalf of Chicago charities. More than 100 key workers attended the first luncheon meeting at the Racquet club. The division's quota is $165,000.

"This is a neighborly job, the kind of job the government can't do," Harold H. Swift, chairman of the sponsors' division, told the women.

"People ask, 'With our taxes so high, with the government doing so much, why not let the government do it all?' The answer is, we don't want the government to do it. It would be fatal to our American way."

Mr. Swift emphasized that the hundreds of agencies and institutions that share in the Community fund build up families, help men regain their independence, and otherwise "get people back into a more fortunate way of life." This work, he said, cannot be done by the government "in mass fashion."

Mrs. King Mitchell, smart in a gray suit and hat accented with a green blouse and feather that matched the dining room wall, presided at the luncheon and at the 20 minute program following. Merle J. Trees, campaign chairman, and Champ Carry, chairman of the industrial division, also spoke.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Vive la France—or something. Anyway, I've just seen a couple of mighty good French movies.

I feel I should be rather deep about "The Baker's Wife" because Dorothy Thompson found it "significant," John Erskine wrote the titles and a number of well known reviewers found it quite utterly this, that, and the other thing. . . . But as the significance escaped me and I believe I really have seen movies made right in Hollywood that were smarter, wittier, and otherwise what have you, I'll tell you that, to me it was just a right good show with Raimu giving a superb characterization in the title rôle and supporting players supporting him ably.

This is the story of a simple man who loved so greatly that he could forgive greatly. . . . He is the new baker of a small French town whither he comes with his wife, who is only half his age, pretty, and with alley cat instincts. . . .

The town folk, who for long had had to order their bread from a village some miles away because of the drunken and dirty proclivities of the former baker, welcome the new bread maker eagerly—and are delighted with his first bakings. . . . Then—his Aurelie runs away with an Italian shepherd. . . .

The baker's oven grows cold and the baker gets very, very drunk.

This drunken episode is memorable. I think I have never seen anything more touching than the great, awkward fellow's desperate, pathetic clowning to camouflage his grief and convince his curious, pitying neighbors that all's well which he and they know is NOT well. . . .

The picture must show you HOW Aurelie comes back and what happens after she does. . . . Here is some grand and simple "theater."

Sir John's English titles are pleasantly enlightening and the deftly directed piece is often slyly and unexpectedly humorous.

"THE MAYOR'S DILEMMA."

Produced by S. Nebenzahl.
Directed by Raymond Bernard.
Presented at the Studio theater.

THE CAST.

Beaumont, the mayor..........Charpin
Annie, his daughter..........Annie Vernay
De Rossignoie, a wealthyland owner...
..........Saturnin Fabre
Pierre, his son..........Jean Paqui
Fabien, the town bailiff..........Lerquey
Rameau, the barber..........Labry
Rodillard, the poacher..........Dorville
A gendarme..........Florian
Tartagnac, a fencing master....Roquevart

This bright example of French movie making was filmed in the little village of Chezy-sur-la-Mar and tells the story of a besieged town during the world war.

The action revolves about the feud between the genial mayor and the wealthiest landowner thereabouts regarding the right of the passage of one thru the barn of the other . . . The mayor has a daughter and the landowner has a son—who has been drafted.

The boy and girl run off to marry, returning to their native village to spend the night. . . . They find it occupied by Germans . . . if Pierre is discovered there now, he will be a deserter. . . . He is found by a German officer, whom he kills. . . . He returns to the French lines and five hostages are demanded by the enemy to be released if the slayer is found, otherwise to be shot at a certain sunrise. . . .

The hostages are the mayor, the landowner, the policeman, barber and town bailiff—and solemnly they march off to jail to do their bit for their village—which, were hostages not up and coming, would have been blown to bits. . . .

From here on I shall let the movie lead you. This it will do in what you will find to be entertaining fashion.

Acting, direction, sets, scenery and photograph are all most pleasing.

See you soon.

Looking at Hollywood
By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 14.—At the head of a bed in St. Vincent's hospital in Los Angeles is a photograph of Barbara Stanwyck with this autograph upon it: "To Vivian. Courage is the name for Cosby. Thank you for my lesson. Barbara."

In the bed is the still crippled victim of a fire that occurred nearly two years ago, and the things she has accomplished since that time are the reasons for the Stanwyck tribute—and for others like it from many film and radio stars elsewhere in the room.

Vivian Cosby, now 32, wrote a mystery play called "Trick for Trick" with Shirley Ward and Fulton Oursler several years ago. She also co-authored something called "Hoopla," wrote "Miss Happiness" for Bill Gaxton, penned some 250 vaudeville and burlesque acts, and wrote one of the first big soap company radio programs. In 1936 and 1937 she wrote scenarios for RKO.

Late in 1938 she got another idea for a Broadway play, wrote one act, decided to take a little house in the hills above Hollywood where she could finish her work in quiet. The house deal was completed on Dec. 31, and, with a show-business superstition, Miss Cosby determined to move in immediately so she could start the new year in the new place.

Next day she was unpacking and putting things away. The safety guard on a gas heater in the bathroom fell off, her dress came too near and she suffered third degree burns from waist to ankles. First they thought she wouldn't live. Then they thought she'd never walk again. She spent five months on her abdomen; by the end of a year could walk a bit. She has had three skin grafting operations and will have more. In five or six months the repair job will have been completed.

Idleness in a hospital—and lack of income—didn't suit Vivian Cosby. She wrote her old collaborator, Oursler, and he suggested that she write an article for his magazine called Bird's Eye View of Hollywood. She wrote a piece mentioning 42 stars. Every one of the 42 has come to see her at the hospital and many have adopted her. Fay Holden ["Ma Hardy"] has become her mother, calls every day at 6 p. m.

With her Hollywood magazine piece as a starter, Miss Cosby began turning her sickroom into an office. She has written five programs for Edward G. Robinson, several sketches for Rudy Vallee, many things for fan magazines. Her film friends all help her with chatter and information. She helped engineer the deal bringing Lily Pons to sing at the Hollywood bowl and collected half the large commission. Courage is the name for Cosby.

About 800 Disney studio workers and a handful of easterners, including RCA's David Sarnoff, saw the first showing of "Fantasia" Saturday night. Report is that the sound reproduction will make ordinary screen tones sound like the squawkings of a crystal radio. . . . Jessie Ralph and Charlotte Greenwood plan a tour in a new mystery play about two spinsters who inherit a detective agency. Gilbert Miller is interested. . . . Gregory La Cava has bought a house at Malibu Beach, will build a large playroom on the ocean front, and plans to live there all the time, except when he is shooting a picture. Then he'll go to whatever hotel is handiest to the studio he is using. . . . Add Geraldine Fitzgerald to a lengthening list of victims of a cold epidemic. . . . James Cagney is due to report at Warner's tomorrow after his summer holiday at Martha's Vineyard. . . . Lou Smith is starting a tour of the country on behalf of "Arizona." . . . The heat wave—94 degrees—produced a notable number of drunks at the U. C. L. A.-Texas Aggies game.

MICHIGAN AVENUE AT RANDOLPH

The Borrowed Cottage

By Alice Campbell

[Copyright: 1940: By Alice Campbell.]

SYNOPSIS.

Rowan Wilde, an American girl, goes to the isolated cottage of Hazel Fordyce, in England, to do some studying. Arriving at night, she begins investigating the house and when she opens a closet door, a dead man falls out. As she rushes from the cottage, she runs into 32-year old Stephen Smedley, who because of ill health, has left his publishing business in the city and comes to the country for a rest. He is living alone in an old chapel near the Fordyce cottage. Rowan at first suspects Stephen as the murderer, when he fails to return after telling her he will go for help. Later she finds him prostrate on the ground and helps him into the house where he collapses on the sofa. Rowan leaves him and goes to her bedroom for a nap but is awakened by Stephen entering her room holding a large knife. A sharp command from Rowan makes him drop the knife and retreat. The next morning he seems to remember nothing of the knife incident and they find the body has disappeared. Mrs. Yalilee, mother of Egbert the caretaker, arrives to get Rowan's breakfast and later the Rev. Bogge and Lord Romrytch, neighbors, call saying they are trying to find the vicar's brother, Bertram, who was allowed to study in the Fordyce cottage. Stephen advises Rowan not to mention finding the body, as its disappearance might get them both into trouble. Romrytch invites Rowan, Stephen, and the vicar to lunch and a searching party is made up later to find Bertram. Rowan learns that Bertram has a bad reputation; that he was known to forge notes and that he had assaulted the vicar's maid, who was Egbert's fiancée. Romrytch tells Rowan that he thinks Bertram was insane, as he claimed to know Hitler, Mussolini and many internationally known persons. Stephen admits to Rowan that he had met Bertram in a bar and that Bertram had written a book which he was trying to get Stephen to publish. Rowan has found the manuscript with other documents in Stephen's brief case and has hidden it unbeknown to Stephen. Rowan invites Stephen to dinner, planning to return his brief case, but she opens a cupboard door and the corpse falls out. She faints and when she recovers, Stephen is standing over her and the corpse has disappeared again. This time they notify the police. In the middle of the night Rowan hears her own typewriter going downstairs. She peeps out and sees Mrs. Yalilee's door open and her bed not slept in.

INSTALMENT XXVI.

THREATS.

The sounds went on. Suddenly Rowan realized the murderer must have the key to the Tudor room—the key he took from the corpse's pocket. Nine chances to one the panel door hadn't been fastened. Entrance thru the Tudor wing meant the freedom of the house.

She had turned her own key, and now, trembling and cold, she crept to the window to look out, fully expecting to see some slight glow on the terrace stones shed thru the drawing room curtains. None appeared, not even a glimmer. Either the typer thoroly understood the touch system or else he was using a carefully directed torch. She had noticed a large torch in Stephen's vestry room, on the shelf beside his safety razor, but nothing of the sort in this house.

Raising her eyes she let them travel across the moon silvered garden, down the slope and along the misted valley beyond. Far to the right, deep down among black blobs that were trees, she detected a faint, steady point of light. Tho less bright than the moon overhead it showed a yellow tinge, suggesting a lamp. She hadn't known that from here it was possible to see Stephen's chapel, but this light must indicate it. In the radius of a quarter mile there was no other habitation.

The beacon comforted her. It could not succor in case of need any more than a voice over the telephone, but as it was silly to imagine herself in danger that wasn't the point. What counted was that Stephen was at home, sleepless like herself, reading by his smelly oil lamp. Naturally!

If this queer tapping of keys kept up much longer she would have to scream. Where was Constable Potter? She could not see him, and the sound of his thick, clumping boots had ceased to echo some half hour ago. Had he seen Egbert skulking about and given chase to him? He ought to be within call, but quite evidently he had taken himself off.

The vicar! Here was a person she had forgotten. Missing at dinner time. Still missing, perhaps?

Her heart skipped a beat. The typing had stopped. She heard the creak of the stairs.

As the wary tread came up, up, round the stairhead and onward, she drew the automatic from its drawer, gripped it, all useless tho it was, and braced herself for what was upon her.

Lord Romrytch's warning rushed into her mind. His sharp vision had probed the situation, probably from observation of the vicar's behavior yesterday morning. Bertram Bogge couldn't come back, but some one else could. At dead of night only a locked door lay between her and the creeping intruder, a door which in all likelihood any bedroom key up here would fit.

In the darkness she waited, while outside, just by her door, the steps halted. It seemed to her she could make out the unseen person's breathing.

"Mrs. Yalilee," she called, "is that you?"

Dead silence. Not for long, tho it seemed fully five minutes. It was broken by a scarcely perceptible movement, and then, in the gloom, her gaze was drawn downward to a thin whiteness insinuating itself inch by inch under the door. Paper? It was—a narrow slip of her own typing paper, wriggling there on the waxed boards. All inside now, waiting to be picked up. She touched the light button, blinked in the subdued brightness of the single shaded bulb, and took the slip in her hand. Printing on it. A curt line, neatly typed by her machine:

"Put it outside—intact. It's of no use to you."

She was right. Lord Romrytch had foreseen this. It was the brief-case that was wanted, or anyhow one item it contained. The searcher of the afternoon believed she had hidden the case somewhere outside and taken it in again on her return. If she yielded it up now it was possible no harm would befall her; but what about Stephen? The case with its implications could be used against him.

The purple letters danced before her. Out of the stillness she heard her voice saying huskily:

"It. I don't understand. What is it you want?"

Briskly a second length of paper snaked in over the sill. It said:

"A leather manuscript case, marked B. B. You have it. Be quick! If it is found, as it is sure to be, it will land both you and another person in the dock for murder."

Threats; doggedness surged up in her.

"What leather case?" she whispered.

Her words must have been anticipated. There came a third slip, this time with the message:

"I'm taking the best way for all concerned. Do you want me to break in and use force? Your screams won't be heard. I'm giving you your chance. Better take it."

Her mouth went dry. It hadn't occurred to her to scream, but now she flew to the window, leaned out and shrieked wildly, "Constable! Constable Potter!"

Her cry rebounded mockingly from the high flower terraces behind the house. No answer. So the Presence had known. Sweat poured down under her thin crêpe de chine nightgown. A fourth message was waiting for her. She did not want to see what it said. Here it was, shaking under the light:

"You see? And your automatic is not loaded. Mine is. Shall I force out your key with the one in my hand, or will you act sensibly and pass me the case?"

"Hold on," said Rowan. "I'll do as you say, only it will take a few minutes. I've hidden the thing rather well."

As she spoke she was again at the window, casting two desperate glances, one up, one down. The first satisfied her that her treasure was indeed well hidden, not only by the shelving thatch but by the pale pink clematis she had pulled back into place. The second, measuring the short distance to the ground, had taken note of the creeper's thick stem close to the casement. It might not hold her weight, but if it merely broke her fall, wouldn't that serve?

Already now she was soundlessly pulling on canvas shoes, skirt, and coat, fastening waist band and buttons. Hand out that case! Yes, and get a bullet thru her brain. Hobson's choice, this. She might get the bullet anyhow, in the open. Never mind, she had cast her vote.

"Nearly got it," she called breathlessly. "Just hold on. . . ."

The window was a tight squeeze. The rasp of her coat against the iron rod must, she thought, betray her purpose, but it was too late to weigh that. Grasping the clematis stem with both hands she wormed thru, feeling the night air on her bare legs as she pawed for a foothold. It was farther than it had looked. The stem was cracking, the tendrils tearing from the wall. She grazed her knee on the rough concrete, slid from a lower window ledge just as she found it, and came crashing down.

Stunned for a moment, she lay panting, bright coruscations encircling her. Then she was aware of the dark garden in front, of the glow from above that picked out the broken flags of the path winding latitudinally from the house, the far end of the grounds, seen thru a wilderness of blossoms. He must have heard that crash. The horror pulled her back to her feet, sent her fleeing up the garden.

Tall Woman Makes a Plea to Designers

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"I read in one of your recent columns, that the tall girl finally has been given a break in a fashion show devoted to tall women only," writes M. R.

"This is very grand," our correspondent continues, "as I am one of the many tall women who feel rather 'forgotten' when it comes to fashion. It is true that most models are tall, but in most cases they are very small boned as well, and can, therefore, fit into small sizes. It is true, also, that the dress patterns, for the most part, are cut on the scale of a tall woman, yet all tall women are not able to make or have their clothes made for them.

"In other words, I think it would be a good idea for some campaign to be launched in the ready-to-wear industry for longer skirts, longer sleeves, longer pajama legs, longer night gowns for the taller woman to be sold at the same retail prices as regular sizes.

"Now that dresses are shorter, an inexpensive dress reaches me just at the knee, much too short for my long legs. My folks laugh at me with my 'half-sized' pajama legs. The stores sell special sizes for the shorter woman. We need a break, too. We tall women can't feel proud of our height while we're treated as step-children by the women's wear industry. Can't you pass our plea along, Miss Donnelly?"

A floor wax that a lot of home managers will like has the advantage of being as useful for wood and composition floors as it is for linoleum. Called a nonrub wax, it's said not to spot from water splashes. It is easy to apply and dries in 20 minutes. Also, it is long lasting, thus proving economical. If you've ever tried one of these liquids on your linoleum floors you know how much nicer the linoleum looks and how much longer the periods between scrubbings are.

Many of the difficulties and disappointments encountered in cooking beef are the result of failure to distinguish a roast from a pot roast. There is a proper method for cooking each, and each may be ruined if the wrong method is used.

A low temperature is the rule for both methods, for all meats, in fact.

BEEF ROASTS.

For roasting, choose a standing or rolled rib roast, or a folded rib roast. If the beef is of very high quality you may select a chuck rib roast, top round, or rump roast for this method of cooking, altho these are more often cooked by braising [pot roasting].

For even cooking, fullest flavor, and least shrinkage use a temperature of 300 degrees, unless the roast is very small, in which case make it 350 degrees. Place, fat side up, on a rack in a roasting pan without a cover, and add no water. Salt and pepper at the beginning or middle of cooking, as desired. Roast to an interior temperature of 140 degrees for rare beef, 160 for medium, 170 degrees for well done meat. If no thermometer is used one can only guess about the proper time for cooking the meat. It averages 18-20 minutes per pound for rare beef, 22-25 minutes per pound medium, and 25-30 minutes per pound for well done meat.

BEEF POT ROASTS.

Choose a rump, rolled rump, arm, or blade pot roast, or boneless chuck. Wipe the meat, flour it well, and brown in a heavy skillet on all sides. Season with salt and pepper. Add other seasonings, such as onion, bay leaf, or spices, if desired. Slip a rack under the roast, add a small amount of liquid, not more than a cup [more may be added later if needed], and cover the roast closely. Cook on top of the stove or in the oven, using low heat, 300 degrees. Cook until meat is tender, between three and four hours for a three to five pound roast.

Matching Muff and Fur Hat Is Superb Accent

BY REA SEEGER.

Fur hats and matching muffs have come into fashion importance because of the fine accent such a flattering duet assures an otherwise simple suit or daytime dress. Starting with a dress or suit of fine quality severely fashioned and expertly fitted, virtually anything in the way of dramatics is possible with a fur hat and muff. Or you may choose a fur hat to match revers or cuffs on a suit or bands on a coat or the fabulously beautiful long doeskin gloves cuffed luxuriantly with fur.

The spotted glory of leopard is still stealing the fashion spotlights, with the exciting new striped splendor of zebra hide running in second place. Mink still is fashion perfection, in subtle combination with black. Beaver, nutria, sable dyed squirrel, caracul with a lovely moire pattern, all make exceptionally beautiful headlines on fall and winter hats.

Fur is used exactly like velvet or any other millinerial fabric. It is stretched smoothly over the wide off-the-face brims of halo hats, it's smoothed skilfully in medium brimmed models; deftly twisted, turned and knotted in exotic turbans and banded in the rakish Cossack type high hats.

Small pompadour bonnets likewise are of fur, sensational trifles of mink, sable, silver fox, cross fox, and blue fox, with such more extreme pelts of civet cat and spicy brown wolverine. Fur tails are used in making modern bonnets. Silver fox tails with snow white tips works into dramatic headpieces.

Unexpectedly modest prices prevail among the small fur trimmed hats that feature mere accents of fur. Pompoms, narrow face bands, bunches of tails, insets, and appliques, each just a snip of fur, are ideal fur trimmings for hats for the short streamlines and for the shoppers with limited budgets.

Small Children Undergo Period of Adjustment

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.
[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Probably one of the expressions most bandied about in connection with the behavior of children is "social adjustment." Yet if, when adorable small Susan, annoyed at something chubby Billy does, bowls him over, or leans down and bites his fat forearm, we describe it as a step in "social adjustment," it does sound somewhat ridiculous, doesn't it? Or perhaps slightly "highfalutin'"?

Still, that is what that behavior is. Those two little things are just beginning to learn to be together, to understand each what the other means, and to enjoy companionship by yielding at one point and holding out at another.

Even the acts we call "selfish" are not really selfish at this stage. That's a "moral" terminology we are likely to use about little human beings who are not yet acting from such motives.

It is very natural for a mother to dislike seeing her own child act so, to see a playmate hurt, and to be embarrassed before other mothers. But first, both mothers involved should try to understand what lies back of it.

Second, one should not rashly spank or punish the small offender to make the other mother think she is attending to the matter.

What is wisest, if no one is really hurt, is to ignore the scene. Also, try to adjust the cause of the trouble, if it has to do with the possession of toys, or taking turns on a small "bike" of some sort.

Then, all along the way, quiet explanations about sharing and not hurting another child are in order.

A certain amount of patience, tact and mutual forbearance on the part of the mothers involved is necessary during this time.

But if things get just "too hot," isolation may have to be resorted to. "If you are going to hurt Billy like that, you will have to stay away from him," is a logical statement, and usually is a real punishment to a sociable child.

To Wed or Not, Is Problem of Young Pastors

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 14.—To get married or not to get married? That's the question confronting newly ordained Episcopal ministers.

Sound advice on the matter is conflicting here at the triennial general convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the United States of America. On the one hand, the church's commission on salaries of clergy says that young clerics should lose little time not only in getting married but also in having families augmented by twins if possible.

"Don't do it for at least three years," said a resolution offered this morning by a lay delegate, Dr. W. S. Bowen of Washington, D. C.

The salary commission produced facts and figures, but Dr. Bowen called on long observation and experience.

"Too often I have seen promising careers of young ministers wrecked by marriage too soon after ordination," Dr. Bowen told the lower [deputies] house of the convention this morning. "Salaries are low enough as it is and many of our clergymen become street car conductors to meet the family budget. Others have been divorced by their wives for nonsupport.

"Many young married ministers contract heavy debts that are never repaid. Such things tend to lower our church's ministry in the eyes of the laymen. The United States Naval academy demands that its graduates remain unmarried for three years, and a bill now before congress will ask graduates of West Point to wait five years."

Against this view is pitted the report of the commission on salaries. Its studies show single men getting an average of $1,972 annually; married but no children, $2,467; with one child, $2,511; two children, $2,777; three children, $2,826; four children, $3,028, and five children and over get average salaries of $3,111.

"The commission is not actually sure what these figures prove," the report commented. "It might be concluded that the thing for a man to do if he wishes to get his salary raised is to marry and have a large family, after the second child attempting to have twins."

A Wasserman test for syphilis of all candidates for holy orders was recommended in the house of bishops of the convention by Bishop Edwin A. Penick of North Carolina. The resolution was sent to the house of deputies where it was allowed to die on the ground that the medical examination required of all candidates for holy orders would cover the test.

Lutherans Declare It Christians' Duty to Fight for Country

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 14 (AP).—A declaration that Christian citizens are duty bound to bear arms in defense of their country received the approval of the United Lutheran Church of America convention today.

The church, however, recognized the individual's right to conscientious objection to military service.

The issue stirred the convention to two hours' debate which ended with adoption of the executive board's recommendation, "It is the duty of the Christian citizen to obey and support lawful government," but proclaiming the church's respect for the principle of supreme moral responsibility of the individual conscience.

To the committee's recommendation the convention added a provision that communicant members who are conscientious objectors may file with the executive board a written statement of their position.

Opposed to the board's recommendation were memorials from several synods calling on the church to safeguard the convictions of conscientious objectors to military service.

LAST TUESDAY'S QUESTION.

Question 11: Neither side vulnerable, the bidding proceeds:

West	North	East	South
1 diamond	1 heart	Pass	3 hearts
Pass	3 no trump	4 diamonds	?

You are South, and hold:
♠AJ96 ♥10652 ♦3 ♣KJ94
What call do you make?

Answer: Pass. This is a forcing pass, giving North the choice between doubling four diamonds and going to four hearts. North's three no trump bid strongly indicates that he may be prepared to "murder" four diamonds, and you must not rob him of that opportunity. Your three heart bid already has told North about the strength of your hand. [If you bid four hearts, take 15 points demerit; any other bid, take 40 points demerit.]

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	2 diamonds	3 spades	Pass
4 spades	Pass	Pass	Pass

West opened the king of diamonds and followed with the ace, after which he switched to a club. South won with the ace, took out the adverse trumps, stripped the clubs and then led a heart from his own hand up to dummy.

West, meanwhile, had been doing some thinking. His Q-10 of hearts lying under dummy's A-J-9 did not look propitious. He saw that two heart tricks must be won to defeat the contract. There was only one hope: To fool declarer into believing that West held K-Q-x. So, on the first heart lead, West boldly put up the queen! Dummy's ace won; declarer returned to his hand with a trump and led a second heart up to the remaining J-9. West played the six and declarer had a tough guess. Naturally, he was suspicious, but he knew that West would have played just the same with K-Q-6, and the two diamond overcall made by West persuaded him to believe that both high honors were in West's hand. So he went up with dummy's jack, and lost the game!

Had West made the usual passive play of a low heart on the first lead of that suit, declarer undoubtedly would have played the nine, forcing East's king, for the loss of only one heart trick.

San Carloans at Their Best in 'Butterfly'

BY EDWARD BARRY.

That American audiences are not becoming unduly chauvinistic even in these distracting times was demonstrated at the Auditorium last night when a big audience followed sympathetically the story of the trusting Japanese maiden and the tricky United States naval officer.

To be honest about the matter, tho, this performance of "Madame Butterfly" was so good that minor facts like the hue of the characters and the latitude and longitude of their birthplaces were brushed aside by the great universals of the story. Here, simply, were two human beings interpreting love in two differing ways and making a tragic failure of both their lives because of their inability to understand each other's viewpoint.

Puccini's rapturous music enkindled the members of the San Carlo Opera company to such a degree that they were able to do some of the best work of their careers. Hizi Koyke as Butterfly and Dimitri Onofrei as Pinkerton sang with a vehemence that carried everything before them. The two other chief rôles were in the knowing hands of Mario Valle [Sharpless] and Charlotte Bruno [Suzuki]. As always, Carlo Peroni conducted.

Programs have been announced for three of the all-ballet programs which the Ballet theater will give in the Civic Opera house during the Chicago Opera company's 1940 season. They are as follows:

Thursday evening, Nov. 7—"Italian Suite" [Cimarosa-Dolin], "Jardin aux Lilas" [Chausson-Tudor], "Gala Performance" [Prokofieff-Tudor] [first American performance].

Sunday afternoon, Nov. 10—"Les Sylphides" [Chopin-Fokine], "Peter and the Wolf" [Prokofieff-Bolm], "Jardin aux Lilas."

Thursday evening, Nov. 14—"Giselle" [Adam-Dolin], "Goyescas" [Granados-Tudor].

The Ballet theater will also appear with the opera company in all works requiring ballet.

Today is the last day on which purchases of opera subscription tickets may be made. Subscribers have the advantage of a permanent location the same night each week during the six week season.

Dorothy Maynor, the renowned colored soprano, will open the Winnetka Artist Recital series tomorrow evening. Artists and groups to come later in the season are Charles Kullman, tenor; the Coolidge String quartet; Anatol Kaminsky, violinist, and Josef Hofmann, pianist.

Many of the difficulties and disappointments encountered in cooking beef are the result of failure to distinguish a roast from a pot roast. There is a proper method for cooking each, and each may be ruined if the wrong method is used.

A low temperature is the rule for both methods, for all meats, in fact.

BEEF ROASTS.

For roasting, choose a standing or rolled rib roast, or a folded rib roast. If the beef is of very high quality you may select a chuck rib roast, top round, or rump roast for this method of cooking, altho these are more often cooked by braising [pot roasting].

For even cooking, fullest flavor, and least shrinkage use a temperature of 300 degrees, unless the roast is very small, in which case make it 350 degrees. Place, fat side up, on a rack in a roasting pan without a cover, and add no water. Salt and pepper at the beginning or middle of cooking, as desired. Roast to an interior temperature of 140 degrees for rare beef, 160 for medium, 170 degrees for well done meat. If no thermometer is used one can only guess about the proper time for cooking the meat. It averages 18-20 minutes per pound for rare beef, 22-25 minutes per pound medium, and 25-30 minutes per pound for well done meat.

BEEF POT ROASTS.

Choose a rump, rolled rump, arm, or blade pot roast, or boneless chuck. Wipe the meat, flour it well, and brown in a heavy skillet on all sides. Season with salt and pepper. Add other seasonings, such as onion, bay leaf, or spices, if desired. Slip a rack under the roast, add a small amount of liquid, not more than a cup [more may be added later if needed], and cover the roast closely. Cook on top of the stove or in the oven, using low heat, 300 degrees. Cook until meat is tender, between three and four hours for a three to five pound roast.

Matching Muff and Fur Hat Is Superb Accent

BY REA SEEGER.

Fur hats and matching muffs have come into fashion importance because of the fine accent such a flattering duet assures an otherwise simple suit or daytime dress. Starting with a dress or suit of fine quality severely fashioned and expertly fitted, virtually anything in the way of dramatics is possible with a fur hat and muff. Or you may choose a fur hat to match revers or cuffs on a suit or bands on a coat or the fabulously beautiful long doeskin gloves cuffed luxuriantly with fur.

The spotted glory of leopard is still stealing the fashion spotlights, with the exciting new striped splendor of zebra hide running in second place. Mink still is fashion perfection, in subtle combination with black. Beaver, nutria, sable dyed squirrel, caracul with a lovely moire pattern, all make exceptionally beautiful headlines on fall and winter hats.

Fur is used exactly like velvet or any other millinerial fabric. It is stretched smoothly over the wide off-the-face brims of halo hats, it's smoothed skilfully in medium brimmed models; deftly twisted, turned and knotted in exotic turbans and banded in the rakish Cossack type high hats.

Small pompadour bonnets likewise are of fur, sensational trifles of mink, sable, silver fox, cross fox, and blue fox, with such more extreme pelts of civet cat and spicy brown wolverine. Fur tails are used in making modern bonnets. Silver fox tails with snow white tips works into dramatic headpieces.

Unexpectedly modest prices prevail among the small fur trimmed hats that feature mere accents of fur. Pompoms, narrow face bands, bunches of tails, insets, and appliques, each just a snip of fur, are ideal fur trimmings for hats for the short streamlines and for the shoppers with limited budgets.

Small Children Undergo Period of Adjustment

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.
[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Probably one of the expressions most bandied about in connection with the behavior of children is "social adjustment." Yet if, when adorable small Susan, annoyed at something chubby Billy does, bowls him over, or leans down and bites his fat forearm, we describe it as a step in "social adjustment," it does sound somewhat ridiculous, doesn't it? Or perhaps slightly "highfalutin'"?

Still, that is what that behavior is. Those two little things are just beginning to learn to be together, to understand each what the other means, and to enjoy companionship by yielding at one point and holding out at another.

Even the acts we call "selfish" are not really selfish at this stage. That's a "moral" terminology we are likely to use about little human beings who are not yet acting from such motives.

It is very natural for a mother to dislike seeing her own child act so, to see a playmate hurt, and to be embarrassed before other mothers. But first, both mothers involved should try to understand what lies back of it.

Second, one should not rashly spank or punish the small offender to make the other mother think she is attending to the matter.

What is wisest, if no one is really hurt, is to ignore the scene. Also, try to adjust the cause of the trouble, if it has to do with the possession of toys, or taking turns on a small "bike" of some sort.

Then, all along the way, quiet explanations about sharing and not hurting another child are in order.

A certain amount of patience, tact and mutual forbearance on the part of the mothers involved is necessary during this time.

But if things get just "too hot," isolation may have to be resorted to. "If you are going to hurt Billy like that, you will have to stay away from him," is a logical statement, and usually is a real punishment to a sociable child.

To Wed or Not, Is Problem of Young Pastors

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 14.—To get married or not to get married? That's the question confronting newly ordained Episcopal ministers.

Sound advice on the matter is conflicting here at the triennial general convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the United States of America. On the one hand, the church's commission on salaries of clergy says that young clerics should lose little time not only in getting married but also in having families augmented by twins if possible.

"Don't do it for at least three years," said a resolution offered this morning by a lay delegate, Dr. W. S. Bowen of Washington, D. C.

The salary commission produced facts and figures, but Dr. Bowen called on long observation and experience.

"Too often I have seen promising careers of young ministers wrecked by marriage too soon after ordination," Dr. Bowen told the lower [deputies] house of the convention this morning. "Salaries are low enough as it is and many of our clergymen become street car conductors to meet the family budget. Others have been divorced by their wives for nonsupport.

"Many young married ministers contract heavy debts that are never repaid. Such things tend to lower our church's ministry in the eyes of the laymen. The United States Naval academy demands that its graduates remain unmarried for three years, and a bill now before congress will ask graduates of West Point to wait five years."

Against this view is pitted the report of the commission on salaries. Its studies show single men getting an average of $1,972 annually; married but no children, $2,467; with one child, $2,511; two children, $2,777; three children, $2,826; four children, $3,028, and five children and over get average salaries of $3,111.

"The commission is not actually sure what these figures prove," the report commented. "It might be concluded that the thing for a man to do if he wishes to get his salary raised is to marry and have a large family, after the second child attempting to have twins."

A Wasserman test for syphilis of all candidates for holy orders was recommended in the house of bishops of the convention by Bishop Edwin A. Penick of North Carolina. The resolution was sent to the house of deputies where it was allowed to die on the ground that the medical examination required of all candidates for holy orders would cover the test.

Lutherans Declare It Christians' Duty to Fight for Country

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 14 (AP).—A declaration that Christian citizens are duty bound to bear arms in defense of their country received the approval of the United Lutheran Church of America convention today.

The church, however, recognized the individual's right to conscientious objection to military service.

The issue stirred the convention to two hours' debate which ended with adoption of the executive board's recommendation, "It is the duty of the Christian citizen to obey and support lawful government," but proclaiming the church's respect for the principle of supreme moral responsibility of the individual conscience.

To the committee's recommendation the convention added a provision that communicant members who are conscientious objectors may file with the executive board a written statement of their position.

Opposed to the board's recommendation were memorials from several synods calling on the church to safeguard the convictions of conscientious objectors to military service.

LAST TUESDAY'S QUESTION.

Question 11: Neither side vulnerable, the bidding proceeds:

West	North	East	South
1 diamond	1 heart	Pass	3 hearts
Pass	3 no trump	4 diamonds	?

You are South, and hold:
♠ A J 9 6 ♥ 10 6 5 2 ♦ 3 ♣ K J 9 4
What call do you make?

Answer: Pass. This is a forcing pass, giving North the choice between doubling four diamonds and going to four hearts. North's three no trump bid strongly indicates that he may be prepared to "murder" four diamonds, and you must not rob him of that opportunity. Your three heart bid already has told North about the strength of your hand. [If you bid four hearts, take 15 points demerit; any other bid, take 40 points demerit.]

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question 17: Neither side vulnerable, the bidding proceeds:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	?

You are South, and hold:
♠ A K Q 9 5 ♥ 7 5 ♦ 6 5 3 ♣ 7 4 2

Question 18: Both sides vulnerable, the bidding proceeds:

North	East	South	West

You are South and hold:

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	2 diamonds	3 spades	Pass
4 spades	Pass	Pass	Pass

West opened the king of diamonds and followed with the ace, after which he switched to a club. South won with the ace, took out the adverse trumps, stripped the clubs and then led a heart from his own hand up to dummy.

West, meanwhile, had been doing some thinking. His Q-10 of hearts lying under dummy's A-J-9 did not look propitious. He saw that two heart tricks must be won to defeat the contract. There was only one hope: To fool declarer into believing that West held K-Q-x. So, on the first heart lead, West boldly put up the queen! Dummy's ace won; declarer returned to his hand with a trump and led a second heart up to the remaining J-9. West played the six and declarer had a tough guess. Naturally, he was suspicious, but he knew that West would have played just the same with K-Q-6, and the two diamond overcall made by West persuaded him to believe that both high honors were in West's hand. So he went up with dummy's jack, and lost the game!

Had West made the usual passive play of a low heart on the first lead of that suit, declarer undoubtedly would have played the nine, forcing East's king, for the loss of only one heart trick.

Margaret Stuart to Have Barn Dance for Her Debut.

Miss Margaret Stuart, daughter of the R. Douglas Stuarts of Lake Forest, has decided against having a conventional debut party. Her older sister, Miss Anne Stuart, had a tea and a dinner dance last season, but Miss Margaret Stuart has decided not to have anything more formal than a barn dance. It will be given at the Stuarts' farm near Millburn on Nov. 2.

Mr. and Mrs. James Norris of Lake Forest have decided to present their daughter, Eleanor, to society on Dec. 25 at a dinner dance, either at the Racquet or the Onwentsia club. Miss Norris, who was graduated from the Ethel Walker school in June, is studying art and science at Cornell university. Whether she will be at home to take part in the Thanksgiving time parties depends on when New York observes the holiday.

Mrs. John A. Spoor's home in North State parkway soon will take on the gay atmosphere of a generation ago when Mrs. Spoor's daughter, Mrs. Thornhill Broome, was making her debut. Mr. and Mrs. Broome's lively debutante daughters, Miss Betty and Miss Caryl Broome, are arriving from their home in Pass Christian, Miss., about the 28th for the debut parties here. They are to have a tea at Mrs. Spoor's on Nov. 12 and a supper dance at the Casino on Nov. 22.

Travelers' Aid Board Sets Benefit for Feb. 1.

The Woman's board of the Traveler's Aid society has taken the Casino club for the night of Feb. 1, 1941, when it will give a second "Globe Trotters Ball." The organization's first benefit, a similar party, was held last year. Mrs. Harry S. Vested is the new president of the group.

Raoul Josset, Chicago sculptor, will speak before members of the Cercle Francais this afternoon. His subject will be "Art in General and Sculpture in Particular."

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph David Uhlendorf of Skokie are being congratulated on the birth of their second son, Peter Lebrecht, on Sept. 30 at the Passavant hospital. The baby's brother, Ralph Jr., will be 3 on New Year's eve.

Feminine field hockey teams from St. Louis, Milwaukee, Madison, and several other towns will gather here on Nov. 9, 10, and 11 for the annual Chicago Field Hockey association tournament. The teams will have headquarters at the Windermere East hotel, and games will be played in Jackson park. The victorious team will represent this area in the national tournament to be played over the week-end of Nov. 21 in Williamsburg, Va.

One of the stars of the Chicago tournament will be Miss Lucy Jane Hedburg, of the North Shore association, who made the All-American team last year. Playing with Miss Hedburg for the North Shore will be Miss Marjorie Street, Miss Kitty Lawrence, Miss Josephine Otter, and Mrs. Warner Washburne, among others. There will be a tea in Ida Noyes hall on Nov. 9, following the games, and a banquet at the Windermere East to close the tournament.

San Carloans at Their Best in 'Butterfly'

BY EDWARD BARRY.

That American audiences are not becoming unduly chauvinistic even in these distracting times was demonstrated at the Auditorium last night when a big audience followed sympathetically the story of the trusting Japanese maiden and the tricky United States naval officer.

To be honest about the matter, tho, this performance of "Madame Butterfly" was so good that minor facts like the hue of the characters and the latitude and longitude of their birthplaces were brushed aside by the great universals of the story. Here, simply, were two human beings interpreting love in two differing ways and making a tragic failure of both their lives because of their inability to understand each other's viewpoint.

Puccini's rapturous music enkindled the members of the San Carlo Opera company to such a degree that they were able to do some of the best work of their careers. Hizi Koyke as Butterfly and Dimitri Onofrei as Pinkerton sang with a vehemence that carried everything before them. The two other chief rôles were in the knowing hands of Mario Valle [Sharpless] and Charlotte Bruno [Suzuki]. As always, Carlo Peroni conducted.

Programs have been announced for three of the all-ballet programs which the Ballet theater will give in the Civic Opera house during the Chicago Opera company's 1940 season. They are as follows:

Thursday evening, Nov. 7—"Italian Suite" [Cimarosa-Dolin], "Jardin aux Lilas" [Chausson-Tudor], "Gala Performance" [Prokofieff-Tudor] [first American performance].

Sunday afternoon, Nov. 10—"Les Sylphides" [Chopin-Fokine], "Peter and the Wolf" [Prokofieff-Bolm], "Jardin aux Lilas."

Thursday evening, Nov. 14—"Giselle" [Adam-Dolin], "Goyescas" [Granados-Tudor].

The Ballet theater will also appear with the opera company in all works requiring ballet.

Today is the last day on which purchases of opera subscription tickets may be made. Subscribers have the advantage of a permanent location the same night each week during the six week season.

Dorothy Maynor, the renowned colored soprano, will open the Winnetka Artist Recital series tomorrow evening. Artists and groups to come later in the season are Charles Kullman, tenor; the Coolidge String quartet; Anatol Kaminsky, violinist, and Josef Hofmann, pianist.

N. U. LOSES KEPFORD FOR GAME AT WISCONSIN

ILLINOIS HAILS BERNHARDT'S RETURN TO DUTY

May Face Michigan with Broken Hand.

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 14 [Special].—George Bernhardt, versatile 200 pound veteran of the Illinois football team, made a surprise appearance at today's first practice for Saturday's game with Michigan in Ann Arbor. Bernhardt, who suffered a broken hand during the conquest of Bradley two weeks ago, took his place at tackle with the second team.

Coach Bob Zuppke, anxious to marshal all his available strength in an effort to duplicate last year's upset victory over the Wolverines, would not say whether Bernhardt will play Saturday. Bernhardt, a guard for two seasons at Illinois, was shifted to full back in spring training and clinched the spot this fall. After Jimmy Smith, the team's offensive star, was forced out for the season with an injury, Bernhardt was rated as the team's outstanding back.

Siebold Is Promoted.

If he plays against Michigan, tho, it will be in the line, as he will be unable to handle the ball because of his injured hand. Zuppke declares Bernhardt's absence last Saturday was the difference between defeat and victory against Southern California. Bernhardt was a star back in high school at Riverside, a Chicago suburb.

Harry Siebold, senior guard, was advanced to the first team because of his excellent play against the Trojans. In other shifts today, Lavere Astroth, junior quarter back, was placed at right half, and Bill Kolens, substitute tackle, was moved to center. The changes were made to improve blocking and tackling.

Can They Stop Tom Again?

Zuppke's main problem, one which he met with amazing success last year, is to fashion a defense to stop Tom Harmon, Michigan's running back, who has scored ten touchdowns against three major opponents this season. The Gary, Ind., powerhouse gained only 45 yards in running plays against the Illini last year when the Wolverines lost, 16 to 7, a defeat that cost them the Western conference championship.

MICHIGAN IN VENGEFUL MOOD.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 14 [Special].—Michigan's football team already has enjoyed three big Saturdays in this brief football season—but this is the week the Wolverines have been waiting to roll around for almost a year.

Fritz Crisler and his coaching assistants didn't have to remind any one on Ferry field today that the opponent Saturday is Illinois—the team that wrecked Michigan's Western conference championship dreams last year.

Crisler told his men that tho they cut down California, Michigan State, and Harvard on successive Saturdays, the first real test will be furnished by the Illini. Some of the players still blame themselves for being overconfident last year when they entered Memorial stadium in Champaign on Nov. 4 and took a 16 to 7 beating. There will be no overconfidence this year.

Tho Michigan routed Harvard, 26 to 0, the coaches spotted some weak points in the squad's armor and set about to correct them today. Trainer Ray Roberts reported there were no major injuries and that the squad is in top condition.

Battered Cardinals Come Home Unbowed

The Chicago Cardinals football team came home last night after losing Sunday to the Washington Redskins in a battle that might have gone either way. Five Chicagoans were hurt in the game. Three of the injured are seen with Coach Jimmy Conzelman as they detrained at Union station. Left to right: Conzelman, Marshall Goldberg, Tony Blazine, and Joe Beinor. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Score Didn't Please Cards, but Now They've Seen Everything!

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

A battered, weary little band of Cardinals limped in from Washington last night. Tony Blazine hobbled down the Pullman steps on one leg and was hauled to a cab in a baggage truck. Marshall Goldberg rested one hand in a pocket to ease the weight on an injured shoulder. Joe Beinor said he was recovering fast and Gaynell Tinsley and Alton Coppage shuffled along under a burden of bruises. Ruppert Pate was left in Washington to have a dislocated wrist set.

Thus ended one of the most eventful pilgrimages ever taken by a National Football league team. To begin with, the Cardinals went to Washington without two regulars, Bill Dewell and Mario Tonelli, to engage the only unbeaten team in the National league. Then things began to happen.

Pate's Out Before Game.

Pate's father, mother and five brothers and sisters had made an overnight trip to the capital to see the pride of Wake Forest for the first time as a professional. Pate bumped into a Washington player and was carted off to the hospital. This was in the pregame practice.

Beinor was nearly dismembered on the opening kickoff and in the first quarter, which ended with Washington ahead, 14 to 7, Goldberg was knocked out. He got back in the second quarter and was knocked out again while the Cardinals were making two touchdowns to lead, 21 to 14. After Goldberg's withdrawal the Cardinals moved down to the Redskins' 17 yard line on the way to their third score of the period.

Coach Jimmy Conzelman looked up and found Bert Johnson, a full back, transformed into a blocking back playing left half back. A search of the bench revealed only two men in uniform. One was a guard and the other a tackle. The rest of the squad was either in the game or in the dressing room being taped together.

Instructions Get a New Twist.

Conzelman sent in the tackle to tell Johnson, who also was calling signals, to use only simple passes. In the first place, Johnson is not a passer, and in the second place, he did not know the left half back assignments. Conzelman wanted him to use only simple stuff to minimize the chance for error. The tackle reported to Johnson: "The coach said 'Hold the ball.'"

Washington beat off that threat, but the makeshift batch of cripples roared right back to the Redskins' 20 yard line, all without a left half back. Then in the fourth quarter, after Washington had tied the score on a third period touchdown, the Cardinals forced the Redskins to punt. There was a whistle on the punt and the Cardinals were penalized for holding, giving the Redskins a first down.

"Somebody Must Have Held."

"Who held?" Conzelman asked from the sidelines.

"I don't know," replied the official, "but I heard one of your guys say, 'Hold 'em, men,' so somebody must have held."

The next play was a pass, Frank Filchock to Bob Masterson. Lloyd Madden, a rookie half back, covered the Washington end expertly, but just as he reached up to bat down the ball, he tripped. Masterson made the catch for the touchdown that won, 28 to 21. But wait. There's more.

Hall's Fingers Too Short.

On the last play of the game, Hugh McCullough arched a high pass to John Hall, the Cardinals' rookie right half back. The gun went off as the ball was in the air. Hall lunged for the ball on the 1 yard line, but his fingers were just two inches too short. He felt the ball and a possible tie nip his finger tips as the ball fell to the ground.

To top it all off, the Cardinals' train was 1 hour and 15 minutes late last night and arrived in a rain storm. Everything happens to the Cardinals. They don't win many games but they'll have more to talk about in the off season than most National league teams.

Chicago Shares First, Last.

The week-end left Chicago with a share in first place in the western division and a share in last place in addition to the nucleus of a pretty fair football team in the hospital. It also strengthened the impression that sectional races for play-off berths will be two club fights with Chicago's chances of being represented none too secure.

After Coach George Halas had been notified that Bobby Swisher's broken ribs will keep the little half back out three weeks and Bill Osmanski had suffered nothing more severe than a headache, the Bear master turned his attention apprehensively toward offensive problems.

Detroit, in losing 7 to 0 in Wrigley field Sunday, made it obvious that

BILLY MARQUART STOPS PLEASANT IN SECOND ROUND

Billy Marquart, Winnipeg, Man., lightweight, knocked out Johnny Pleasant in the second round of their scheduled ten round bout last night in Marigold Gardens.

Marquart drove the 1939 Golden Gloves 135 pound champion partly thru the ropes in the first round. Pleasant suffered a nine count knockdown in the second before going down for the full count. Referee Norm McGarity completed his count after 2 minutes 47 seconds of the round had elapsed. Attendance was 1,307 and gross receipts were $1,559.97.

Leonard Bennett, Detroit welterweight, now making his home in Chicago, knocked out Tito Taylor in the seventh round of a semi-final. Mickey Hayes, Milwaukee heavyweight, was awarded a decision over Eddie Stanley of Terre Haute when Dr. Frank Lagorio, chief medical examiner for the Illinois athletic commission, refused to allow the Indianan to come out for the third round because of a cut eye. Sammy Secreet, Pittsburgh 152 pounder, stopped Al Beauhuld in the fourth round. In a four round opener, Matt Daugherty, junior welterweight, also of Milwaukee, and Al Jackson battled to a draw.

The Illinois Athletic commission yesterday granted Promoter Irving Schoenwald permission to hold a boxing show Nov. 18 in the Coliseum. The program will be headed by a 10 round bout between Milt Aron and Steve Mamakos, welterweight contenders.

The commission reported that the Chicago Stadium has not yet applied for a date on which to open the indoor season. Recently Bill Rand said he planned to offer the fall opening in the Stadium Nov. 15. The commission's allotment of Nov. 18 to Schoenwald, however, precludes the possibility of a show in the Stadium until later.

Comiskey Returns to Ring Tonight Against Cooper

New York, Oct. 14 [Special].—Pat Comiskey will make his first start since losing to Max Baer when he opposes Henry Cooper in a 10 round bout in the Bronx coliseum tomorrow night.

HUNTERS START FOR RIVER BLINDS TO AWAIT DUCKS

Sunrise Tomorrow Marks Season's Opening.

BY BOB BECKER.

Duck hunting in Illinois starts at sunrise tomorrow, so hundreds of Chicagoland sportsmen will be leaving today for the Illinois river marshes to make final preparations for their first waterfowl hunt of the 1940 season.

Shooting hours this year have been lengthened from sunrise to 4 p. m. for ducks, brant, geese, and coots [mudhens]. Snipe, rails, and gallinules may be hunted from sunrise to sunset during the 60 day season.

So large is the crowd of opening day hunters that owners of day shooting places along the Illinois river, where blinds, decoys, and boats may be leased for a daily fee, report a sellout of their facilities. Considering the amount of natural feed in the bottomlands and the birds expected from the north, Director of Conservation Thomas J. Lynch said yesterday that all indications pointed to one of the most successful seasons in years.

A Purge on Mudhens.

The hunters who like to shoot mudhens in the northern Illinois lake country anticipate some good sport tomorrow because several thousand of these birds have arrived. The authorities are encouraging hunters to shoot mudhens this fall because they are so plentiful, and also because they're consuming much food that otherwise would be available to the ducks.

The Illinois duck season opens just as the latest report from the Canadian duck marshes is received with the good news on the 1940 census of waterfowl. According to the final checkup, 70,861,000 ducks are going to come south. Ducks Unlimited, the organization that has had hundreds of investigators in three Canadian provinces to count the birds, is the authority for the statement that better than 70,000,000 waterfowl now are on the wing as compared to the estimated 59,000,000 plus that migrated southward last season.

18.7 Per Cent Increase.

The 1940 increase is about 18.7 per cent, which means that hunters ought to see more birds in the marshes this fall and get better hunting if the weatherman brings some real duck weather.

Altho hunters who go down the Illinois to shoot tomorrow morning will find enough birds in most of the marshes to keep their guns busy, the early flights of northern ducks have been light due to the mild weather up north. With lower temperatures now prevailing along the Canadian boundary, the big ducks are beginning to head southward, so shooting should be much improved within the next 10 days.

DEL BAKER SIGNS FOR 1941 AND GETS CAR FOR A BONUS

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 14 (AP).—Del Baker, manager of the Detroit Tigers, today signed a contract to pilot the American league champions in 1941. Salary terms were not disclosed, but Baker, it was announced, received a substantial raise. Owner Walter O. Briggs had come to terms with Baker during the world series.

Baker, who also was given an automobile by Briggs, said he would leave soon on a business trip to the west coast.

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

WHEN baseball writers at the world series asked Joe Cronin if he would consider the Cleveland managership, he replied, "No, but I'll tell you what I'll do. I'll dig up a manager for you and I'll guarantee him to be as good as any manager in the world. Then I'll trade him to Alva Bradley for Bob Feller." . . . Two Southern California football stars of 1940 have gained even greater renown in other sports. . . . Quarter Back Bob Peoples is the holder of the American javelin throw record at 234 feet 1¾ inches and was both N. C. A. A. and I. C. 4-A champion in 1939. . . . Right End Tom McGarvin was all-Pacific Coast guard in basketball last spring. . . . Pat O'Brien, who plays the title rôle in the motion picture, "Knute Rockne—All-American," had one of the shortest careers in modern golf. . . . While he was playing opposite Helen Hayes in "Coquette" in Cleveland in the '20s, he was invited to take up the game. . . . He borrowed a local player's clubs, including a pet driver. . . . Pat says his first swing smashed the club's shaft, the clubhead traveling farther than the ball. . . . O'Brien's fairway career ended then and there. . . . The University of Iowa's football team was called the Cornhuskers six years before Nebraska adopted the name in 1900. . . . Ed Barrows, star full back at the University of Maine, is the son of the governor. . . . Mike Jacobs, sworn enemy of the National Boxing association, will promote bouts in Washington, site of the association's headquarters, this winter. . . . To make matters worse, he threatens to match Max Baer with Joe Louis as his first offering. . . . Billy Werber was the only member of the Reds who ever had played in Briggs stadium prior to the 1940 world series. . . . Don Ameche and Mrs. Ameche, who attended the Notre Dame-Georgia Tech game last Saturday, will remain for the Notre Dame-Carnegie Tech contest this week-end. . . .

The finest press box in the National Football league is in Detroit, where Coach Gus Dorais of the University of Detroit has erected a penthouse atop the stadium. . . . It provides hot and cold running water, indirect lighting, steam heat, and a sandwich salon. . . . Bobby Thomas of Kenosha, who retired recently after eight years of six-day bicycle racing, has obtained a position with an industrial concern in his home town and is building a home for his wife and 3 year old daughter, Diana. . . . Marjorie Gestring, national outdoor 10-foot board diving champion, has enrolled at Stanford. . . . Helen Crienkovich, the ex-titleholder, will enter California next fall. . . . Ernie Nevers, considered by many the greatest back ever developed at Stanford, was embarrassed when Coach Clark Shaughnessy asked him to say a few words to the 1940 squad. . . . "What can I say?" pleaded Nevers, "I played at Stanford when these boys were 3 and 4 years old. I'm supposed to be a legend and I'm not 40 yet." . . . Fritzie Zivic of Pittsburgh, the new world welterweight champion, takes personal charge of purchasing his fighting gloves. . . . Alex Moffett, Princeton half back, kicked two field goals with his right foot against Harvard in 1883 and then, to prove his versatility, booted a couple with his left. . . . A field goal counted five points in those days so Moffett was quite the hero of a 26 to 7 triumph.

The Bare Facts.

The Wake's forecasts of last week's college football games resulted in 57 victories, 17 defeats, and 4 ties. The season record is 184 victories, 51 defeats, and 15 ties. Percentage, .783.

VETERAN BACK MAY BE OUT FOR SEVERAL WEEKS

Suffers Shoulder Separation.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Northwestern's football hopes, at high tide following the victory over Ohio State, suffered a severe jolt last night when X-ray examination revealed Ira Kepford, regular right half back, had suffered a shoulder separation against the Buckeyes and will be lost for the Wisconsin game at Madison Saturday.

Ike Kepford.

Kepford, the only one of the 22 Wildcats who opposed Ohio State to suffer a serious injury, had been counted as lost for the Wisconsin game earlier in the day, but last night's findings make it probable that Northwestern will have to get along without the veteran for more than one week.

Anouncement of his injury came just when Coach Lynn Waldorf hoped to be better fortified in the back field with the return of Paul Soper, full back, and Red Hahnenstein, half back, both of whom were unable to oppose Ohio State.

Be Kind, History.

Northwestern, having beaten Ohio State, now hopes history will not repeat itself.

Two years ago, after Northwestern defeated Minnesota, 6 to 3—the identical score of Saturday's victory over Ohio State—the Wildcats were whipped by Wisconsin.

Without intent to disparage Wisconsin, it probably will be accepted as a truth by most observers that the Northwestern team which defeated Ohio State should whip the Wisconsin team that lost to Iowa. Unfortunately for prognosticators, one of the most important factors, frequently quite intangible, is the individual desire to win.

Can Make the Difference.

This isn't to say that Northwestern's players may not desire to beat Wisconsin. The margin, however, between lip service to victory and the flaming spirit with which the Wildcats entered the Ohio State game easily can be the difference between conquest and defeat.

Coaches speak of this spirit with such colloquialisms as having the team "fired up" or the "boys on their toes." Even the professionals refer to this enthusiasm as the "college try."

The physical sag after the strain of such a game is so great that many coaches believe a team cannot be brought to peak performance more than twice in a campaign. It also is true that against some opponents no effort is required to enthuse the players.

Based on Tradition.

When Ohio State and Michigan, Indiana and Purdue, or Illinois and Michigan meet, for examples, the rivalry is based on tradition which permits no let down.

Then, too, the victor always is vulnerable to over confidence, a mental handicap which short circuits best efforts. From this situation comes Illinois' defeat of Michigan last year or a continued chain of victories by Iowa when each succeeding opponent refused to believe it could happen again.

The 1938 season affords an excellent example of a round robin of victory. Northwestern defeated Minnesota, 6 to 3. Wisconsin defeated Northwestern, 20 to 13. Minnesota defeated Wisconsin, 21 to 0. The victor in each case was at its peak mentally. It was keyed for that game in particular.

The Title Is Lost.

Northwestern lost the conference title when defeated by Wisconsin, for the Wildcats had played scoreless ties with Michigan and Ohio State. Wisconsin lost the title when beaten by Minnesota for the Badgers previously had been whipped by Purdue.

Northwestern also faces a problem which will be increasingly acute. It is lack of reserves. When only three important changes are made in the personnel of the line it indicates without question that material is limited.

Moreover, Wisconsin can play better football than it showed in the second half against Iowa. The Badgers' quick thrusts thru the air [they scored twice in the first half against Iowa] may riddle a secondary not keenly intent on its duties.

Baer Brothers to Register for Draft in Chicago

Sacramento, Cal., Oct. 14 (AP).—Max Baer, who left today for a musical comedy tryout in New York, will stop in Chicago Wednesday to register for the draft, he said. Buddy Baer, 26 year old brother of the 31 year old ex-heavyweight champion, also will register in Chicago. Manager Ancil Hoffman will seek several fights for the younger Baer in the east.

DORA MAY GETS AROUND THOSE SLIPPERY TURNS

She Beats Tony Weaver in Sportsman's Feature.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Dora May, a seven year old mare which has been one of the regulars in the Chicago area racing for several seasons, sloshed around the slippery turns of Sportsman's Park to win the Maywood claiming purse, which drew the best field on yesterday's program at the popular half mile course. Dora May, which is owned by Gus Simone, finished a length in advance of Tony Weaver, while the 9 to 5 favorite Anopheles was taking third money.

In her last start, Dora May had shown a liking for racing on half mile tracks. She had been beaten by only a nose. Accordingly she was well backed yesterday. She was second choice in the betting at a little better than 2 to 1. Her prices were $6.40, $4.20 and $2.40 across the board.

Voilee II Throws Rider.

A field of five went to the post in this six and a half furlong event, but only four finished. Voilee II, a 17 to 1 shot, slipped and threw her rider during the run down the back stretch. The boy, Joe Hernandez, was shaken up, but wasn't seriously hurt.

Jockey Andy LoTurco rushed Dora May to the front immediately after the break and kept her running at a good clip around the precarious turns. With rain beating in her face, she continued to withstand the strong challenges of Tony Weaver and Sassy Mate as they splattered past the stands and around the clubhouse turn. Anopheles was running fourth, fairly close to the rail.

Favorite Weakens in Drive.

Anopheles waited for an opening all the way down the back stretch and around the last turn. As they approached the stretch, he found a clear path along the rail and Jockey T. P. Martin drove him up for a strong bid. The footing turned out to be a bit too sticky, however, and the favorite weakened in the final drive. Meanwhile Dora May held command during the run thru the stretch and Tony Weaver regained second place as Anopheles tired.

The first two races set the pattern for the day, an outsider, The Chord, and a well backed horse, Sylvan Dell, making up a $61.60 daily double. Thereafter the short-priced ones kept alternating with those which carried more generous odds.

The Chord Returns $25.40.

The Chord, racing at odds of nearly 12 to 1, got up in the closing stages to beat Grandma's Boy by a head in the first race. He returned $25.40, $12.20 and $6.60 across the board. His colleague in the production of the double, Sylvan Dell, had an equally difficult time getting up. She won by a nose from Town Lace and paid $5.40, $3.20 and $2.60.

NEW YORK WILL GAIN $6,000,000 BY PARI-MUTUELS

New York, Oct. 14 (AP).—Chairman Herbert Bayard Swope of the New York state racing commission today estimated the first year of the pari-mutuel system will yield the state around $6,000,000 in presenting several suggestions to the joint legislative committee studying the pari-mutuel law.

With 22 days to go, the total handle has been $89,748,409 on which the take has been $8,974,840.90 and the breakage, $724,979.15. The state's share at 5 per cent comes to $4,849,910.54 to which is added the state tax on admissions of about $342,368 and the $69,924 in uncashed tickets.

The commission suggested the breakage be reduced to the penny instead of to the dime and that all, or part of the fund from uncashed tickets be turned over to a board to be created for the indigent and infirm of New York racing.

72 ICE FOLLIES SKATERS ARE DUE TO ARRIVE TODAY

Seventy-two figure skaters of the Shipstad and Johnson Ice Follies will arrive in Chicago this afternoon for the revue's opening tomorrow night in the Chicago Arena. The show will continue for 13 days.

Included in the cast are the producer-stars, Oscar Johnson, Eddie and Roy Shipstad; Bess Ehrhardt, Evelyn Chandler, Bruce Mapes, Frick and Frack, the Swiss comedians, Colson and Claudet, and Papez and Zwack.

The troupe will hold a tuneup rehearsal at 5 o'clock this afternoon to adapt its routines to the size of the Arena ice.

NOMINATIONS FOR 3 CHICAGO STAKES CLOSE TONIGHT

Arlington, Washington to Co-ordinate Schedules.

Nominations close tonight for three Chicago major 1941 stakes. They are the Classic at Arlington Park, and the American Derby and Futurity at Washington Park. The two 3 year old stakes have an added money value of $40,000 each. The juvenile event carries a purse of $20,000. Mioland won this year's running of the American Derby, and the Washington Park Futurity was taken by Porter's Cap, both owned by Charles S. Howard. This year's Classic was won by Sirocco, owned by Charles T. Fisher.

The Arlington Park and Washington Park Jockey clubs again will co-ordinate their racing schedules. The three fixtures which close tonight are only a part of the stake offerings. Two other Arlington stakes, the Lassie and the Futurity, with $10,000 and $20,000 added respectively, already are closed. Washington Park's third big stake, which will have a late closing date, is the $25,000 added Washington Park handicap.

Conditions for the Arlington Classic next year have been changed. Previously, owners nominated their charges as yearlings. More than 400 nominations under the old conditions were received and when the change was made to allow nominations as 2 year olds, these fees were refunded. Owners whose fees were returned must make new nominations by midnight tonight.

Nominations for the Classic, American Derby and Washington Park Futurity should be sent to the two jockey clubs at 120 South La Salle street. Telegraphic nominations sent before midnight tonight or letters bearing today's postmark will be accepted.

GOPHERS BEAR DOWN IN DRILLS FOR BUCKEYES

Stress Defense Against Ohio Passes.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 14 [Special].—The Minnesota football team started bearing down today in preparation for Saturday's battle with Ohio State in Columbus.

Forward pass defense again was the most important item, after a full offensive drill Saturday. Added necessity for a pass defense was stressed by Dallas Ward, who scouted the Buckeyes for the third straight week as they lost to Northwestern.

The Gophers will leave Thursday, staying in Dayton, O., before moving into Columbus.

OHIO IN GOOD SPIRITS.

Columbus, O., Oct. 14 [Special].—Ohio State took it rather easy in today's practice and seemed to be in good spirits despite defeat by Northwestern.

Coach Francis Schmidt said that the Northwestern team "just played better ball—all afternoon." After looking at pictures of the game the Buckeyes went thru a light offensive drill, tapering off with defensive formations to be used against the Minnesota Gophers here Saturday.

All of the Buckeyes were in good physical condition. Jim Strausbaugh is expected to resume his starting position at left half against the Gophers. He played only three minutes against Northwestern.

BADGERS' LINE BATTERED.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 14 [Special].—Wisconsin players who carried the brunt of the losing fight at Iowa will take it easy this week, but Coach Harry Stuhldreher indicated second and third stringers will get plenty of contact work in preparation for the Northwestern game here Saturday.

Several Badgers, including George Paskvan and Tommy Farris, backs, and Dick Embick, Dick Thornally, and Al Lorenz, linemen, were badly used up by the combination of a tough Hawkeye line and the intense heat in Iowa City.

Mark Hoskins, sophomore left half back, who saw little action against Iowa because of a bruised heel, will be ready Saturday. His home town teammate, Dave Schreiner, end, who was not used against the Hawkeyes, also will be ready. It also was announced that Bob Baumann, sophomore end, is likely to regain eligibility in time to face the Wildcats.

George Paskvan, full back, will captain Wisconsin against Northwestern Saturday. Coach Stuhldreher appointed him today. Paskvan also was captain for the Marquette game.

RAIN HALTS NOTRE DAME.

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 14 [Special.—Notre Dame's football squad went to the movies today as rain caused cancellation of practice. The Irish looked at pictures of last year's Carnegie Tech game, which Notre Dame won, 7 to 6. Tomorrow they will see the film version of the 26 to 20 victory over Georgia Tech. Carnegie plays here Saturday.

While pleased with the offensive punch of the first team, Coach Elmer Layden found enough things wrong with his squad so there will be no letdown this week. Georgia Tech returned kickoffs 203 yards, one of them 90 yards for a touchdown, and ran three punts back 40 yards for a total return of 243 yards, while Notre Dame returned 8 kicks only 95 yards.

Cliff Brosey, junior letterman right tackle with the second team, is out for five or six weeks with a broken fibula in his right leg. Henry Schrenkev, No 3 left guard, suffered some broken cartilage in his nose but will be able to play this week.

It is hoped that Anthony Girolami, sophomore quarter back, will be ready for this week's game, he having missed two because of injuries.

LINE WORRIES MARQUETTE.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 14 [Special].—Rain slowed up Marquette university's football practice today, but it did not prevent Coach Paddy Driscoll from giving his squad a full report on Creighton, which will be met in Omaha Saturday.

Driscoll scouted Creighton last Saturday. He learned Crighton's line will outweigh Marquette's 10 pounds to the man next Saturday.

BUDWEISERS LOSE THREE BUT HOLD BOWLING LEAD

The Budweisers lost three straight games to the 3,087 total of the Mineralites last night, yet retained a one game lead in the Windy City Major Bowling league. The Bireley Beverages, the Joseph Gills, and the Furman Funerals were tied for second. The Bireley team scored 3,000 but lost two games to the Nonebetters.

Bud Wright of the Mineralites rolled high individual series of 657. Joe Fliger of the Mineralites and Carl Hooge of the Houcek Senators were one pin behind. Scores:

Chicago Gunners Sign Three Ex-College Stars

Fred Mundee, former Notre Dame center; Bill Shauers, captain and end of the 1939 Detroit university team, and Jim Buechel, former Northwestern end, have signed with the Chicago Gunners, professional football team, and will play their first game tomorrow night when the Gunners meet the Indianapolis Boilermakers in Rand stadium, 75th street and Euclid avenue.

THE GUMPS—TROUBLE AHEAD

HAWKEYES SEEK A DEFENSE FOR INDIANA PASSES

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 14 [Special].—Iowa, victorious over Wisconsin Saturday in its first Western conference game of the season, took things comparatively easy today after a warning by Dr. Eddie Anderson of hard work ahead for Saturday's battle with Indiana in Bloomington.

None of the Hawkeyes was injured seriously in the Badger contest, altho Capt. Mike Enich suffered a broken nose and Al Couppee, quarter back, jammed his injured shoulder again.

The squad was given a chalk talk yesterday and went over weaknesses in last week's game. Signal drill and dummy blocking was the main business today. The squad will concentrate on pass defense later in the week to counter the aerial minded Hoosiers. That the Iowa defense is weak can be illustrated by the two Badger scores by air.

TWO HOOSIERS INJURED.

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 14 [Special].—Starting preparations for their first conference game of the season against Iowa Saturday, the Indiana varsity held a light signal drill today. Reserves scrimmaged the freshman team.

The Hoosiers suffered two casualties in losing to Nebraska Saturday. Joe Tofil, leading ground gainer of last season's squad, incurred a shoulder injury, while Dwight Gahm, regular center, suffered a leg bruise. Both are expected to be ready for the Iowa game. Head Coach Bo McMillin mapped defense strategy for the Hawkeyes after Assistant Coaches E. C. Hayes and Billy Thom reported on Iowa's conquest of Wisconsin, which they scouted.

McMillin is encouraged over the offensive showing of Indiana against Nebraska in the last half when the ground and aerial attack were effectively coördinated. "I still believe we are going to win a game," he commented.

TWO PURDUE STARS HURT.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 14 [Special].—Injuries incurred in the losing battle with Michigan State are apt to be more costly to Pudue's fight for football recognition than the defeat itself.

The Boilemakers, who have an open date Saturday, resumed drill today for the homecoming game against Wisconsin here on Oct. 26 minus the services of their two outstanding stars, Capt. Dave Rankin, end, and Mike Byelene, right half back. Both were so seriously injured early in the Spartan battle that they will be out of action for an indefinite period.

BROWNS DRAFT BOB ESTALELLA FROM MILLERS

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 14 (AP).—Roberto Estalella, 27 year old outfielder who formerly played with the Washington Senators, has been drafted by the Browns from Minneapolis, where he batted .342 and was one of the leading sluggers this season. Confirmation of the draft was received today from Commissioner Landis' office.

Swedish Angel Throws Olson in 23 Minutes

The Swedish Angel threw Olaf Olson with a series of body slams in 23 minutes and 9 seconds last night in White city. George Dusette and Oki Shikina wrestled to a 30 minute draw. Ralph Garibaldi tossed Pat Rooney, and Kid Chapman pinned Tony Bernardi.

TERRY AND THE PIRATES—GET PAID UP OR LAID UP

'40 Attendance Sets American League Record

An all-time American league attendance record was set in the season just closed and the Chicago White Sox had a hand in it.

Will Harridge, president of the league, reported yesterday the home attendance of the eight clubs was 5,433,791. This shattered a 16 year old record of 5,255,439 by 178,352. The 1940 total exceeded last year's figures by 1,163,189.

The White Sox paid attendance was 660,336, the seven night games attracting 214,760, or almost a third as much as the 70 daylight battles. Average for the night contests was 30,680, highest in the league. Cleveland averaged 30,159 at its after dark games. The Sox attendance last year, in round numbers, was 592,000.

Close Race Helped.

Poor weather conditions held down attendance early this year, but the lost ground was more than made up by the decline of the Yankees and the open race that resulted for the championship, Harridge pointed out.

The league president said that the 35 night games attracted 634,228, for an average of 18,121. The Browns, who played 14 under the bulbs, had an average of 8,364. The Browns more than doubled their 1939 attendance. Harridge intimated that this club would be limited next year to seven night games, maximum number under the league rules. The Browns received special dispensation the past season when lights were installed in Sportsman's park.

Calls Night Games Novelty.

"The tremendous appeal of night baseball is due to the novelty of it," said Harridge. "We want to keep it that way."

Paid attendance, club by club, in 1940:

Detroit	1,112,693
New York	988,975
Cleveland	902,576
Boston	716,234
Chicago	660,336

70 THOROBREDS BRING $28,150 AT LEXINGTON SALE

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 14 (AP).—Seventy thorobred horses brought $28,150, an average of $402 per head, at the opening session of the Lexington sales today.

Walter P. Chrysler of New York, who is here doing his own bidding, called out the top price, $3,800 for the 7 year old Sir Gallahad III. mare, Marsh Marigold, owned by W. H. La Boyteaux.

Leo Works on a Defense for St. Rita Star

The Leo High school football team, preparing for its charity game in Stagg field Sunday for the benefit of the Sisters of Mercy, is devoting considerable of its time to finding ways and means of bottling up Bill Ruby, flashy St. Rita half back.

The Lions, unbeaten in four previous Mercy charity games, believe that their best chance to keep this record clear is to watch Ruby closely. The St. Rita junior is one of the most dangerous men in Catholic prep circles and the Leo squad is being drilled in anti-Ruby defensive tactics this week by Coatch Whitey Cronin.

To match Ruby's all around effectiveness Leo will center its offensive around Babe Baronowski, quarter back; Bob Hanlon and Tom McDonald, half backs, and Bob Kelly, full back. Bob Richter, the only senior in the back field, handles the brunt of the blocking assignments from the right half back position.

Leo elevens always have played their best games of the year in the Mercy charity contests. Last year Leo had not won a game prior to the charity contest, but rose up and held Rita to a 7 to 7 tie in that game. Two years ago Leo scored a major upset when it defeated De La Salle, then apparently headed for the Catholic league championship, 20 to 6.

The two previous years, sparked by Johnny Galvin, now a star in the Purdue back field, Leo had an easier time in winning. St. Mel was beaten in 1937, 26 to 6, and in the previous game Leo defeated St. Philip, 32 to 0.

K. C. Softball Champions to Be Honored Tonight

Hughes council of the west side, Knights of Columbus softball champions, will be guests of honor tonight at the order's eighth annual softball banquet in the Knickerbocker hotel.

Harmon Leads Nation's Scorers with 69 Points

New York, Oct. 14 (AP).—Michigan's Tommy Harmon, the nearest thing to a one man football team the 1940 season has yet produced, is as far ahead of his rivals in the race for national scoring honors this season as he usually is ahead of the players who try to stop his touchdown runs.

In three games, Tommy has scored ten touchdowns and kicked the extra points after nine for a total of 69 points. The Wolverines have scored only 88 points and Harmon has pitched passes for two touchdowns. Nearest to Harmon is an unheralded player from a little West Virginia school, Eddie Pielich of West Liberty State Teachers. He has made eight touchdowns, four against Glenville State last Saturday, for a 48 point total.

ELWARD LAUDS INGWERSEN FOR N. U.'S LINE PLAY

Mal Elward of Purdue, and Bert Ingwersen of Northwestern, two coaches whose football teams underwent varying fortunes in last Saturday's games, led the parade of speakers yesterday at the weekly Quarter Back's club luncheon in the Terrace room of the Morrison hotel. Other speakers included John Schommer, Dick Hanley, and George McAfee and Joe Mihal of the Chicago Bears.

Elward, whose Boilermakers have lost two hard games in the last two week-ends, one to Ohio State, 17 to 14, in the last 20 seconds, and another to Michigan State by a 21 to 14 count, said the Spartans hit harder than the Buckeyes. He also paid tribute to Ingwersen's work in coaching the Northwestern line to its fine performance against Ohio State.

Movies of the Northwestern-Ohio game were shown at the Quarter Back gathering, as well as the Wailing Wall, Monday noon rallying point for alumni of 25 universities in the Bal Tabarin of the Sherman hotel.

Nothing Will Surprise the Cardinals Now

the Bears must improve in a hurry if they are to keep Green Bay from qualifying for its third consecutive playoff assignment. Sustained offense still was conspicuous by its absence. Defensively the Bears showed to advantage, altho their record for the afternoon might have been less impressive against a better passing attack.

Green Bay moved along efficiently with its aerial attack producing four touchdowns in a 31 to 14 victory over Cleveland, the team which came within one missed assignment of tying the Bears the week before.

Redskins Still Unbeaten.

Down east Washington still remains unbeaten, but in its second encounter with a western division team the mighty Redskin scoring machine left anything but an impression of invincibility. The Redskins took a licking from Green Bay in an exhibition game four days after the Packers had gone thru the All-Star contest. Then against the Cardinals, probably the weakest team in the western section, they had to go down to the last half to squeeze out a triumph.

Brooklyn won its second game from Pittsburgh, rolling over the Steelers, 21 to 0, with a well balanced running and passing attack. Dr. Jock Sutherland makes his Chicago debut as a coach in the pro league Sunday and with the Bears in mind, he did not put much pressure on the Dodgers in preparation for the return match with Pittsburgh.

New York managed to beat Davey O'Brien and the Philadelphia Eagles, staying one-half game behind the Dodgers in the eastern division, but barring the complete collapse of Washington and Brooklyn, the Giants cannot be taken seriously in the championship race.

COMMERCIALIZED FOOTBALL IS HIT BY YALE OFFICIAL

Athletic Chairman Sees Lean Years Ahead.

New York, Oct. 14 (AP).—Commercialized big time football was put on the pan today by Ogden D. Miller, new chairman of the athletic council at Yale, once the biggest of the big-timers.

Fresh from witnessing Old Eli's 50 to 7 defeat by Penn, on top of a 19 to 14 loss to Virginia in the opening game, Miller told the New York Football Writers association that "college athletics and even school athletics in my opinion are at a critical stage. . . . Intercollegiate football is now reaching a peak of emphasis in many colleges which it reached elsewhere many years ago.

Graver Problems Ahead.

"I believe there will be a decline or leveling-off in the next several years and that even graver problems are ahead for some who will have to consolidate and retrench drastically. Professional football is one signpost along the way; those who nurture the golden hope of continued high revenues in the future are, I fear, headed for trouble.

"Until the problem resolves itself Yale, and others, may be in for lean years. We believe we are on the right track. We believe we will carry thru and merit public respect."

Miller conceded football receipts had made a "contribution for good" in "providing of funds to make possible athletics for all."

"Beyond that gift to college opportunities," he declared "I would like to have some one list for me other tangible benefits it has brought. Big time football doesn't increase the educational stature of any institution; it doesn't make loyal alumni; it doesn't bring increased gifts to the alumni fund or to class funds except in a few isolated cases.

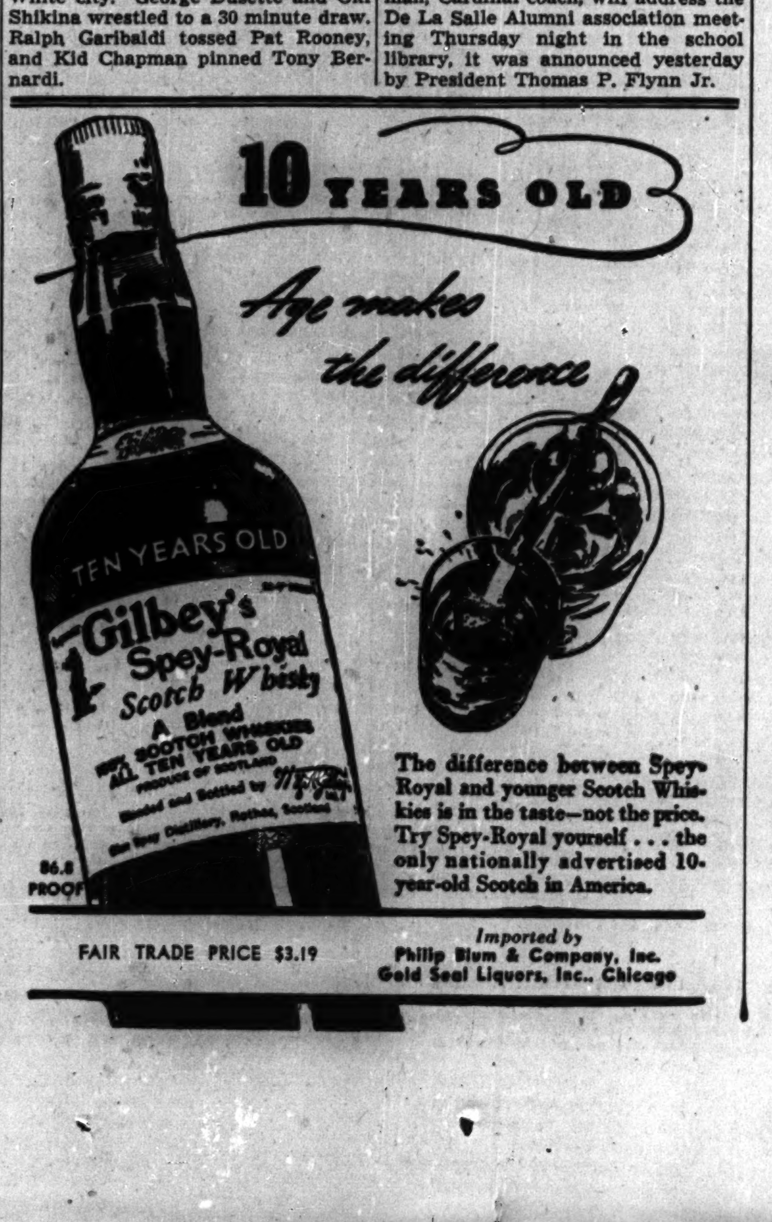
Sports Will Be Continued.

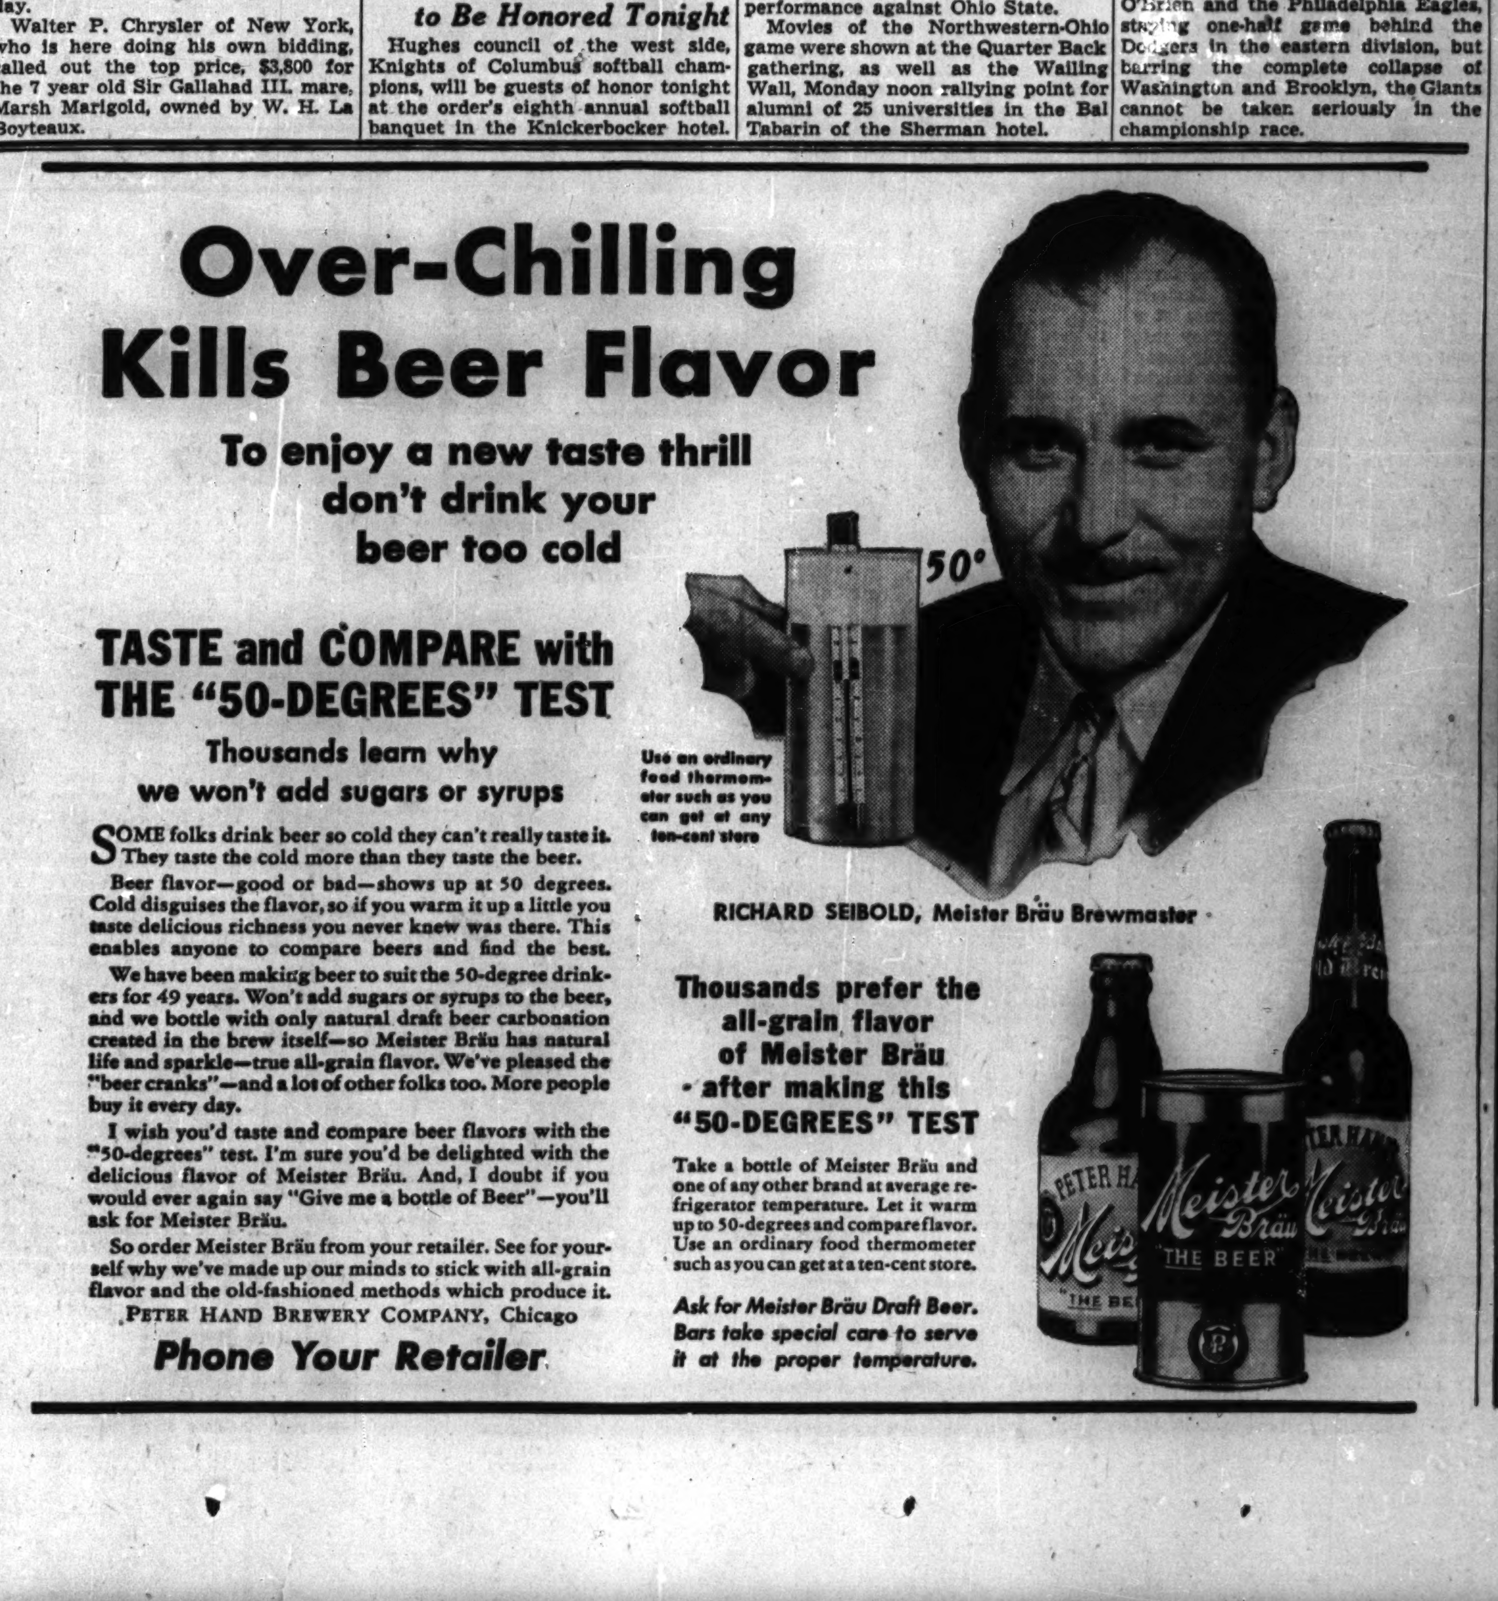
"Even the sports it helps to carry," he continued, "were carried before the days of astronomical gate receipts. . . . Acceptance of recreation skills as a normal and valuable part of collegiate training was the result of a changed philosophy of education in America. Comprehensive programs would undoubtedly be carried out tomorrow in many institutions if gate receipts from football were reduced sharply. . . .

"There will always be intercollegiate contests at Yale; all of our sports will be continued to every possible degree. If economic conditions force us to retrench we will retrench in places were the fewest students will be affected and where the essentials of our total program will be least impaired."

Sheridan-Wilson Bowler Gets 300 and 790 Total

C. Peters, bowling in the Sheridan-Wilson Business Men's league at the Sheridan-Wilson drives last night, shot games of 238, 300, and 232 for a 790 total.





GRAIN MARKETS RISE FURTHER, SOME TO PEAKS

Wheat Ends About ¾ Cent a Bushel Higher.

Grain markets advanced again yesterday with steadiness in securities and increased "tightness" in the cash wheat situation the main factors. Wheat advanced around ¾ cent to a new high since last June on the December delivery and closing sales on the Chicago Board of Trade were ½ to ¾ cent higher.

Corn futures closed ⅝ to 1 cent higher on buying said to have resulted from an active demand from eastern states. Shipping sales were 348,000 bushels. Oats finished unchanged to ⅛ cent lower. July oats sold at a new seasonal high early. Rye was ⅛ to ¼ cent higher.

Soy Beans at New Highs.

New seasonal high prices were paid on the December and May deliveries of soy beans. Futures closed 2⅝ to 3⅝ cent: higher on large commission house buying.

Houses with southwestern and northwestern cash grain connections sold wheat futures on the advance, resulting in a belief that farmers had parted with some of their surplus grain. This selling, however, was largely offset by buying attributed to mills.

The carryover of old corn from the 1939-'40 season into the current crop year is approximately 680,000,000 bushels, a Commodity Credit corporation report indicated yesterday. The total includes 555,000,000 bushels stored on farms; 116,000,000 bushels owned by the government and 8,000,000 bushels privately owned and held at terminal markets. This compares with a carryover of 572,000,000 bushels on Oct. 1, 1939, which was the largest on record prior to this year.

Government to Get More.

Included in the government owned stock of corn is 60,000,000 bushels in steel bins; 33,000,000 bushels at terminal markets; 17,000,000 bushels in rail transit; 4,000,000 bushels in sub-terminals; 1,500,000 bushels held in the Pacific northwest and 3,000,000 bushels in country elevators.

Farmers have until Oct. 31 to complete delivering corn to the government in satisfaction of their loans on the 1938 and 1939 crops. When the deliveries are completed, statisticians estimate that the government holdings in all positions may be swelled to around 150,000,000 bushels.

Butter Futures Prices Dip; Cash Market Holds Firm

Butter futures receded 0.20 to 0.25 cent a pound on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday. Dealings, marked by transfer operations between delivery months, were fairly active and the cash market continued firm. November deliveries closed with the smaller loss at 28.85 cents. Egg futures declined 0.05 to 0.10 cent a dozen.

DAY by DAY on the FARM
By HOMER J. NEISZ

16 Rams to Be Sold.

Oct. 14, 1940.

SIXTEEN pure bred Southdown rams from the Du Page county farm flock are to be sold this fall for breeding stock. They are from last spring's lamb crop and were kept for breeding because the flockmaster considered them too valuable to be fattened for market. He thinks they are the best lambs ever raised at the farm.

The rams have excellent breeding. They are uniform in size and conformation and are out of a fine flock of ewes, with blood from leading Southdown flocks of the United States, Canada, and England.

All the rams were sired by Down South, a full brother of the ram that was declared champion yearling Southdown at the 1936 International Live Stock exposition and which won 23 first and championship prizes at 25 major shows thruout the country that year.

Winner of Many Prizes.

Down South also made the show circuits as a yearling and won many prizes in his class. At the Tennessee State fair he was given reserve grand championship over all ages, being beaten only by his famous brother.

The flockmaster thought that by selling the rams for breeding they not only should bring more money than if fattened as wethers and sent to market, but also would enable other flockowners to obtain good sires at reasonable prices. Any that are not sold this fall are to be kept at the farm over winter and sold next spring or summer. They sell better as yearlings.

The farm workers continue to find new uses for a Diesel powered, crawler type tractor that they have used for more than a year. It is a powerful machine and has a big scoop mounted on the front for moving dirt. It looks clumsy, but really is most agile when properly handled. The men maneuver it easily into and out of places that seem impossible for it to go, and make it perform all sorts of hard tasks that would be sheer drudgery without it.

Brooder House Scooped Up.

Last week they were moving a large brooder house across the farm to one of the poultry yards. Instead of jacking up the house, corner at a time, to put skids under it they just raised one side with the tractor scoop and held it at a convenient height while the skids were pushed underneath. Then the tractor pulled the brooder house to its new location.

Some large fence posts, set three feet in the ground, had to be removed before the house could be placed where it was wanted. The men hooked a heavy chain around the scoop and drove from post to post, lifting them out by tying the other end of the chain around the posts and raising the scoop.

The tractor yanked out the big posts faster than a circus elephant pulling up tent stakes.

EATEN BY TAXES.

In July, 1940, I sold 600 shares of Chicago & North Western common stock at ⅛, or a total of $75. My broker sent me a check for $20.71, charging me $54.29 for taxes and commission. Is this the regular charge? What would a fair charge be? I feel certain there was some mistake.

J. M. S.

Answer: The broker's fees were consistent with those regularly charged by stock exchange members. His commission was only $6 but stock transfer taxes consumed most of the sale's proceeds. This is how the taxes and commission on the transaction ordinarily would be computed:

Federal stock transfer tax at 5 cents a share for 600 shares	$30.00
New York state transfer tax at 3 cents a share for 600 shares	18.00
Registration fee	00.01
Broker's commission, 1 cent a share for 600 shares	6.00
	$54.01

If the stock were sold on the Chicago Stock exchange, the New York state stock transfer tax would not have been paid and the total cost would have been $36.01. A list of brokers' commissions and stock transfer taxes can be obtained by sending a stamped, addressed envelope to the Investors' Guide.

WOMEN'S RIGHTS.

In the case of a woman who works a number of years in employment covered by the social security act and then marries and is not employed thereafter, what benefits will she receive from the program? Also, if a woman covered by the act has dependents at the time of her retirement at 65 do they receive benefits?

N. E. V.

Answer: If the woman completed the required number of calendar quarters of employment to qualify for monthly old age benefits, she would be entitled to receive either a benefit based on her wage record or a benefit based on her husband's wage record, whichever was larger. If her husband did not qualify for social security benefits she would receive her own monthly benefit.

Dependent children [or dependent parents if there are no children dependent on her] of a woman who retires at 65 and is eligible for social security benefits would each receive an amount equal to one-half of her benefit.

CHARTER.

What is meant by a corporate charter?—R. O.

Answer: A corporate charter [or articles of incorporation] is the written authority granted by the state permitting the organization of a corporation and defining its powers, privileges, and limitations.

KNUDSEN WARNS PRODUCERS TO KEEP COST LOW

Says Profit Won't Rise with Prices.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 14 [Special].—William S. Knudsen, production chief of the national defense commission, today warned manufacturers to do everything possible to prevent a rise in their costs that might lead to a general upward spiral in prices.

William S. Knudsen.

A higher price level will not mean profits for manufacturers and others, he asserted. Profits will depend, he said, on the margin between net cost and net selling prices and a higher price level will not benefit manufacturers, and may lead to unfortunate consequences.

"I don't think any one can get rich out of the national defense program," Knudsen said. "In the end we are all going to have to pay for it."

Says Effects Are Uncertain.

"You manufacturers are cost minded. Don't let your prices go up, because you are only changing the markers in the game, and when you cash in it will only be what the law of supply and demand says you are worth."

Knudsen spoke before members of the Detroit Economic club and other civic organizations. He said it was uncertain how the defense program will affect the automobile industry. It has been frequently reported that the defense commission will ask automobile manufacturers to refrain from making important model changes in 1941 in order to speed up industrial operations necessary for defense.

Knudsen said that the motor industries and other manufacturers may find in the future that their plans will be materially altered by the necessities of the defense program. It is uncertain, however, he said, what industries will be affected most and when.

Machine Tool Lines Tied Up.

Knudsen said that the machine tool industry is devoting all except about 8 per cent of its capacity to defense work.

"As the defense program progresses," he said, "it may be necessary to use even a higher percentage of the industry's capacity for defense operations. However, it may be possible to make adjustments in the next few months that will ease up some spots on which we are now concentrating that will enable the tool makers to care for the needs of private industry."

Knudsen said that the Studebaker corporation may begin the manufacture of airplane engines or parts, final decision on the matter not yet being made.

R. C. A. BORROWS 15 MILLIONS TO SPEED OUTPUT

New York, Oct. 14 [Special].—The Radio Corporation of America will borrow $15,000,000 from a group of banks to expand its research and production facilities in order to speed national defense orders and meet the demands of new business, David Sarnoff, president, announced tonight.

The bank loans, he said, will be for five years at 1½ per cent interest, with the privilege of payment in whole or in part at any time before maturity.

A portion of the funds will be used to retire the company's currently outstanding bank loans of $2,000,000, which carry an interest rate of 1¾ per cent and fall due April 8, 1941.

Early Upturn in Prices Is Not Expected

Early increases in prices are not expected by the consumer protection division of the national defense advisory commission, N. H. Engle, division adviser on distribution, said yesterday. He addressed 200 chain store executives and representatives at the seventh annual meeting of the National Association of Food Chains in the Drake hotel.

"Quite apart from the heavy surpluses in certain agricultural lines," he said, "we have a large measure of unused economic resources in man power, in plant capacity, and in materials which must all be put to work.

"Defense Must Come First."

"In other words, there is considerable slack to be taken up in our economy as a whole before our present increased demand for commodities may be expected to outstrip our capacity to produce at current or even lower prices."

He cautioned, however, that market situations may arise in a few industries which might lead to thoroly justifiable price increases. The supplies of some commodities may not be adequate to provide for both defense and civilian needs, he added. In such cases, defense must come first, he said.

Foods Affected First.

The food distribution channel will be one of the first to feel the effects of a rise in national income stimulated by the defense program, Engle said.

"With a growing volume of business you will have proportionately greater responsibilities," he told the food store executives. "You, with us, share the task of keeping prices at the lowest level consistent with costs."

Engle urged the retailers to avoid "buy now" campaigns which stampede buyers into unnecessary forward purchasing.

SEVERAL LARGE FREIGHT CAR ORDERS PLACED

Orders for railway cars were announced by several railroads yesterday. The Great Northern railway ordered 2,000 freight cars, 1,000 from the Pullman Standard Car Manufacturing company and 500 each from the American Car and Foundry company and Pressed Steel Car company. It was reported that the Atchison railroad is planning to purchase from 1,000 to 3,000 cars.

The Pere Marquette Railway company announced that it had placed an order with Bethlehem Steel company for 200 gondola cars for delivery next January. The cost will be around $640,000, officials said.

The New Orleans Texas and Mexico railway and the International-Great Northern railroad, subsidiaries of the Missouri Pacific, have been authorized by the federal court to purchase 100 stock cars each from the American Car and Foundry company, it was reported in St. Louis. The cost of the 200 cars was estimated at $510,520.

3 FIRMS TO PAY DRAFTEES PART OF WAGE LOSSES

Officials of three companies announced yesterday that they would pay special compensation to employés who enter military service.

One month's salary will be paid upon the departure of employés or officers of the Chicago City Bank and Trust company and the Mutual National Bank and Trust company, Frank C. Rathje, president, said. The group life insurance will be continued, and they will be included in any distribution of a Christmas bonus. Seniority will be maintained during their absence.

Grove Laboratories, St. Louis, will keep jobs open for all conscripted employés and will pay to first year draftees the difference between their present salary and that received from the government during their term of service, Harry B. Goldsmith, president, said.

AIRCRAFT EMPLOYES CLIMB 400 PER CENT DURING LAST 2 YEARS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14 (AP).—A 400 per cent increase in employment in the aircraft manufacturing industry in the last two years was reported today by the White House. The industry has received large defense orders.

Information submitted to Secretary Morgenthau by manufacturers and turned over to the President showed that the number on the pay rolls in September, 1938, was 28,700; in September, 1939, 50,600, and in September of this year, 118,800.

The data placed employment in the Atlantic seaboard states at 14,000 in September, 1938; 25,000 a year later, and 54,800 last month. In 28 states in the mountain, central, and southern regions the figures were 2,200, 3,600, and 11,500. In the three Pacific states the figures were 12,500, 22,000, and 52,500.

CHECK BUSINESS DROPS SHARPLY IN 7TH DISTRICT

Business done by check in the week ended Oct. 9 dropped sharply in the seventh [Chicago] federal reserve district, falling 17.2 per cent from the preceding week. Volume, however, increased 5.7 per cent over that of the corresponding week a year earlier, the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago reported yesterday.

Debits to deposit accounts [except interbank accounts] as reported by 158 banks in 41 clearing house cities in the seventh district aggregated $1,114,997,000 compared with $1,346,883,000 a week earlier and $1,055,007,000 in the corresponding week in 1939. Debits in the 13 weeks ended Oct. 9 totaled $14,977,171,000 against $14,633,295,000 in the corresponding period last year, a rise of 2.3 per cent.

Chicago debits aggregated $618,026,000 last week compared with $581,446,000 a year earlier.

PRESIDENT SIGNS LABEL BILL FOR WOOLEN GOODS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14 (AP).—Legislation requiring the labeling of woolen products to disclose their exact fiber content, including percentages of new or reclaimed wool, was signed today by the President.

The law becomes effective in nine months and carries a maximum penalty of one year imprisonment and a $5,000 fine for wilful violations.

Labels will class the wool content of an article in one of three categories: "Wool," referring to new or virgin fiber; "reprocessed wool," designating that reclaimed from previously fabricated articles which have never been in actual consumer use; "reused wool," denoting fiber reworked from second hand goods.

Palmer Offers to Give Up His Insurance Job

Ernest Palmer has submitted his resignation as Illinois director of insurance, it was announced yesterday at Springfield. Governor John Stelle took no immediate action toward accepting or rejecting the resignation, asserting he was "too busy."

Ernest Palmer.

Palmer was the last member of the late Governor Horner's "cabinet" of department heads to hand in resignations to the new executive. The insurance director would make no comment on his action, explaining the statehouse would make whatever announcement is issued.

Given Appointment in 1933.

The late governor gave Palmer his appointment in 1933 to make a "clean sweep" of the state's antiquated supervision of insurance companies.

An exponent of strict state supervision, Palmer's first major goal was a codification and modernization of Illinois insurance laws, most of which had been written in 1869.

After an examination of life insurance companies by independent actuaries and an overhauling of the old insurance laws, Palmer submitted a new insurance code to the state legislature in 1935.

Defeated by the legislature twice that year and opposed by eastern fire insurance and other groups, the code was accepted upon final revision in 1937.

Orders Fire Rate Cuts.

In his seven years as director, Palmer has ordered three reductions in fire insurance rates, has cut automobile insurance rates, and attempted to lower commissions of agents and brokers selling fire and automobile insurance.

Recently Palmer has attempted to abolish allegedly discriminatory rates on automobile fleet insurance under "equity rating" plans.

Prior to his appointment in 1933, Palmer had been manager and general counsel of the Chicago Board of Underwriters for 10 years.

Harry B. Hershey, Democratic candidate for governor, has served in Palmer's insurance department in recent years as attorney for the liquidation bureau.

STEEL INGOT OUTPUT RATE TO EQUAL BEST ON RECORD THIS WEEK

Steel production is expected to equal the highest rate on record this week with operations started yesterday at 94.4 per cent of capacity, the American Iron and Steel institute reported. Last week the beginning rate was 94.2 per cent, and a year ago it was 90.3 per cent.

With the institute's weekly records dating back to 1933, the 94.4 per cent record was established late last November.

A record high operating rate was scheduled for Chicago district mills, with production this week expected to reach 98.6 per cent of theoretical capacity. This rate compares with the previous high of 97.5 per cent in the week ended Aug. 31. Last week's rate was 96.9 per cent, and a year ago it stood at 87.3 per cent.

Pittsburgh steel operations are scheduled at 91 per cent for this week, a gain of 1 per cent over last week and a new top mark on the recovery movement.

PLAN ANOTHER ATTEMPT TO BAR CONFISCATED OIL

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14 (AP).—Oil state congressmen, with administration backing, served notice today that they would make a second effort to obtain house approval of legislation to bar the importation of expropriated property from another country.

A bill giving the President the authority to exclude such shipments was defeated 10 days ago, 123 to 129. The house judiciary committee redrafted the measure to require the President to take such action.

The bill, already approved by the senate in another form, was intended originally to stop the inflow of oil from American owned confiscated wells in Mexico into the United States. But it actually applies to any confiscated property taken by means of force, law, decree, order, or "other act, direct or indirect," without payment of "just compensation."

Reorganization of Lake Shore Club Is Approved

Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward yesterday approved a final decree in the reorganization of the Lake Shore club [formerly the Lake Shore Athletic club], discharging the trustee, Marshall Keig, who becomes managing director of the new corporation formed in the reorganization. The decree arranges for the exchange of the securities of the old company for those in the new company within five years.

SUPREME COURT TO REVIEW SHIP CONTRACT FIGHT

Will Test Legality of Wage Law.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14 (AP).—The department of justice today was granted a Supreme court review of its controversy with Bethlehem Shipbuilding corporation over world war shipbuilding profits—a case which the department declared of major importance in view of the current defense program.

Government attorneys contended that Bethlehem was seeking "unconscionable profits," while the corporation, which won in lower courts, replied that the government was trying to "escape" the terms of contracts.

The case grew out of the construction of 86 world war vessels by Bethlehem.

Called "Daylight Robbery."

The Federal District court, while calling the situation a "daylight robbery," had granted Bethlehem a $5,272,075 judgment representing profits still unpaid. The government said that a profit of $20,055,556 already had been paid the company, and that the additional payment would bring its profits to 23 per cent of the cost.

Counsel for the company replied that the cost of the ships was less than that of comparable vessels built by others, and that the contracts had been found advantageous both to the company and the government.

The contracts provided for the payment to Bethlehem of the cost of construction plus a fixed fee, plus a "bonus for savings." This bonus was to be half the amount by which the actual cost of the ships fell below the estimated cost.

The government charged that the estimated cost of $119,750,000 for the 86 ships had been "inflated" because the actual cost was only $92,990,520.

Will Decide Constitutionality.

The Supreme court agreed to review the constitutionality of the fair labor standards act. The decision was made on an appeal by Opp Cotton Mills, Inc., Opp, Ala., against an order of the wage and hour division fixing a minimum wage of 32½ cents an hour for textile workers. The order was sustained in the federal District court.

The tribunal refused to consider four cases involving orders of the National Labor Relations board which the board won in lower courts, but agreed to pass upon a fifth, which the board lost. The high court agreed to consider a labor board appeal from a decision denying enforcement of an order directing the Link-Belt company of Chicago to withdraw recognition from a union of company employés and to reinstate a group of workers with back pay.

Refuse Tanner's Appeal.

One of the cases which the court refused to consider involved the J. Greenebaum Tanning company, Chicago, which had appealed from an order directing the disestablishment of a union of company employés.

The federal trade commission was granted a Supreme court review of a lower court decision setting aside a commission order against certain trade practices of Bunte Brothers, Inc., Chicago candy manufacturer. The company was alleged to have sold candy to wholesalers in Illinois in assortments so arranged that purchasers of pieces having centers of a certain color would receive a larger box of candy in addition to the original purchase.

The court refused to reconsider its May 27 decision holding that 200,000 warehousemen and clerical employés of motor carriers are subject to the wage-hour law. A rehearing was sought by American Trucking Associations, Inc., which contended the Interstate Commerce commission had jurisdiction.

Lycoming Gets 6 Million Plane Engine Award

Announcement of additional war and navy department orders and reports that three large defense factories were being planned swelled prospective rearmament work for United States industrial plants yesterday.

The war department reported that a $6,708,539 contract for airplane engines had been awarded to the Lycoming division of the Aviation Manufacturing company at Williamsport, Pa.

Meanwhile, the United States Housing Authority announced that it had awarded a $1,044,420 contract to construct 305 homes for families of workers at the Rock Island, Ill., arsenal. The work is to be completed within 180 days, it was reported. The contract was awarded to the Lovering Construction company, St. Paul, Minn.

Plan Two Nitrogen Plants.

Plans were reported under way for the construction of two synthetic nitrogen plants for defense needs, with financing being handled by government funds and the management by the E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., and Allied Chemical and Dye corporation.

Altho no contracts have been signed, it was reported that the du Pont managed project will be located at Morgantown, W. Va., and the other in the middle west. The total investment, it was said, may range from $35,000,000 to $50,000,000.

In connection with reports that the navy department may take over a 30,000 acre conservation area near Burns City, Ind., for a new gun and powder plant, navy officials said that no recommendations would be made until a special board surveying various locations had reported to the secretary of the navy.

Illinois Firms Get Orders.

Army and navy orders to Illinois companies announced yesterday totaled $146,371. The largest of these was a $94,250 contract to the A. Kinkl and Sons company, Chicago, for artillery material. An $11,988 order also was placed with Angelor Scully, Chicago, for installation of water and sanitary sewer lines at Ft. Sheridan, and the Reliance Plumbing company, Chicago, was awarded a $29,000 contract for the construction and completion of water lines at Scott field.

Col. Norman F. Ramsey, commanding officer of the Rock Island arsenal, said that approximately $1,500,000 had been assigned to the arsenal for the purchase of various types of equipment and for repair work.

George H. Bucher, president of Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing company, in New York City, yesterday reported that the company is working on approximately $93,779,000 of orders for material needed in the national defense program. He said that this includes more than 245 orders, some of which can not be delivered before 1943 despite increased manufacturing efforts.

BUILDING PERMIT VALUATIONS FAR ABOVE YEAR AGO

New York, Oct. 14 [Special].—Building permits issued in 215 cities during the first nine months of 1940 were valued at $1,009,425,332, exceeding the comparable 1939 total of $945,157,189 by 6.8 per cent, Dun & Bradstreet reported today.

Volume for New York, $169,135,530, remained 8.8 per cent under a year ago. Volume in other cities, however, rose 10.6 per cent to $840,289,802.

Building permits issued during September totaled $118,915,971, or 2.3 per cent above August's total of $116,269,070. The usual seasonal movement for the period is a drop of about 10 per cent. Last month's figure represents a gain of 15.3 per cent over the $103,203,666 recorded in September, 1939.

BOOSTS INLAND WATER SYSTEM AS DEFENSE AID

Schley Favors New Improvements.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 14.—Maximum development of the Mississippi basin's inland waterway system is vital to America's "citadel of defense"—its vast midcontinent area—Maj. Gen. J. L. Schley, chief of United States army engineers, declared here today.

Gen. J. L. Schley.

Gen. Schey was one of several speakers to address the 22d annual convention of the Mississippi Valley association on defense, transportation, and other factors affecting the Mississippi valley area. Others were Gov. Sam Houston Jones of Louisiana; J. M. Johnson, member of the Interstate Commerce commission; Chester H. Gray, director of the national highway users conference; Representative Will M. Whittington [D., Miss.], and Cleveland A. Newton, counsel for the association.

The United States is fortunate in having a great central area, protected naturally by two mountain ranges, for the production of basic supplies for the civilian population and munitions for the military forces, Gen. Schley said.

Would Sustain Nation.

Supplies from this area, extending from the Appalachians to the Rockies, will make the nation self-sustaining during any military emergency, he asserted.

Declaring that the wisdom of utilizing the Mississippi basin in industrial preparedness is not hypothetical, Gen. Schley cited the action of Germany in the present conflict.

Immediately after 1933 Germany started to relocate and decentralize its industries to make them immune, so far as possible, from enemy attack, he said. The next big step was to develop a system of waterways which would provide supplies for its industries. The Midland canal, an east to west system of canals connecting the Rhine with the system of waterways serving the Elbe and the Berlin areas, was rushed to completion. Another in the system is the recently completed Adolf Hitler canal in southeast Germany, designed to bring the

PROFIT SELLING BLOCKS RISE IN STOCK MARKET

Some Favorites Manage to Keep Small Gains.

New York, Oct. 14 (AP).—Efforts to develop another small-sized stock market rally encountered opposition today and early gains running to a point or more were substantially reduced or turned into losses at the close.

Business news remained fairly comforting as traders returned from their lengthy week-end holiday and early light buying of favored issues was attributed mainly to this influence. Cashing of profits checked the upturn.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off .1 of a point at 43.9. Transfers amounted to 402,350 shares, against 404,250 last Friday.

Steels Mostly Higher.

Handicapping sentiment, brokers said, were confusing war developments in the Balkans continued tension over Far Eastern affairs, and heavier air bombing of England.

United States Steel, Crucible common and preferred, Youngstown Sheet, and Republic Steel managed to retain modest gains, but Bethlehem closed lower. The American Iron and Steel institute estimated this week's mill operations at 94.4 per cent of capacity, up .2 of a point from last week and equaling the peak of November a year ago, which was a top since 1929.

Chrysler was off ¼ and General Motors up as much. Sales of new cars were reported broadening and there was talk of automotive production in the final quarter reaching 1,600,000 units.

New York Bonds.

New York, Oct. 14 (AP).—The bond market reflected a high degree of selectivity among buyers today with severe price breaks in some groups offset by equally strong rises in others. The utilities rose to a new 1940 high in the averages.

A moderate demand appeared early in trading for a group of Japanese government and municipal issues, most of which had been under prolonged pressure for a week or more. Easing of tension between the far eastern power and the United States was credited in brokerage quarters with creating the demand. Gainers of major fractions to more than a point included Tokio 5½s, Oriental Development 6s, and the government 5½s.

Chicago Stocks.

Chicago Stock exchange trading volume fell to 11,000 shares yesterday. Prices were irregular. Of the 71 active issues, 22 advanced, 24 declined, and 25 were unchanged. Turnover between 2 and 3 o'clock, the extra period added to the session recently, totaled 1,690 shares, the largest for any hour of the day.

Bank Stocks.

First National and Northern Trust shares each advanced 3 points yesterday in Chicago bank stock trading. Chicago Title and City National both gained a point, and Continental Illinois was half a point higher. Harris Trust dipped 2 points.

WOOL TOPS, SILK AND COPPER SET NEW PEAKS AGAIN

Rubber and Hide Futures Extend Recent Rise.

Key commodities yesterday extended last week's broad advances and swung upward as national defense needs and the possibility of supplies being cut off from the orient continued to stimulate futures and cash markets. Copper, wool tops, and silk established new 1940 highs, while rubber and hides added to their recent steep climbs.

Silk futures pushed ahead 4½ to 8 cents a pound, with October, November, and December deliveries at a peak of $2.90½. Cash silk bounded 10½ cents a pound to $2.86½, bringing the advance in a week to 25½ cents.

Cash Wool at $1.25 Peak.

Wool tops in the cash market advanced 2 cents a pound to the season's best price of $1.25. The futures market was irregular, closing 0.8 cent a pound higher to 0.3 cent lower after profit-taking and hedging trimmed earlier gains. December closed at $1.12 2-10 bid.

Copper futures were unchanged to 0.05 cent a pound higher. December deliveries advanced to 11.38 to 11.45 cents. Domestic consumer inquiry for copper continued to be in excess of available supply, it was reported, and primary producers were adhering to a strict policy of rationing orders. Other than a slight dip in tin, cash metals held firm.

Coffee Dips; Sugar Mixed.

Rubber futures were 0.16 to 0.24 cent a pound higher, with December contracts at 20⅓ cents bid. The cash market jumped ¼ cent a pound to 20.62 cents. Hide futures finished 0.28 to 0.41 cent a pound higher. December deliveries were 11.55 to 11.56 cents.

Santos coffee futures lost ground and domestic sugar was mixed in a one-point range. Cocoa improved and cottonseed oil was unchanged to slightly higher after recently hovering around the season's lowest levels.

CHICAGO FIRMS STUDY REVISION OF HOURS RULES

'White Collar' Workers Will Be Affected.

Chicago employers yesterday studied the revision of the rules by the wage hour administration for exemption of "white collar" workers from hours restrictions of the labor standards act. Most officials said they were awaiting more details before determining company policy or estimating the number of workers affected.

The new rules, which establish a $200 monthly salary as one yardstick for determining who is an exempt administrative or professional employé, will go into effect on Oct. 24 when 40 hours becomes the standard work week for all workers covered by the act. The present maximum work week without overtime pay is 42 hours.

Few Harvester Workers Affected.

Officials of the International Harvester company, manufacturer of farm machinery and trucks, said that the exemption rules would have little effect on the company since production employés, who comprise the majority of their workers, are not included.

The company plans to make a study of its employés, reclassifying those who would now be considered under the revision provisions, but officials estimate that not more than 1,000 office and branch workers of the total 47,000 in the United States would be affected. The company has operated on a 40 hour week for several years so no readjustment for factory or office workers will be necessary on Oct. 24.

Await Detailed Ruling.

A spokesman for Montgomery Ward & Co. said that the revision was discussed yesterday but that executives are awaiting the commissioners' ruling in detail before attempting to determine the number of workers who would be included or the policy of the company.

Among other companies which reported they were following a similar course were Sears, Roebuck & Co., Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation and Swift & Co.

The rules, however, provide exemptions for sales employés. An exempted retail sales employé was defined as one making retail sales the greater part of which are in interstate commerce, or performing work incidental thereto, and whose work does not include more than 20 per cent of the same type of work done by nonexempt employés.

Includes Driver-Salesmen.

The definition of an outside salesman, already exempted, was revised to include persons obtaining orders or contracts for the use of facilities for which a consideration will be paid, and to include truck driver-salesmen. Wage-hour administration officials explained that this change will exempt radio and newspaper advertising salesmen. These employés also must not do more than 20 per cent of the kind of work done by nonexempt employés.

More administrative workers than executives are expected to find their status altered for the exemption classification, officials commented, because the definition for an executive was little changed.

Make Separate Categories.

The administration made separate categories for "executive" and "administrative" which heretofore have been under one definition.

An exempted administrative worker was defined as one receiving $200 a month or more who is engaged under only general supervision in nonmanual work, related directly to management policies or general business operations, and which requires the exercise of discretion and independent judgment.

The principal effect is expected to be exemption from the hours restrictions of many persons such as credit managers, buyers, chemists, radio artists, auditors, and others making more than $200 a month whose work can be classed as administrative or professional.

Court Authorizes Rock Island Equipment Order

Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe yesterday authorized trustees of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad to contract for $3,075,000 of equipment intended for delivery by next July 31.

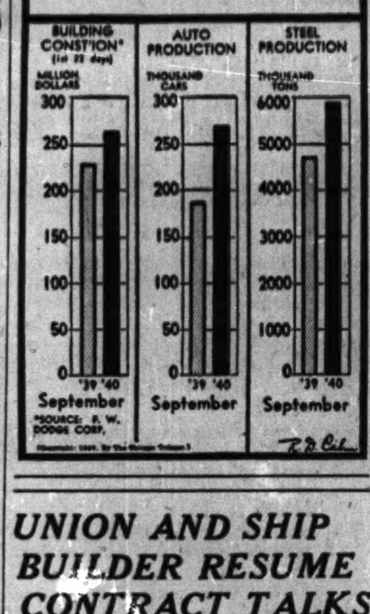
September Activity in 3 Leading Industries



UNION AND SHIP BUILDER RESUME CONTRACT TALKS

Camden, N. J., Oct. 14 (AP).—The New York Shipbuilding corporation, which is building more than $500,000,000 of warships for the navy, today resumed contract negotiations with the Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers [C. I. O.]. Negotiations were broken off last week.

Reopening of the conferences followed a request by National Defense Commissioner Sidney Hillman. The union had empowered a committee to issue a strike call if negotiations were not resumed by 6 p. m. today. Among union demands, officials said, is a 10 per cent wage increase.

Meanwhile, John Green, national president of the union, announced the union would coöperate in a move to establish standard wage scales in the shipbuilding industry on a zone basis thruout the nation. The union's coöperation, he said, was requested by Hillman, along with that of the United States navy department and the maritime commission.

CHARGE CUNEO PRESS VIOLATED WAGE-HOUR ACT

The wage and hour division of the United States department of labor filed suit in federal court here yesterday to enjoin Cuneo Press, Inc., 2242 Grove street, and three affiliated corporations from alleged violations of the labor standards act and for failure to pay overtime compensation to 85 maintenance employés.

The division said that while Cuneo had complied with the act in regard to some 5,000 production workers, maintenance employés had worked 50 to 60 hours a week without overtime pay. The company contends that the maintenance employés are not in the production of goods for interstate commerce.

Laundry Owners, Drivers Plan Advertising Campaign

More than 3,500 laundry owners, superintendents, routemen, and their wives are expected to attend a joint business meeting and entertainment Friday night in the Civic Opera house, James G. Shaw, president of the Chicago Laundry Owners association, said yesterday. The session will mark the opening of an advertising campaign to acquaint families of the Chicago area with the services the modern steam laundry is prepared to give.

President Signs Trade Ban on Prison Made Goods

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14 (AP).—President Roosevelt signed today a measure excluding prison-made goods from interstate commerce. Persons shipping such goods across state lines were made liable to a $1,000 fine and a year's imprisonment. The law exempts farm machinery parts, farm commodities, goods manufactured for the use of states or political subdivisions, and articles made in federal institutions.

Stanley Clarke to Serve as Associated Gas Trustee

New York, Oct. 14 (AP).—Federal Judge Vincent L. Leibell announced today he would appoint Stanley Clarke, corporation attorney, as substitute trustee for the Associated Gas and Electric company to replace Walter H. Pollak, who died Oct. 2. Clarke had been Pollak's assistant until August, when he became vice president and general counsel of the Utility Management corporation, an affiliate of Associated.

Carnegie-Illinois Steel May Sell Its Mercer Works

Negotiations are under way for the sale of the idle Mercer works of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel company at Farrell, Pa., to the United Engineering and Foundry company, Carnegie officials said yesterday. Defense materials, either shell forgings or machinery for making armaments, would be produced in the plant, it is believed.

BOOSTS INLAND WATER SYSTEM AS DEFENSE AID

Improvements at Chicago Favored by Schley.

ore of Silesia into the Oder-Berlin system and thence into the Elbe-Midland canal system.

A decree signed by the German high command in 1939 emphasizes the principle that inland waterways must be used to full capacity in order to make the railroads available for the movement of troops and supplies, Gen. Schley continued.

Aids Defense Directly.

"Waterway improvements for navigation and flood control will aid our own national defense directly and expedite our preparedness," he said. Gen. Schley announced that as a part of the development he is recommending a third terminal for the Illinois waterway in the Chicago area. This would be attained thru enlargement of the Calumet-Sag channel for connection with Lake Michigan at Indiana Harbor. The other two terminals are the Chicago and Calumet harbors.

Stating that railroad, water, motor vehicle, pipe line, and air transportation are indispensable in present day commerce, Johnson said that competition between these agencies is severe.

"The public interest demands that competition be maintained," he said, "but it also requires that unfair competition must not be permitted to ruin any of the several agencies."

Advocates "Teeth" in Measure.

Johnson said the declaration of a transportation policy in the new transportation act is insufficient to produce any effects in clarifying the transportation muddle unless some method and agency to give it "teeth" is provided. He urged the establishment of a department of transportation in the cabinet which would coördinate all transportation agencies in the nation along lines of the ministry of transportation in England.

Gray criticized the placing of the various forms of competitive transportation under one control—the Interstate Commerce commission.

"The situation makes one wonder," he said, "if the airlines could develop with the freedom which is now characteristic of them if they were tied down in the ICC alongside railways, highways, and waterways." He said the red tape involved in ICC hearings would probably delay indefinitely such airline improvements as stratosphere flights which make it possible to cross the nation in a few hours.

Insists Upon Fair Deal.

Newton told the association that it will go along for the time being with the placing of control of waterways under ICC control. However, if it is found the waterways are not given a fair deal, the Mississippi Valley association will take its complaint to the courts, Newton said.

Gov. Sam Houston Jones, of Louisiana urged Mississippi valley states to coöperate in seeking Latin American trade. He said that Louisiana already has sent trade emissaries to Columbia and Venezuela and suggested that the other states do likewise as the first step in learning what United States products Latin America can use and what products this country can take from the Latin nations.

The association's resolutions committee decided to take no action this year on Lake Michigan diversion because the case is now before the United States Supreme court.

Brown's Resignation of FCC Post Is Finally Accepted

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14 [Special].—The immediate resignation of Thad H. Brown of Ohio as a member of the federal communications commission was accepted "reluctantly" by President Roosevelt late today. Brown first offered his resignation before President Roosevelt, on June 5, reappointed him. The reappointment aroused considerable opposition, with the result that it has been blocked in a senatorial committee. Brown today delivered to the White House a request that it be withdrawn and that his resignation be accepted.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 14 [Special].—A. M. Carter, state director of finance, announced today the appointment of A. R. Kays, of Kewanee, as state superintendent of oil inspection. Kays is a past department commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, department of Illinois, and past commander of American Legion Post 31, Kewanee.

People and Events

A clinic to analyze reasons for failure in research, marketing, and merchandising operations will be presented at the meeting of the Chicago chapter of the American Marketing association this evening in the Stevens Building restaurant.

John S. McCoy, vice president and one of the founders of the United Wallpaper Factories, Inc., will retire Oct. 31 after more than 40 years in the industry but will continue as a director. The organization also announces the appointment of William Burton as a vice president and Walter R. Hummel as controler.

Members of the wine industry in Illinois met at a luncheon at the Hotel Sherman yesterday to discuss activities for national wine week which is being celebrated over the nation this week.

R. B. Umberger, executive vice president of the Personal Loan and Savings bank, will address the Association of Chicago Bank Women today at a meeting in the Wrigley Building restaurant.

Wardall, trustee. Sales in the liquor department were $3,331,023, a decrease of 19.23 per cent.
